In reversing the lines of Meredith's Hunting Quarter with the aforesaid allowance he found the end of twenty six and half perches on the tenth line of said tract to be on the south bank of Little Monocacy near the edge of the water (a little above where the surveyor has now made it) and where he then made the beginning of that part or parcel of land then laid out for two and one eighth acres and that he has run the aforesaid land called Meredith's Hunting Quarter in the year 1786 and twice before and have always found the lines thereof to cross the Creek called Little Monocacy near the place where the old Bridge formerly stood which is near the place where it is now run by the Surveyor. —
