acres to my son Nathaniel Truman Greenfield in the same manner as I have given any other land in the former part of my will. And whereas some time past I had one mortgage of land from my brother Mr James Greenfield & one other mortgage of land from Mr Robert Elliott and as I have not disposed of either of them heretofore I therefore by this Codicil which I would have to be taken as a part of my last will do give and bequeath to my youngest son James Truman Greenfield & ye heirs of his body all my right title and Interest in ye said mortgage and the lands therein mentioned in ye same manner as I have given him some other land in the body of my will. And whereas I have several poor debtors as may appear by my books it is therefore my will yt whom of ye said debtors shall appear to my wife to be objects of charity she may discharge them and that none of my Legatees or Executors shall have any advantage against my sd wife for so doing. Witness my hand and seal this Eleventh day of November Anno 1733.
