Peter Manby vs Hodijah Collins

The Plaintiff in this case offered evidence to prove that he the Plaintiff in the years seventeen hundred and ninety, and seventeen hundred and ninety one in due time put into the hands of the Defendant to be collected One hundred and seventy eight Thousand six hundred and sixty six pounds of Tobacco due for Officers and Attornies fees from persons residing in the Hundreds in the condition of the Bond mentioned which the said Defendant received to collect. The Defendant objected to the admissibility of this Evidence as not sufficient to support the issues in this cause joined. But the Court were of opinion and did so direct the Jury That this Evidence is sufficient to support the issues in this cause joined, upon the part of the Plaintiff unless the Defendant could shew that he had made a return in due time to the Plaintiff of Insolvent fees or otherwise legally discharged himself from the payment of the same which evidence was accordingly admitted: To which opinion and direction of the Court the Defendant prayed leave to except and that this his second Bill of Exceptions may be signed sealed, and Enrolled, according to the Statute in that case made and provided, which is done accordingly
