

Queenstown Motor Co., Displaying 1946 Hudson

New 1946 Hudson automobiles are being shown by The Queenstown Motor Company, Queenstown, Md., and winning favorable approval due to the perfect advances in exterior and interior styling, mechanical efficiency and ease of operation, according to Queenstown Motor Company.

Declaring that the new models fully meet the demand for better cars for better driving, the Queenstown Motor Co. adds that deliveries will be made as rapidly as possible and those placing the first orders will get the first cars. It adds that present Hudson owners are well represented in those viewing the first cars built since the end of the war.

The Queenstown Motor Company has been advised by the factory that Hudson is in a unique position for production by reason of early reservation, early orders for models and an integrated plant that enables it to maintain high percentage of the completed car's components, the manufacturer.

The new models are being offered in two distinctly different "style lines"—the Super series and the Commodore series, each available with six or eight cylinder engines. However, immediate production schedules call for four door sedans powered by six cylinder engines followed by four door and six door coupes. These passenger coupes and convertibles will be added to the Hudson line as rapidly as capacity allows. The first production models will permit Chevrolet and eight cylinder powered cars in both the Super and Commodore series will be produced as rapidly as possible.
