Easton, Maryland, March 12th, 1898.

MUCH newspaper discussion is seen regarding the bill before the Legislature to appropriate $100,000 to the John's Hopkins University, simply because that institution, because the depreciation of its securities, is in financial distress.

Should such a bill pass, there will be no occasion for similar institution's, within the borders of Maryland, to be apprehensive of fininancial success; for the great Commonwealth of Maryland could be relied upon to come to the rescue.

The John's Hopkins University is an ornament to the State, it is true, but it is no less an ornament than it is a luxury which, but a small fraction of one percent of the State's population is capable of enjoying, while the tax payers, one and all, would be required to contribute to its support.

If the State has money to invest for the good of its citizens, let the same find channels through the public school system, or for the good of the public roads, where-by every citizen may stand an equal chance to derive benefit.

MUCH war talk is heard through out the land, and Easton is no exception. The thoughtful observer will note, however, that the responsible element of the community one and all, deprecate the thought of war. Those who seem "itching for the fray" are, generally speaking, to be found among the young and less responsible citizens.

Government Inspector of Buildings, Col. Edward Roberts, who has traveled the length and breadth of Uncle Sam's dominion, and through many States since the possibility of war with Spain has been discussed, says that the sentiment of the country is decidedly adverse to war; and that this nation will take a great deal of trouble to prevent it, if possible; but if driven to it, she will give Spain a satisfying dose. He also said that the Spainish war-ships would be practically usless after steaming across the Atlantic, as Spain had no coaling stations to rely upon on this side, and she well knew what predicament she would be placed in.

THE Wool Record, published in New York, is a 16-page weekly paper, edited by Mr. A. W. Lightbourne, formerly of this county, who still retains close association with Talbot thorough his relatives and friends here. Although the paper is in its second year, it has achieved a circulation which includes the principal wool growers, dealers, brokers, agents and manufacturers from Maine to California, and from Oregon to Florida, and it is not unknown in foreign lands.

Mr. Lightbourne has cause to be proud of his success in this enterprise, and feels that the paper has been instrumental in creating a strong market for wool in localities which before had seemed to neglect that staple.

He says the outlook for domestic woolens is more than bright and that our home producers have every encouragement for a rising market.

Mr. L. W. Nichols, East New Market, Md., states: "We could not say too much in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. About three years ago one of our children had an attack of croup and we were afraid that we would loose him. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, we decided to gave it a trial. It gave almost instant relief and we believe it saved the child's life. Since then we have never been without a bottle of this remedy in the house and we recommend it to everyone as being an honest Cough Remedy." For sale by H. Roberts, Druggist, Easton, Md.

Educate Your Bowels with Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c., 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money. 11-13-tf

THE apparent tension on Sunday and Monday in our relations with Spain was greatly relieved when it turned out that the Spanish Government had made no demand, and not even a formal request, for the recall of Consul General Lee. It had only "intimated" that a change in that official might be desired. Upon the President's prompt public and explicit statement that he "will not consider the recall of General Lee" even the "intimation" was withdrawn, and the cloud which had gathered over that incident was dissipated.

Meanwhile the possible significance which it was feared lurked in the Spanish "suggestion" brought out an exhilarating and potent display of American unity, vigor and patriotism. There came on instant demonstration that the presence of any serious menance to the national honor or security would put the solid and mighty power of the Republic in battle array. Congress swiftly rallied behind the President. There was no division or faltering. The bill for the artillery regiments was immediately passed. The measure for the appropriation of $50,000,000 as an emergency fund and placing it at the disposal of the President, was agreed upon. Within twenty-four hours the Government, backed by a deep and vibrant public sentiment, had given an illustration of strength and resolution which will profoundly impress Europe, and be the stoutest bulwark of peace.

The incident had the effect of showing the world just what America is made of. The President met the question in a manner which commands the unqualified approbation of the American people and the respect of the whole world. No timorousness or hesitation or wavering there! "The President will not consider the recall of General Lee. He has borne himself throughout this crisis with judgment, fidelity and courage, and to the President's entire satisfaction." There was the ring of decision and firmness. If any Americans feared that the President was irresolute, disposed to temporize, and lacking in a clear and definite purpose, they will understand him better for that strong and manly declaration. If the Spanish Goverument had the idea, through the President's patience and undoubted desire for peace, that there was any weakness or uncertainty in his determination, it will gain a new conception of his fibre and character. The effect of his attitude will be inestimable.

At an East-End Hospital a man was brought in terribly smashed. A new house-surgeon having examined him, said to his wife, "I fear your poor husband is dead."

"No, I ain't," said the supposed corpse.

"Hush, John, be quiet," said the wife, "the gentleman must know better than you what's the matter with you."

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, March. 7, 1898.

REAL KIDSKIN GLOVES FOR A DOLLAR

Orders come from all directions for the dollar gloves that have made this glove store famous.

The Princess May

are produced exclusively for us by the chief glove maker of Grenoble, France. There was much to overcome; it seemed impossible to get a regular supply of real kidskin gloves to sell at the price. It is the outgrowth of years of trying.

The new spring stock is ready—just from the Custom House. State size and color and a pair goes to you in a jiffy, postpaid for the even dollar.

Styles are two, three and four button, two and three clasp.

Colors: tans, red tans, modes, slates, browns, butters, pearls, black, white.

Rain-Garments for Women A PRETTY mackintosh is worth a dozen umbrellas, and turns a hopelessly rainy day into quite passable weather.

Expensive? Not necessarily. $3.75 buys quite a neat garment—blue or black. These have fancy checked back, inlaid velvet collar and full military cape.

Quite pretty enough, you think? Yes, and good.

Then there are others at $4 and $5 and up to $10.

For girls—mackintoshes at $2, $3.75 and $5—those at $5 have navy blue cashmere face and Scotch plaid woven lining. Full single golf cape with hood.

The women's garments of Cravenette are ideal. We guarantee the genuineness of fabric—never letting the imitation stuffs masquerade in their stead. Prices run from $10 to $14.

There are many imitations offered to us—they must find owners somewhere. Apt to prove as apples of Istakhar. That historic fruit had a bitter side—so has a poor bargain.

Shoes WOMEN'S $4 and $5 Shoes for $3. Practically a thousand pairs—986 to be exact—half the lot is marked at the higher price as we write. They'll be re-marked at the new price as you read—and in neither group can we replace the shoes today to sell at less than the full prices of $4 and $5. They are winter shoes—the safe shoes to wear until after May-day.

There are kidskin shoes, button and lace.

There are box-calfskin shoes, button and lace.

Bull dog and coin toes.

The kidskin shoes are tipped with patent leather; the calfskin shoes are self-tipped.

There is a good range of sizes when the selling starts.

John Wanamaker.
