Fillmore, "Luxury-Loving Monster," Brought in Tub

Uncritical writers are fond of observing that Millard Fillmore was the most uninspiring and least impressive of all Presidents. But he did one big thing for the country. He introduced the bathtub to official and polite society.

Eighty-five years ago, a Cincinnati merchant imported one from England and Fillmore had a chance at it, and then he ordered the war department to call for bids. In 1851 the White House bathtub was installed and Fillmore was denounced as an unholy plutocrat, a luxury-loving monster!—Tulsa World.

When Jim Caught the Football Fever

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

"DON'T they look thrilling!" Sam and Leila flourished a pair of pasteboard slips in front of Sue's brown eyes. "Oh, I forgot," she added, "that Jim doesn't care for football."

"Isn't it the limit?" And this time the brown eyes blazed. "When one is a football fan of the first magnitude, and has been reared on football with one's brother a coach, to have a fiance, otherwise perfectly heavenly, who rates football a bore!"

"It is hard," sympathized Leila, "and if I were you, I should cure him or die in the attempt. What does he suppose football weather was made for?"

The subject was dropped for the time being, but Leila's assertion that Jim should be cured occurred to Sue later and she pondered just what drastic means she could employ to bring about so desirable a reform.

She wondered if brother William, now married and running a hardware store in Rawlinsville, but still acting as a coach on the side for the Rawlins eleven, could help her out. Certainly he was worth a try. So that evening she wrote and posted a bulky letter whose postscript ran: "Above all we must approach him indirectly. Jim is canny enough to shy completely if he suspects."

Brother William's reply must have been all Sue hoped, for the evening of its arrival she began her attack on Jim.

"Do you know, dear," she said plaintively. "I'm rather worn out after the summer. I have half a mind during your vacation to run up to Will's and rest. You'll be going off somewhere and I wouldn't see much of you anyway."

Jim — tall, broad - shouldered, clean-cut — regarded her quizzically. "What made you think I was going anywhere?"

"Oh, you'll want to," said Sue airily, "you need a change also. It will only be for about a couple of weeks."

"Well—" said Jim. "I had thought perhaps we'd do a little house hunting and furniture buying, but if you'd rather—"

Sue had visited her brother exactly three days when Jim's telegram arrived, followed shortly by its sender, who paused a brief moment at the College Inn to deposit his baggage and then hastened to Sue who greeted him with concealed triumph. Indirection had worked thus far.

The following morning, after breakfast (William had collected Jim and his belongings from the inn) Sue remarked that she had letters to write and could not give Jim any company until luncheon. Perhaps Jim could amuse himself for a time.

"I'll look after him," broke in William. "Have a bunch of wouldbes to try out. Jim will look them over with me."

Jim acquiesced agreeably, although no doubt secretly wondering just what would-bes were in terms of hardware. Surreptitiously, Sue winked at her brother. Things had begun to move.

The two men did not show up until lunch was cold and Sue could not help but notice that Jim seemed strangely dusty and dishevelled for a mere onlooker.

"Got Jim to help me out refereeing," said William nonchalantly, and Sue let it go at that.

The first game of the season was scheduled for the day prior to Sue's intended departure for home. The time was short and William daily neglected his hardware affairs to work up a creditable team. Jim tagged along also, and to Sue's pleased surprise seemed always as ready as William to get down to the field.

But not until the day of the game itself did any word of football pass between Sue and Jim. Then, "I'd like," she said hesitatingly, "to go to the game this afternoon, if you could possibly find something to occupy you."

"Go to the game? Something to occupy me?" echoed Jim, staring blankly.

"Of course, you're going to the game. I'm only sorry I can't sit with you, but your brother has asked me to be the timekeeper. It's a great game, Sue. Really, it's wonderful!"

Some months later Sue met Leila and in the course of conversation football was mentioned.

"I hear," said Leila, "that Jim has become an ardent rooter. I suppose you are delighted."

"Well—maybe," sighed Sue. Then, at the other's look of surprise she went on to explain: "You see, I always wanted Jim to get interested so that we could go to the games together. But—do we? Quite the contrary. Why Jim is so keen that I'm a mere amateur beside him. As for sitting in a regular seat—nothing doing. He knows all the coaches and nothing but the side lines will do for him."

"You brought it on yourself," reminded Leila meanly.

"Oh, yes," acknowledged Sue, "But —" and she grinned, "I didn't know that football was like the measles — the older you are, the harder they hit you!"

