foundation of the survey the said 19th line has been considered to be T 32 W. what then can the Chancellor do after the various transactions which have taken place on the disputes relative to Contestable mana which it has not yet been in his power to settle He conceives from what is stated, and it is now admitted by Jarrett that he could not at the time of returning this Certificate consider it as a reconnected Certificate of Contestable mana laid down agreeably to the several orders on the subject all of which directed the same thing viz. to let Contestable mana Contain no land not contained in the Hills of Poverty But inasmuch as it now appears to the Chancellor that the 19th line of The Hills of Poverty was really intented to be T 32 W and if so that this Certificate contains no land not comprehended in the Hills of Poverty he conceives that it may be received and stand as a Certificate of Contestable mana reconnected as it ought to be untill the contrary be regularly shewn and that the period from which it is to stand is the day of its return, A. C. Hanson Chan. Dec. 20. 1797.

The Chancellor having by his note determined that this was to be considered as a proper Certificate and that the period from which it is to stand is the date of its return (which was on the 18th 19th & 20th of May last) it was not liable to a Caveat agreeably to Law after 6 months from such return.
