Business Is Wormy, but It's Profitable in Maine

Since 1930, the demand for marine worms for bait by surf fishermen has resulted in a sizable industry in Maine, says Collier's. During one recent year, 12,000,000 of these large and brightly colored worms, having a retail value of $700,000, were dug from the tide-water flats of this state alone.

To conserve its worm resources, Maine requires diggers to be residents and to take out a license.

MISSIONARY GETS POST

WASHINGTON. — Here's the inside story on the sudden appointment of John Leighton Stuart as new American ambassador to China.

Originally, President Truman planned to appoint Lt. Gen. Albert Wedemeyer as ambassador to China. As a matter of fact, Wedemeyer's nomination already had been typed and was on the President's desk. However, last week General Marshall sent Truman an urgent cable advising that he finally had found one man who could act as ambassador and who was on good terms with both the Communists and the Chiang Kai-shek group. Marshall also pointed out that Stuart had lived in China for 37 years and spoke fluent Chinese.

So, 24 hours later, President Truman nominated J. Leighton Stuart to be American ambassador to China.

ARGENTINE ATOM BOMBS

The Fascist Argentine government has completed elaborate plans for going into the atomic-bomb business on a scale parallel to that of the U. S.

The Argentine scientific commission has proposed and received approval of the Argentine war and navy departments to finance importation and operations of the best nuclear physicists in the world, including German refugees.

The Argentine government is guaranteeing these scientists additional funds, complete scientific liberty and absolute personal security from police terror. Its head of one important Argentine scientific group informed the Perón government that Nazi scientists are doing well but still are not spending rapidly enough to satisfy the dictators.

ATOMIC RAT RACE

U. S. atomic delegate Bernie Baruch has confided to friends that he is much opposed to having chairmanship of the atomic commission rotate each month. This means that Australian Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt, United Nations dynamo, may step down as chairman.

The Australian is about the only member of the atomic commission who has Soviet Envoy Gromyko afraid of him. The other day Gromyko opposed a decision by majority rule, proposing a two-thirds vote instead. Evatt was on the Russian in a flash.

"It's not necessarily true, Mr. Gromyko, that the majority is always wrong," rebuked the Australian.

On another occasion, Gromyko was protesting against the Baruch plan. Instead he proposed immediate destruction of all existing atomic bombs and secrets of the atomic bomb answer to the U. S.

When Bernie Baruch, listening through his ear phone, heard this he became almost apoplectic. But before Baruch could speak, Evatt took the floor again.

"You know, Mr. Gromyko," said Evatt, "not all the parliaments in the world would approve all the proposals that you make here. If they did, it would be a different world."

NO CONGRESSMAN IS GUILTY

The case of Andrew Jackson May and his backings was calling for war professors themselves two defects in our politico-congressional system which sooner or later must be cured.

1. The almost life-or-death power of the chairman of any congressional committee over executive branches of the government.

2. The fact that certain congressional districts are so dominated by political bosses that no matter what a man does in Washington he can't be defeated for reelection at home.

Congressman May comes from a district in the Kentucky mountains, many of whose people now regard him as something of a hero. They believe that Jack May can do no wrong. Prior to May's reelection his district sent a Republican, John Langley, to congress. He landed in jail for moonlighting. But even after he had been convicted, Langley was reelected to congress. And when it became clear that Langley could not adequately represent his district while behind bars, his constituents sent his wife to congress.

Actually, the great majority of congressmen are shockingly honest. Misguided and frequently wrong they may be, but most of them are honest.

BIKINI AFTERMATH

Air Chief General "Tooey" Spaatz is not happy over the results of Navy's role in the first Bikini test. The battleships and pilot, who dropped the bomb, were more than a thousand feet wide of the mark, and in the deepest permanency. But they will be transferred to routine target operations. General Spaatz believes there is no excuse for their wide miss. . . . The Bureau of Ships has decided to retire Admiral [illegible] and seven members of the Polish navy in England permanently.