Susquehanna Indians

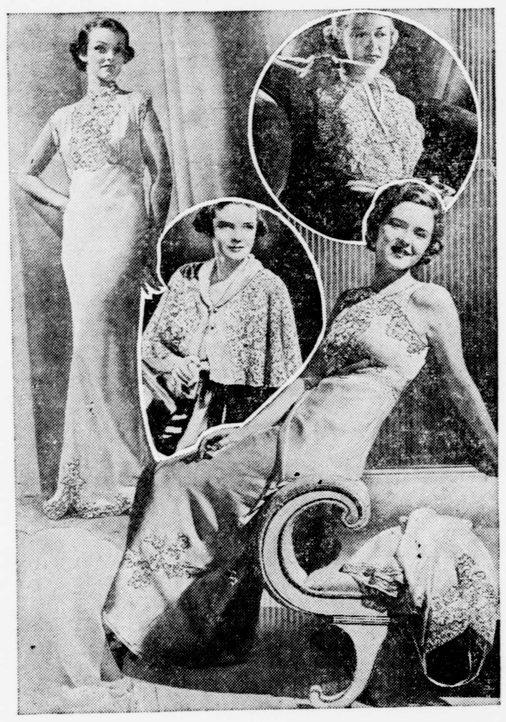

The Susquehanna Indians were a tribe of the Iroquoian stock, living in 1608 on the lower portion of the Susquehanna river and its affluents. As a separate body they were driven out of their former home about 1676 by the Iroquois, and they merged with other tribes, principally with the Meherrins.

Glamorous Is the New Lingerie

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FOR the fair sex nothing so strikes the right note as beautiful lingerie. Seeing lovely "undies," and coveting, is akin to that feeling one has in a garden of flowers, to add another and yet another to one's bouquet plucked from among nature's loveliest. Just so does the eternal feminine in us keep longing for one more and one more of the delectably colorful lace - trimmed silken nighties, slips, pantie sets, negligees, cunning bed-jackets and others such as designers are this season placing before the enraptured eyes of beauty-seeking womankind.

Even so, the esthetic viewpoint is but half the story, for there is a practical side to the question that those skilled in the art of dress keep ever in mind, namely, a costume to be fashion-correct and of comely appearance must build from the foundation up. Wherefore, it is as important to have a wardrobe of lingerie as of outer apparel. Which is why creators of modern lingerie are devoting so much of time and talent, thought and study to the fashioning of under garments that because of their perfection of lines and subtle fit, act as "first-aid" toward the charm and style-rightness of one's costume.

The nightgowns this season are nothing if not glamorous. Rich fabrics and colors, beautiful finishes and elaborate lace trimmings mark them with distinction. Mostly they are satin, but you do see some of crepe and silk ninon and georgette.

Slips, too, are reflecting the interest in the daintier garments and gone are the utterly tailored effects. They are carefully fitted of course and even when they are not elaborately lace-trimmed as so many are, they still have details of lace and net trimmings, of tiny edgings of val lace to appeal to the well-groomed lady.

There are all manner of negligees and hostess gowns. The satin ones, lavish with lace, are easily the most popular this season. Bed jackets of all shapes and types are more fascinating than ever. Some are made in cape design and tie loosely in front. The model shown in the center inset is of allover lace with wide satin border front. In a way this charming little cape-bed-jacket might be classed with the so called lingerie accessories which Paris designers are advocating this season. Such, for instance, is the "bib" to be worn over night dresses. It is a grand gift item for a convalescent or invalid. It's a frilly lace front piece to slip on at a moment's notice over the "nightie." The one pictured in the upper inset is done in circular ruffles of lace with ribbon ties about the throat. It is said that it is becoming quite a fad to make your own lingerie accessories.

Describing the lovely gowns pictured, the one to the left is of shell-pink satin with deep appliqued yoke of Alencon lace in the new light ecru shade which is so good this season. The lovely skirt edge, with its lace slit up the front, features the new trend toward fine details. Soft yellow is used for the interesting nightdress on the seated figure with its diagonal neckline and one-side shoulder strap. The lace motifs applied are carried out also in the matching slip and panties which form the perfect ensemble.

CHANTILLY DRESS
By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Nothing is so flattering, so "new" for dressing up in the afternoon and going on for the evening date as the simple, painstakingly tailored dress of black Chantilly. This dress has the street-length skirt which is so much more popular this year than the cocktail dresses of other seasons. It is especially youthful in design, but is as good for the young matron as for the college girl. Note the little flared pockets which add to the tailored effect.

SILKS FOR SPRING STRESS HIGH COLOR

Edward Molyneux, style authority, predicts a riot of color for spring. In monotones as in prints, color is the watchword.

A wide range of blue tones is being accented in spring silks.

Misty blues and strong purple-blues are new, and the middle tones of blue also register. Purple is newly accented.

The capucine range is an important one, highlighting glowing yellow - orange and pumpkin tones. Henna and horsechestnut rank high, with the former striking a new note for evening. A hint of ashes-of-roses overlays the copper range as it is interpreted for resort and spring 1937. Brownish gold is another important tone to watch.

Beige and other neutral tones are expected to prove important, as a contrast to the vivid color ranges.

