The Grand Jury completed its work of investigation on Thursday and submitted the following report:

To the Circuit Court for Calvert county, Maryland.

We, the Grand Jurors for the Circuit Court for Calvert county, at the May Term 1938, having completed our work of investigation, beg leave to submit the following report:

We have examined 23 witnesses, made four presentments and found four true bills. We have had four of the constables of the county before us and they report no violations of the law other than those we have investigated. We urge our law enforcing officers to be particularly vigilant in regard to offenses and violations under the motor vehicle law, viz: reckless driving, operating motor vehicles under the influence of liquor, and to enforce as far as possible the parking regulations in Prince Frederick and other towns in the county particularly on Saturdays and Sundays.

We have examined the county jail and find it unsanitary. The conditions there are so deplorable, that we think the only solution to the situation is that a new jail be built. We wish to go on record as unanimously recommending a new and modern jail for Calvert county.

We thank the Court, the officers and the attendants for their courtesy and assistance, and now ask to be relieved from further service, subject to the call of the Court.

Birthday Celebration.

Sergeant Lemos and family, of Quantico, Va., and a friend, Sergeant Becker, of Boston, spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Lemons' mother, Mrs. Gertrude V. Buckmaster, at Owens, and on Sunday a delightful party was arranged, as it was Mrs. Lemons' birthday, which this year coincided with Mother's Day. The dining-room was decorated with orange blossoms and roses, and the table was set with a lovely birthday cake and other refreshments and lighted with candles. When Mrs. Lemons walked into the dining-room the assembled company sang "Happy Birthday to You," and they wished her many many happy ones. There were present Mr. Isaac Buckmaster and family and sister Rosalyn and a host of friends.

What The Auxiliary Does for the Hospital.

"The Hospital Card Party was held just a few weeks ago, and now here is another Hospital benefit—the May Ball. Where does all the money go?"

We have often heard that question. May we answer with a few statistics:

The Auxiliary is one division of this business, assisting with maintenance expenses. The Auxiliary supplies all the bed linens and blankets, and pays for the repairs and mending of the same after wear and tear in the laundry.

From October, 1936, to date, a year and a half, new linens have amounted to $142.22. This includes sheets, pillow cases, bed spreads, towels, wash cloths and bureau covers.

New blankets costing $82.00 have been purchased within that time. Bedside mats and bedpans amounted to $33.00 over the same period. Household needs also were taken care of—a broiler, meat platters, water pitchers, as well as pest exterminators.

In the spring of 1937 a report was made at an Auxiliary meeting concerning the bad state of the window blinds across the entire front of the Hospital. After a thorough investigation of comparative prices, it was decided to purchase Venetian blinds. The bill amounted to $329.00, of which the Auxiliary paid half, and at the same time bought black blinds for the operating room.

During the summer of 1937 the need of a more adequate hot water supply was called to the attention of the Auxiliary. In October 1937 a 60-gallon water tank with a coal-burning water heater was installed at a cost of $62.0.

In January of this year the Auxiliary turned over to Dr. I. N. King, superintendent, $208.54 for a new sterilizer. Of this $102.50 was the Hospital's share of the May Ball returns; $50.04 came from the 3each card party and dance; $50 came from the Fire Department card party.

The Auxiliary has on its roll this year 35 members, paying $1.00 a year membership fee. You see the necessity of card parties, May balls and raffles. The rest of the people of Calvert county must be given a chance to do their share for their Hospital.

Show your community spirit by attending the May Ball, given for the benefit of the Hospital on Saturday, May 14th, at Seaside Park, beginning at 8 P. M.

Outstanding Concert

The concert by the choir of First Methodist Episcopal Church, Baltimore, under the direction of Dr. Earl Evans, in the Town Hall, Prince Frederick, was attended by a large number of persons, and in a manner of speaking, with no thought of our present drought, was like a refreshing drink of water in a thirsty land. In other words, it was a fine musical treat, and the audience enjoyed it to the utmost. Dr. Evans fully demonstrated his ability as a director of first rank, the choir of twenty-eight voices giving instant response to his directing, with the result that the difficult program was magnificently interpreted. The choir was especially effective in the number, "Ho, Every One That Thirsteth," by MacFarlane, and the beautiful Negro spiritual, "Chilian Come On Home," Cain. The soloists were Elizabeth Evans, soprano, A. Roy Williams, tenor, and Cranston Wrightson, baritone. In the second half of the program they were each heard in solos, a trio and a duet by the male soloists. Dr. S. Paul Schilling, pastor of Calvert Circuit Methodist Episcopal Church, introduced the director and choir. The proceeds went to the parsonage fund.

Death of Mr. Wilson, 87-ith.

Mr. Wilson Smith died suddenly at his home at Stookley Sunday afternoon last. The deceased lived alone. He was found dead sitting in a rocking chair in his home on Monday morning about 10.15 o'clock by his niece, Mrs. Chester Stinnett, who lives across the road, and who had gone to the Smith home to make a call. Dr. Page C. Jett, who was summoned, examined the body, and stated that death was due to a heart attack, which must have occurred the previous afternoon. He had suffered with a heart malady for about a year past.

Mr. Smith was the husband of the late Mrs. Sallie Smith, and was aged 74 years. He was a son of the late Maxson Smith. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Buckmaster, of Chesapeake Beach; a half sister, Mrs. Enoch Wood, and a half brother, Enos Stinnett, of Stookley.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at Asbury M. E. Church, Rev. Dr. S. Paul Schilling conducting the service.

The deceased is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. George Dawkins and Mrs. Roland Duff, of Baltimore, and Miss Angela Dixon, of Olivet; two sons, Joseph Dixon and Franklin Dixon, of Baltimore; three sisters, Mrs. Chas. Dixon, of Pine Point, Elliott Dixon, of Solomons, and Webster and Walter Dixon, of Dowell.

Effective Remedy for Blue Mold.

A practical, inexpensive and effective method of control for blue mold in tobacco plantbeds by the use of paradichlorobenzene has been worked out this season at the Pee Dee Experiment Station at Florence, announces Dr. H. P. Cooper, director of the South Carolina Experiment Station, of which the Pee Dee Station is a branch.

Gas fumes liberated by paradichlorobenzene (naradale) when applied on boards in the tobacco beds, and the beds covered with ordinary plantbed covers doubled one time, have checked the blue mold fungus within 48 to 80 hours, Dr. Cooper reports. Since excess applications do not seem to injure the plants or retard growth, the remedy may be called fool-proof and therefore entirely safe for popular use.

Two points in favor of the paradichlorobenzene (naradale) when applied on boards in the tobacco beds, and the beds covered with ordinary plantbed covers doubled one time, have checked the blue mold fungus within 48 to 80 hours, Dr. Cooper reports. Since excess applications do not seem to injure the plants or retard growth, the remedy may be called fool-proof and therefore entirely safe for popular use.

Two points in favor of the paradichlorobenzene (naradale) treatment are: (1) that it is not necessary to apply paradale until after the appearance of the blue mold in the beds, and (2) that paradale is also an insecticide which controls insects of the plantbed, especially the flea beetle, one of the worst tobacco plant enemies.
