some of the Slaves of the aforesaid Nicholas Maccubbins, and this Deponent further saith, that he got his information of the aforesaid Stone being brought to Robins point aforesaid from Samuel Brane, this Deponent further saith that the first time he was saw the said Stone on said point, to the best of his remembrance it was about three feet in length, and about one foot wide and one foot in depth, and this Deponent further saith that on a land dispute between Capt. Charles Ridgely and Nicholas Mackubbin that the said Mackubbin never prevented a offered to prevent, the said Ridgely from running from the said Robin's point, as the beginning of the aforesaid tract of land called Poplar Ridge, as he this Deponent ever knew or heard of, the question being asked by Robert Phelps the then acting person in this cause, on the behalf of the plaintiff if he this Deponent did not remember any thing of Capt. Ridgely being stopped by John H. Mackubbin from running to Robin's point aforesaid answers no not as he remembers, and further this Deponent saith not. Daniel his (mark) Holloway. — Taken on part of the Defendant the 6th day of March 1798. before John Welch, Sheriff of a a. County. — The Deposition of Benjamin Philips aged about fifty nine years who being duly sworn, deposeth and saith that the place he now stands he has known for thirty three years back and at that time there stood a bounded post, which said place he has heard called Robbin's point ever since he has known it, and further this Deponent saith not. Benjamin Phillips. Taken on part of the plaintiff this 5th day of March 1798. Before John Welch, Sheriff of a a County). — The Deposition of Daniel Holloway aged about fifty six years, after being duly sworn deposeth and saith that the place he now shews stands a Locust post, which post was shewn this Deponent to be the second boundary of a tract of land called Poplar Ridge and the first boundary of a tract of land called Poplar plains by Francis Atkinson now deceased and Comfort Umphres, that her husband William Umphres told her the said Comfort that the aforesaid boundary was the second boundary of the aforesaid land called Poplar Ridge and the beginning of the aforesaid land called Poplar plains, and this Deponent further saith that he has known the aforesaid boundary this thirty three years. — Daniel his (mark) Holloway. — Taken on part of the Plaintiff the 6th day of March 1798. Before. John Welch, Sheriff of a a County. The Deposition of Daniel Holloway aged about fifty six years after being duly sworn deposeth and saith the place he is now at he this Deponent was never at before nor knows nothing about this place. Daniel his (mark) Holloway. Taken on the part of the plaintiff on this 6th day of March 1798. Before John Welch, Sheriff of a a County). — The Deposition of Dorsey Jacobs aged about fifty one years after being duly sworn deposeth and saith that between three and four years ago he was invited to the place near where he now stands to take part of a Fish Dinner, and he this Deponent was then informed by Elijah Roboson now deceased that he the said Roboson had been applied to by Capt. Charles Ridgely to purchase a peice of land on Bodkin Creek called Poplar Plains and when the aforesaid Roboson applied to the Winchesters of the Eastern Shore to purchase the aforesaid land, they agreed to sell and when the aforesaid Roboson informed the aforesaid Ridgely they would sell the land he the said Ridgely requested the said Roboson to enquire of the old standards concerning the boundaries of said land and other lands that the said land depended on, as he the said Ridgely was not fond of purchasing a Law suit then the said Roboson made inquiry of the neighbours concerning the boundaries of the said land and was informed by William Hancock, George Gill and several other old standards that the place this Deponent now shews was called Robin's point and that the beginning tree of a tract of land called Poplar Ridge stood on said point, and this Deponent further saith that on the same day that he was at the aforesaid Fish Dinner he saw a Stone lying on the edge of the Water and was informed by the said Roboson who was then in Company that he the said Roboson had been informed that Nicholas Mackubbin had brought a Stone on said point to set up as the beginning of Poplar Ridge, and further this Deponent saith not. — Dorsey Jacob. — The Deposition of John Foreman aged about forty two years, after being duly sworn deposeth and saith that about ten years ago he was applied to by John H. Mackubbin now deceased and father of the present Plaintiff, to purchase a peice of land, that he this deponent then held adjoining the place he now is at, called Robin's Point and was informed by the said Mackubbin if he this Deponent did not sell him his land that he would take it away from him, and that he this Deponent should not move the pails off of the land, that this Deponent at that time held, and that he the said Mackubbin said he would run his line across Back Creek and home to his beginning and at the same time pointed at Robin's point and on the same day that the said Conversation hapned this Deponent sold his land to said Mackubbin and further this Deponent saith not. John his (mark) Foreman. — The Deposition of Sammuel Brane aged about fifty three years, after being duly sworn deposeth and saith that the place he is now at, he has frequently heard the neighbours say that there had been a boundary at said place which place is called Robin's Point. — Sammuel his (mark) Brane. — The Deposition of Nathaniel Hancock aged about thirty seven years, after being duly sworn deposeth and saith that between three and four years ago he was called on to attend a meeting of the place he is now at which place is called Robin's point and on the same day Elijah Roboson now deceased was present and said that Capt. Charles Ridgely had spoke to him the said Roboson to purchase a peice of land for him and after some enquiry he came across a peice of land called Poplar Plains which was for sale and when the said Roboson informed said Ridgely of it he the said Ridgely begged the said Roboson not purchase any land that might be in dispute then or in dispute hereafter then the said Roboson made enquiry among the old standards in the neighbourhood concerning the aforesaid land and