SUMMER EXCURSION ROUTE BOOK

Of the Pennsylvania Railroad—The Most Complete Publication of its Kind.

On June 1 the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company issued the 1897 edition of its Summer Excursion Route Book. This work is designed to provide the public with short descriptive notes of the principal Summer resorts of Eastern America, with the routes for reaching them, and the rates of fare. There are over four hundred resorts in the book to which rates are quoted, and over fifteen hundred different routes or combinations of routes. It is compiled with the utmost care, and altogether is the most complete and comprehensive handbook of Summer travel ever offered to the public.

Its 219 pages are inclosed in a handsome and striking cover, in colors. Several maps, presenting the exact routes over which tickets are sold, are bound in the book. It is also profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts of scenery along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad and elsewhere.

Any doubt as to where the Summer should be passed will be dispelled after a careful examination of the contents of this publication.

On and after June 1 it may be procured at any Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office at the nominal price of ten cents, or, upon application to the general office, Broad Street Station, by mail for twenty cents.

She could read the hieroglyphics

In an intellectual discourse on physics
She can talk in a learning style.
But, in spite of her learning,
She steps back and from the car,
And she always stands and wishes
When she sees a shooting star.

"WHAT IS THE NEWS?"

YOU WILL FIND MUCH OF IT IN THIS COLUMN.

And the Rest Elsewhere in the Gazette—Remember Our Reporters Get All the News All the Time.

Matapeake Tribe, No. 76, Improved Order of Red Men, will meet at their wigwam at 3.30 P. M. to-morrow and march to the cemetery to decorate the graves of their deceased brethren. All members are requested to be present.

The Current Events Club will meet at the residence of Mrs. Tylor this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Willy Hardcastle will have an article on Paderewski, Mrs. Tylor a paper on Music Among Savages, and Mrs. Pattison a character-sketch of Walter McEwen, with a description of his work at the Congressional Library.

If there is anything in the rumor that Prof. E. D. Murdaugh of Oklahoma will be asked to take his old place in the High School, it is well to remember that he has few superiors as an "all round" educator and manager of children.

In losing the services of Dr. Edward M. Hardcastle jr. from the principalship of the High School, it leaves a want that but few men or woman are calculated to fill properly. The present principal as well as his predecessor were remarkably adapted to the needs of the school and to them in particular is due its enviable reputation for excellence of discipline and rapid advancemant of its pupils. In his new fields of labor, may Dr. Hardcastle continue the right man in the right place.

Yesterday the town was full of bewitching school marms and beswitching gentlemen, weilders of the scholastic rod. The occasion was that of the Teachers' Meeting at the High School, where an interesting program was rendered.

Mr. Henry G. Pascault considers the pertinent question put before the public in the Ledger as coming from some "Smart Alex" who was frothing at the mouth for a sensation. The Deputy Register of Wills has all the law necessary to justify the action taken in probating the will in question.

The B. C. & A. Transportation Company have just issued a handsome prospectus of the summer homes and excursions along their lines. The book is of octauo form, contains 56 pages inside the cover and is releived by beautiful half-tone photographs of scenes on the route from Baltimore to the various points touched by their boats and car service. It is the handsomest book of the kind ever printed to include this section of Maryland. Among other scenes are two of "Sunset," the home of Dr. Buffett.

Petitions are being circulated in Trappe district to retain the services of Prof. D. M. Long in the academy of Trappe. Some talk was made to the effect that he would leave the school, whereupon his friends have volunteered to endorse him for reappointment under a lengthy and highly eulogistic preamble.

BALTIMORE'S GREAT EMPORIUM.

What Oehm Told a Gazette Reporter—It Is Interesting, Read It.

The magnificent weather that we are having is not more full of brightness and joyousness than the "Great Store," with its magnificent array of Apparel for Men, Boys, Children, and even the Ladies, together with accessory articles, such as Wall Paper, Bicycles and Athletic Goods.

Every department is teeming with the very best that the markets of the old and new world can produce.

Clothing for Men and Boys, made in that perfection of style and fit which distinguishes our garments.

Hats and Shoes for Men and Boys, of all the latest shades and shapes. Hats in straw, in stiff Derby, the Alpine or the dressy silk hat.

Shoes that excel exclusive stores in style. Right here we may say that the Oehm Shoe is the highest-grade Shoes that was ever sold in Baltimore or such low prices as the public are treated to.

Department after department has been added to the "Great Store," the newest ones are Wall Paper and Art Rooms, Bicycle and Athletic Goods, the Onyx Soda Fountain (cost $4000) and Drug Department.

Our wall paper in many instances is just about one half in price of what you would pay in other stores, besides a very much larger selection for your choosing.

We have cut the price of bicycles right square in half, selling a $100.00 wheel, the "Severn," for $50.00.

On the little things that you need for Bicycles, such as wrenches, lamps, cyclometers and sundries, the price is often lower than one-half.

In the Men's Furnishing Department we have the newest things in summer shirts in the outing flannels.

Neckwear that is supreme for its beauty and the novelty coloring that this season's styles show.

Straw Hats in the '97 shapes are beginning to demand attention, and of course Oehm's Hats are as usual the leaders.