The red range ranks high. Cherry red, cerise, ashes-of-roses, mauve pink and pale mauve red are leading tones.

A wide range of green tones includes bright yellow green, turquoise green, reseda green and strong hues.

Ten New Hosiery Shades Offered for Next Spring

Ten new hosiery shades for next spring are shown in the advance hosiery color card just released by the Textile Color Card association to its members.

The ten colors are: Glamour, a sparkling golden tone; carib, a coppery hue with a rosy glow; cubatan, a new "leather" type of tan; Dalmatia, a radiant copper; plaza beige, a warm light beige; swanky, a subtle medium beige; swanky, a dark beige; noonday, a subdued greyish beige; avenue, a medium neutral beige, and moondusk, a medium grey of taupe cast.

What Women Want to Know About Fashions

Incoming frocks are styled with "apron fronts."

Shoes with built-up heels are hitting the high spots.

Stiff collars of solid silver are work at the neck of black afternoon dresses.

The launching of broadcloth as an important fabric of the winter met with greater success than designers anticipated.

Evening frocks of net measure yards and yards around.

Mainbocher features silk net ruches for hems of skirts and cuffs.

Mittens, scarfs and earmuffs are among the most interesting items of the college girl's wardrobe.

A moderately draped white felt turban with a white quill stuck jauntily through the side was designed to wear with dark furs.

On Judging Characters—

Some Views to Hold in the Reading of Modern Books

THE desire to belittle the characters of those who have been held in high esteem for years, even for generations, is only excelled in these times by the determination to make heroes of those whose reputations have been unsavory. There is, of course, in all things a happy medium. No one is all good. No one is all bad. But it is the predominance of virtue or vice which sets its stamp on persons' characters, and causes them to be estimated good or bad accordingly.

Writers of biography are seldom readers. One of the greatest difficulties is in really getting at the truth about persons whether they be dead or alive. Biographers, living in the same period as those of whom they write, are unable to make delineations free from personal ideas or estimations, especially if the person about whom they are writing is known to them.

Individual View Point.

It is for readers to make their own discoveries. They have this privilege and they should take it. Get acquainted with the facts as much as possible through perusing more than one biography. Get more than one other person's point of view. There are great men. There are little ones. To learn a few derogatory things about the former does not make them unworthy natures. The balance remains still for virtue. To find out good qualities in poor characters is delightful, but so long as flagrant misdeeds can merely be mollified and not erased, the person has to stand the brunt of his own deeds.

Well Tempered Judgment.

In reading biographies and in studying human nature it is well always to bear in mind that extenuating circumstances are present. Rarely are they absent totally. There are certain situations which exist, and complications which arise to influence action. Knowing these we become less harsh in adverse judgments, or more laudatory in favorable estimations according to how the character acts. We learn to detect the difference between the desire to undermine a fine character or to establish a poor one as good.

Nature

NATURE, so far as in her lies,
Imitates God, and turns her face
To every land beneath the skies,
Counts nothing that she meets with base,
But lives and love in every place.
—Tennyson.

Patience

HOW poor are they who have not patience!
What wound did ever heal but by degrees?
—Shakespeare.

Uncle Phil Says:

That Little Difference

It is just the little difference between the good and the best that makes the difference between artists and the artisan.

Much better does a prune taste out of a barrel in a grocery store than stewed and on the table.

Those who get up early in the morning think everybody else should; but those who get up very late don't usually move the world.

If you can't agree with the tastes of the people, you are in for much lonesomeness.

Difficult Rebuilding

Rebuilding a ruined house or a ruined career is a much more difficult matter than building new. It takes more courage, more skill and more ability. But it is being done every day.

Scolding may not mean much, but laughing doesn't make the baby cry.

Cheerfulness should be natural; but the cultivated kind is better than none.

Duties are tasks the performance of which you look forward to with distaste, but once performed, rejoice in forever after.

Man has never been reconciled to man. He has always wanted to make him over; as much now as in the medieval ages.

Firestone
GROUND GRIP TIRES

GROUND GRIP TIRES bring a new freedom to the farmer—freedom to go anywhere, any time, in any weather. No longer do bad roads, snow and thaws mean isolation.

In deep snow, mud or sand, Firestone Ground Grip Tires go right through without spinning or stalling — you can always get to town.

The Firestone Ground Grip Tire was developed to overcome the difficulties of winter transportation on the farm. Firestone engineers, working under the personal direction of Harvey S. Firestone on his Columbiana, Ohio, farm, tested and proved the Ground Grip Tire under the worst possible weather and road conditions. This tire is so different in design and so superior in performance that a patent on it was issued by the United States Patent Office. The heavy rubber lugs of the tread are without equal for traction. They take hold and keep going where other tires get stuck — and you don't need chains.

Don't let bad roads and bad weather keep you isolated this winter. See your nearby Firestone Implement Dealer, Firestone Tire Dealer or Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store today.
