Church Hill Lions Prepare Award for Handicapped

The Lions Club, in cooperation with the Division of Rehabilitation, has the honor of sponsoring a program to show recognition for the person who has done much to overcome his handicap.

This award, won last year by Jack Laird, filling station operator just north of Centreville ,is decided by a county-wide committee headed by Miss Catherine Kirwan, prominent civic leader from Kent Island. Other members of the committee are Frank A. Tarbutton, Sudlersville, district rehabilitation supervisor; Louis H. Perkins, Centreville county unemployment officer; Pat Duggan, Sudlersville; and Dan M. Tabler, Centreville.

The winner of the award will be present and announced at the meeting of the Church Hill civic club, Tuesday, Feb. 22.

In addition, an award will also be made to the business organization that has done the most to employ the handicapped during the past year.

Representatives from the other Lions Clubs in the county—Centreville, Queenstown and Kent Island —have been invite dto attend.

Centreville Tax Rate Boosted 5 Cents

Centreville's 1955 tax rate is 5 cents higher than last year's. The three town commissioners set the new rate at a meeting last Friday night. Although the individual taxpayers will each be paying a rate 5 cents higher than the one they paid last year ,the town actually has to set five different tax rates because of a problem with four sections annexed in 1947.

These newer sections do not have a town sewer system and therefore pay less than the residents of the original town.

The tar rate for Centreville proper, then, is 95 cents per $100 valuation. The Centreville Heights-Kidwell section and Easton road section rate is 65 cents. Taxpayers in the Chesterfield section will pay 70 cents.

1,700 Increase

Since the town's assessable basis is $3,400,000, the tax-rate increase will mean about $1,700 in increased revenue. The commissioners said they needed the extra money for planned road improvements.

This year ,for the first time, the town will not get $,500 as its share from a county liquor dispensary in the town. The dispensary system has been dropped by the county in favor of private sales.

The town is also able to tax merchants inventory at 6 per cent instead of the former 100 per cent, which also decreased revenue.

New Officers Added

The commissioners added a new police officer Friday night who began his duties Saturday. Charles Tarbutton, Jr., the new officer, is the third man on the town's force.

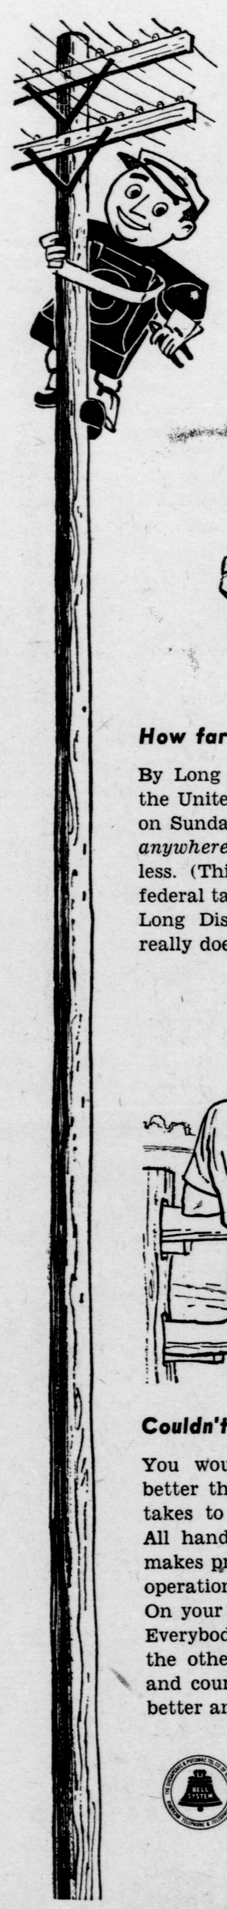

The members of the town board are Thomas H. Davis, president; Royden N. Powell, Sr., treasurer, and C. Smith Landskroener, secretary.

Down the Line with Johnny Bell

How far will two dollars go?

By Long Distance, they'll go anywhere in the United States! Because after 6 p.m. or on Sundays you can call station-to-station anywhere in the country for two dollars or less. (This minimum charge doesn't include federal tax.) We've found many folks think Long Distance costs much more than it really does. How about you?

Couldn't run it alone, could you?

You wouldn't want to try. Who knows better than you how much co-operation it takes to keep a farm running smoothly? All hands working together — that's what makes profitable farming possible. And co-operation works wonders other places, too. On your party-line telephone, for instance. Everybody working together, thinking of the other fellow's needs, being thoughtful and courteous — that's what makes service better and faster for everyone.