Store talk has it that the selections of Ladies' Goods, such as Riding Hats Shirt Waists and Ladies' Neckwear for the summer, are much better, and certainly a great deal cheaper, than the exclusive ladies' stores are showing.

It is a pleasure for every one, especially those who come from out of town, to visit "Oehm's Acme Hall." Its situation, on the corner of Baltimore and Charles Streets, makes it the exact centre of our great city of Baltimore. Every street car line passes at the door or within a block and reading and writing and art rooms for the ladies' accomodation smoking rooms for the men, places to check parcels and bundles free of charge. All these things are for our out-of-town customer's comfort and attraction.

We do not ask you to buy a penny's worth; simply to come and make yourself entirely at home.

Oehm's is the centre of Baltimore's retailing, and we want to make "Oehm's" mean "home" to you when you are in our city.

THE CHILDREN OF THE BATTLEFIELD

BY JAMES G. CLARKE.

[The following touching song took the prize offered by the Philadelphia Christian Commission for a poem on the death of Sergeant Humison, of Portville, N. Y., who was found dead at Gettysburg several days after the battle, with his eyes fixed upon the ambrotype of his three children.]

Upon the field of Gettysburg
The summer sun was high,
When Freedom met her traitorous foe
Beneath a Northern sky.
Among the heroes of the North,
Who swelled the grand array—
Who rushed, like mountain eagles forth,
From happy homes away,
There stood a man of humble fame,
A sire of children three,
And gazed within a little frame,
Their pictured forms to see;
And blame him not, if in the strife,
He breathed a soldier's prayer:
"Oh! Father, guard a soldier's wife,
And for his children care!"

Upon the field of Gettysburg
When morning shone again,
The crimson cloud of battle burst
In streams of fiery rain;
Our legions quelled the awful flood
Of shot and steel and shell,
And banners marked with ball and blood
Around them rose and fell;
And none more nobly won the name
Of champion for the Free,
Than he who pressed the little frame
That held his children three;
And none were braver in the strife
Than he who breathed the prayer:
"O! Father, guard the soldier's wife,
And for his children care!"

Upon the field of Gettysburg
The full moon slowly rose,
She looked and saw ten thousand brows
All pale in death's repose.
And down beside a silver stream
From other forms away,
Calm as a warrior in a dream,
Our fallen comrade lay;
His limbs were cold, his sightless eyes
Were fixed upon the three,
Sweet stars that rose in mem'ry's skies
To light him o'er death's sea.
Then honored be the soldier's life,
And hallowed be his prayer:
"O! Father, guard the soldier's wife,
And for his children care."

Pleading a Technicality.

She was ironing her dolly's new gown,
Maid Marion, four years old,
With her brows puckered down
In a painstaking frown
Under her tresses of gold.

'Twas Sunday, and nurse coming in
Exclaimed in a tone of surprise:
"Don't you know it's a sin
Any work to begin
On the day that the Lord sanctifies?"

Then lifting her face like a rose,
Thus answered this wise little tot:
"Now, don't you suppose
The good Lord He knows
That this little iron ain't hot?"

Marshall Field.

Marshall Field, who, rumor states, is again about to be married is said to be the richest man in Chicago. His fortune is estimated to be all the way from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. A prominent real estate agent says that Mr. Field is undoubtedly the largest owner of realty in America. He owns the building in which the immense wholesale store of his firm is situated, and an entire city block on which is located the retail house of Marshall Field & Co., corners on State street, at each street crossing from Randolp to Thirty-ninth, a distance of four miles, 1700 farms in Illinois, and over 200 sections of land, each a square mile, on the Northern Pacific Railroad, in North Dakota, Montana and Washington. He also owns a dozen corner lots on State street, in Chicago, a controlling interest in a whole sale business of $45,000,000 a year, and a retail business of $5,000,000.

You Should No Longer Put off Getting Your Summer Outfit.

Has your fancy turned clothe-ward yet? Maybe you've put off the question until now, because of the uncertain, variable weather of May. Well, May's is now of the past, and already the warm days of June are upon us—days when summer clothes are not only a pleasure, but a necessity.

Hats . . . .

We've what you want in summer Hats—Stiff hats, Soft hats, Alpines, Caps, Straws. And they're all this season's latest styles in shapes and colors. The leaders of fashion tell us the first of June is the time to get your Straw hat. Have you yours yet?

Shoes . . .

Calf, Tan and Patent Leather Shoes—which sort do you prefer? We have 'em all in all grades, and latest styles and lasts. Our Shoes are models for comfort and appearance, and they do not give your pocket-book that tired feeling, either.

Clothing . .

You've no doubt seen some of our Nobby Suits on the streets this spring. We've certainly sold enough of them to attract attention. We're putting up as nice and neat a suit as can be had anywhere. Prices from $10 up. Fit guaranteed. Several hundred samples to select from. Remember, these are made-to-order suits, made by New York's best merchant tailors.

Furnishings . .

You are probably in need of shirts, or collars, or cuffs, or neckwear, or underwear, or hoisery, or handkerchiefs, or gloves, or suspenders, or umbrellas, or canes, or something else in the Gentlemen's Furnishings line. Then we can be of service to you, with a most complete stock of seasonable goods. Hadn't you better investigate?
