Blonde Aviatrix Arranged Suicide Plane Project for German Victory

Hanna Reitsch's Plan Still Incomplete When Nazi Defeat Ended World War II

By PAULINE FREDERICK
WNU Foreign Correspondent

Written Exclusively For WNU Features

NUERNBERG, GERMANY. — [illegible]

[illegible]

Hitler Lukewarm to Plan.

[illegible]

IT WAS HIS FAULT . . . Hanna Reitsch lays the failure of the suicide plane project to Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering. [illegible]

[illegible]

Here is the Story:

[illegible]

[illegible]

Perilous Test Flights.

[illegible]

DIDN'T LIKE IT . . . Adolf Hitler didn't like Hanna Reitsch's idea for "suicide planes." He thought it was "un-German" but finally consented to have the planes developed.

Hanna Reitsch

[illegible]

Himmler Plotted to Kill Hitler and Trade his Body To Allies for Personal Safety, Colonel Testifies

[illegible]

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

RAYMOND MASSEY is setting up an all-time record for other performers to shoot at; so far no one else has appeared in all four branches of the Thespian art. To begin with, there's his regular weekly stint on the radio, in "The Harvest of Stars," on NBC. He's also appearing currently on the Broadway stage in "Pygmalion," with Gertrude Lawrence.

RAYMOND MASSEY

Just recently he did two television shows for CBS. And in April he returns to Hollywood to make "The Secret," with Joan Crawford. That's covering the field!

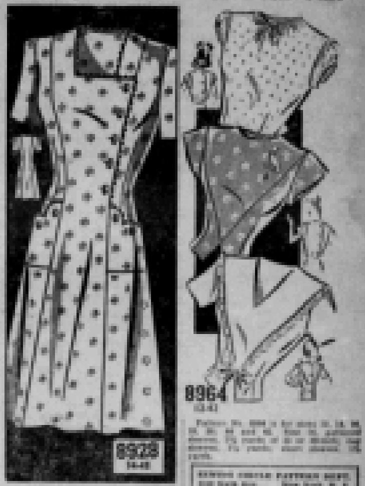
Hedy Lamarr and Gene Lockhart are right back where they started, on Stage 3 on the Goldwyn lot. They both got their first big screen breaks in "Algiers," which was filmed there. Now they're back for the first time, for "The Strange Woman."

James Stewart's back in Hollywood, after visiting in Washington and New York—where even night-club audiences look at him with interest. His first postwar picture will be "It's a Wonderful Life," made for Liberty Films and released by RKO. It's a Frank Capra production. That's under way now. His next film will be "The Magic City," a Robert Riskin production, for RKO.

[illegible]

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERNS

Home Frock for Long-Day Charm
A Trio of Blouses for Your Suit



Slimming House Dress

A SIMPLE side-button house frock with slimming lines and a neat, efficient air. Novel scalloped pockets add a decorative touch. Make it in bright cottons for morning wear, in rayon crepe, spun rayon or shantung for afternoons.

* * *

[illegible]

Three Lovely Blouses

THREE pretty blouses to add a touch of glamour to your wardrobe. You can have a youthful round neck with gathered or cap sleeves, or a flattering V neck with short or three quarter sleeves. All button down the back. Choose the prettiest fabrics you can find and trim with ruffling or your favorite jewelry.

[illegible]

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERN DEPT.
[illegible] New York, N. Y.
[illegible]
Pattern No. ________ Size ____
Name ________
Address ________

Chauncey Believed There Was a Time for All Things

The late Chauncey Mitchell Depew, who was a U.S. senator from New York, had a genius for after-dinner speaking which was universally acknowledged and admired, and as a result he was called upon to eat everywhere and with every manner of organization.

"Chauncey," remarked a friend, "I don't see how you can stand it. I should think it would give you dyspepsia. I suppose you can eat everything?"

"No," replied Depew, "there are two things I always positively refuse to eat for dinner."

"And what are they?"

"Breakfast and supper," he replied.

Ever Try Making Cough Syrup In Your Kitchen?

Quick Relief. No Cooking. Easy!

[illegible]

NR TO-NIGHT
[illegible]

[illegible]