Congress—And The Average Citizen

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Although Congress thus far has achieved little in its special session, the American public sees, in current indications, several rays of hope.

From various statements emanating from Washington, the average citizen is encouraged to believe that Government is beginning to think of him as the man for whom it actually exists.

Washington, for example, is giving thought to the great army of American consumers—which includes more than 129,000,000 members. Instructions have been issued to determine why the costs of food and necessities for all the people have risen so markedly in recent years.

It is giving thought to the average citizen as a worker. Efforts are being made to supplant guesswork with actual facts and figures on the numbers of jobless, and the reasons for their unemployment.

It is giving thought to him as a wage-earner. Efforts are being made, by some members of Congress, to strike the shackles from the wrists of private enterprise, and thus encourage employers to expand those productive activities on which all payrolls depend.

It is giving thought to him as a taxpayer. Efforts are being made, by some Congressmen, to cut the waste in government which has boosted public debts, public deficits and public spending to heights that take now a terrific toll from all workers, in taxes both direct and indirect.

It is giving thought to him as a citizen and constituent. Many Congressmen are now tuning in on his voice, even though it means lending a less eager ear to bureaucrats who demand huge checks, drawn on the public account, for fresh and often impractical experiments.

All these things are still promises. But, despite earlier disappointments, the American public continues to hope they will be fulfilled. If not, it's a fair guess that a lot of Congressmen are going to be asked the reason why.

TOP TELEPHONE MEN STARTED AT BOTTOM

Eighteen Company Presidents Began In Humble Jobs And Worked Up

Of the eighteen presidents of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the associated telephone companies which make up the Bell Telephone System, not one started his telephone career with an initial salary of as much as $1,000 a year.

All of them grew up in the Bell System, and their starting salaries ran all the way from $144 to $988 yearly. Most of them for their first year of service received $660 or less, and only three exceeded $700 a year. The first salary of Walter S. Gifford, now president of the A. T. & T. Co., was at the rate of $10 a week.

The first jobs of these presidents of Bell System companies varied greatly. Two of them began as night operators, and four, including Walter S. Gifford, started as clerks. Several began their service in the construction or plant departments, one as a repairman, another as a cable splicer's helper, and a third as a wireman.

The president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., began as a night operator at Plattsmouth, Nebr. The new head of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, with headquarters in St. Louis, started as a night operator at Springfield, Mass. The man who leads the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company began as a clerk in Boston, while Walter S. Gifford, head of the system, started in the payroll department of the Western Electric Company in Chicago.

The present presidents of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Michigan Bell Telephone Company began as stenographers. The head of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company was a collector. Other first jobs included that of general canvassing agent, salesman, special inspector, service inspector, traffic student and draftsman.

The president of the New York Telephone Company began as a wireman in Philadelphia, and the leader of the Indiana Bell Telephone Company was a traffic student at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1906.

All these Bell telephone company presidents began with humble jobs, most of them paying about $10 or $12 a week, while one of them was glad to secure an initial salary of $12 a month. The oldest of the Bell telephone company presidents in time of actual service began work in 1894 and the youngest in 1911.

WALTER JACKSON
In the Circuit Court for Calvert County
Equit No. 1105

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff, Julia Jackson, from Walter Jackson, and custody of infant born as a result of said marriage.

The bill recites that the parties were married on the 12th day of June, 1928, in New York city, State of New York, by a religious ceremony; that the plaintiff has been a resident of Calvert county State of Maryland, more than two years prior hereto; that one child, a minor, was born as a result of said marriage; that the said abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than three years, was the final and deliberate act of the defendant and there is no hope of reconciliation between the parties to this cause.

That the defendant is now a non-resident of the State of Maryland and was last heard of in the city of New York, State of New York.

It is thereupon ordered by the Circuit Court for Calvert county this 21st day of October, 1937, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Calvert county once in each of four successive weeks on or before the 29th day of November, in the year 1937, give notice to the said absent defendant, Walter Jackson, of the object and substance of the Bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of December, in the year 1937, to show cause, if any, why said decree should not be passed as prayed.
