OF INTEREST TO BICYCLE RIDERS.

An Interesting History of the Manufacture of the Pneumatic Tire.

There can be no question that one of the most important parts of a bicycle is the tire. It has to bear the brunt of the work, is constantly coming in contact with destroying elements, and generally receives the least care of the rider. The importance of the work it has to do was early recognized by makers of bicycles, however, and they have given much attention to this important adjunct to the wheel.

There are today, perhaps, thirty different styles of bicycle tires on the market, all of which vary in detail. As to their various merits, theories are all of little value; actual experience is the only way to determine this question. Unless an article gives satisfaction, demand for it soon ceases. After a test of over six years, during which time double-tube and single-tube tires have been marketed, at least three-fourths of all the riders in this country today demand and ride double-tube tires.

The leading firm in the United States, and in fact in the entire world, is the manufacture of a double-tube tire, is Morgan & Wright, Chicago. Their history is interesting. The first pneumatic tire—the rags-and-glue kind—was giving trouble, and Morgan & Wright stepped in to fill a great public want. They furnished a tire that could be easily taken from the rim to be repaired. That was the principal requirement in those days, besides the usual requirements of speed, durability and comfort.

That was several years ago. Single-tube tires had been pushed in Europe, and were failing, and the same effort was being started in this country. The Morgan & Wright double-tube tire quickly proved its superiority—with the result stated above. The quick repair inner tube, which is this year a standard feature of all this firm's tires, has made the position of double-tube tires practically invincible, by making it quick and easy for the rider to secure, at the roadside, a permanent repair—a thing admittedly impossible in the majority of single-tube accidents.

The people have long since learned that the most disagreeable medicines are not necessarily the best. In fact, as a rule, they are not. What is wanted is something mild and sure, such as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. That is really pleasant to take when reduced with water and sweetned. Then it is acknowledged everywhere to be the most successful remedy in the world for bowel complaints. Ask any number of druggists for the best remedy they have for diarrhoea and fully nine out of ten will recommend Chamberlaid's In speaking of this medicine, Mr. B. B. Buffum of Friendsville, Susquehanna Co., Pa., says: "We have used it in our family for pain in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea and found it to be a most effected remedy." For sale by Harry Roberts, Easton; A. D. Harrison St. Michaels: J. F. Sisk Cordova.

Too Many Pardons.

Chester C. Stilwell, of Easton, was recently pardoned by Governor Lowndes, and was released from the penitentiary, where he was serving a term for larceny. No pardon has since been made. The Governor has decided that he must put a brake on the pardon business.

He says the executive department is overrun with applications for pardons. It appears to be the impression with many that all that has to be done is to put in an application for the convicted criminal for him to be released, and, if there is no protest filed, that then the Governor will grant a pardon. This is not the case. Applications for pardons have to be backed up by substantial reasons and good recommendations. Many of the applications fall utterly to come up to requirements.

When The Bonds Fall Due.

'Tis a gorgeous prospect, truly, this free silver that's in store,
When everybody's going to have bright shining coin galore,
And dollars lie as thick as stones along the county roads,
So all the farmer has to do is cart 'em off by loads;
'Tis a glimpse of El Dorado from a Western point of view;
But how about the prospect
When
The
Bonds
Fall
Due!

It's a most inspiring sentiment to tell the workingman
That his pocket's going to jingle under Bryan's silver plan,
And it's such a soothing nostrum for the poor old country jay
That he'd get a flood of silver for his pumpkins and his hay;
And there is no need to tell him, from a silver point of view—
That 'twill be another story
When
The
Bonds
Fall
Due!

Of course, the man who buys our bonds and pays for them in gold
Will feel great satisfaction and delight when he is told
That instead of standard money he must take his pay in trash
Which shrinks one-half in value when reduced to hard cold cash!
Oh! 'twill be a mighty cunning trick fo Uncle Sam to do,
But what about his honor
When
The
Bonds
Fall
Due!

Some years ago when suffering with an uncommonly severe attack of diarrhoea, Mr. W. B. Guinnip, of Atco, Pa., received through the mail a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I found it to be one of the most effective remedies I ever used. It gave me almost immediate relief. It has no superior and I think no equal. No bad effects follow the use of this remedy. It is pleasant to to take when reduced with water and sweetened. Children like it. It never fails. It is the most perfect remedy ever produced for bowel complaints." For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by Harry Roberts Easton; A. D. Harrison St. Michaels; J. F. Sisk Cordova.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Aug. 24, 1896.

POINTERS TO PROFIT

Very many classes of goods never before touched such low prices as have ruled this past summer. But now we've started to change a summer store into an autumn store. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise must be quickly turned to cash and into goods again. We're always willing to lose money wisely, and it is wise losing if it hastens this annual metamorphose of the store. The daily store news now is largely made up of notes of price reductions—of price inducements for you to forestall wants. August business was never so great at Wanamaker's—so great in volume of goods handled, so great in dollars received. It is mutually helpful to drive business.

DRESS STUFFS FOR AUTUMN

Despite higher prices on dress stuffs abroad; despite uncertainties at home—we discount, these latter August days, the littlest prices you ever paid for Dress Stuffs. Every item offered is suitable for autumn wear—is meant for autumn wear—and though the lots are gleaned from stocks on hand—ours and other folks' stocks—the styles with few exceptions will be among the fresh arrivals shown next month.

The wide range of plainish, neat stuffs, known as tailor suitings, with stuffs having knotty or rough face, will be in highest favor this fall. To buy now means to buy cheaper than we can afford to sell the stuffs by-and-by.

And these stuffs are ready just in the nick of time for choosing by those who are touching at Philadelphia on their return from summer outings.

Almost every lot we tell of is in ample supply.
