Henderson—Simmons.

A very quiet but interesting wedding took place Saturday, June 18, at 4 p. m., when Miss Eileen Virginia Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Simmons, of Prince Frederick, became the bride of Mr. Ralph Leonard Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reagan L. Henderson, of Riverdale, Md., and Miami, Florida. The wedding took place in the Francis Asbury M. E. Church South, and the ceremony was performed by Dr. Edgar C. Berry, Presiding Elder of the District.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white mousseline de soie over taffeta, fashioned with a full skirt, short puffed sleeves and a very high neck line. Her picture hat was of starched lace and she carried a bouquet of mixed garden flowers.

Miss Maxine Smith, of Washington, a close college friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pastel blue frock of organza, with a picture hat to match and white accessories. Her bouquet was garden flowers also. The best man was Mr. Arthur Durech, of Washington.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Nordecai Ezekiel, of Bethesda, Md. Upon their return from a wedding trip through the South, where they will visit Mr. Henderson's parents, they will make their home at 5611 Georgia Ave.

The bride is a graduate of Wilson Teachers' College and holds a B. S. degree in education. She has been a member of the faculty of Woodside School for the past two years. Mr. Henderson is a graduate of George Washington University and holds an A. B. degree. He has been accepted into the medical school of this University, where he will study medicine He is employed at the Library of Congress

Md. Farmers Among Leaders in Building Up Soil.

The Maryland farmers are taking the lead in building up their soil fertility under the Agricultural Conservation is indicated by the fact that this State stood third in filling of conserving crops in 1937, according to Paul E. Nystrom, state supervisor for the AAA. In that year the quantity of lime oxides applied per acre of cropped land in Maryland was exceeded in only two other states.

Mr. Nystrom points out that liming was only one of several soil building practices that were encouraged by the conservation program.

The conservation program is an organized, national effort to solve the problem of conserving soil fertility and the payments to farmers which it provids assist them in carrying out the practices designed to save and build up their soils.

More than 18,000 farmers in Maryland participated in the program in 1937 and it is indicated that the number will be considerably largge in the 1938 program,

Legion Auxiliary Meeting.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, Calvert Unity No. 85, American Legion, held its meeting on June 30th, at 7.30 p. m., at the home of the Chairman, Mrs. Preston Lore, Solomons. The meeting, which was opened with a prayer, was very well attend by a large number of members.

During the business session there were several important problems discussed. One of these being our State Convention, which will be held in Baltimore August 17th to 20th, inclusive. We are planning to send two delegates to represent our Auxiliary at this convention. Further details will be published later.

The program for the afternoon on "Fidac" was splendidly arranged and most interesting. Following is an explanation of "Fidac" and the work it is really doing:

"Fidac is the only world organization of the allied veteran in existence. The nation's which have membership in Fidac are the United States, Great Britan, France, Belgium, Italy, Yugoslavia, Poland, Rumania, Portugal, Czechslovakia and Greece. The organization was officially created at a conference on November 29, 1920, for the following purposes:

To draw ever closer the links which bound the Allied and associated ex-service men during the war of 1914-18, fought in common for a common cause; to keep reverently the memory of the dead; to work for peace; to defend the rights of ex-service men and their dependents as well those who were victims of the war; to make known the program, the life and work of its member associations; to recall the sacrifices and efforts of the Fidac countries during the war; to review with impartiality the great problems to be solved by the different countries, especially by the countries affiliated with the Fidac; to inform ex-service men how to become better acquainted with one another, so that they may better understand one another, and to instruct the younger generation in this spirit."

Permanet headquarters were established and are still maintained in Paris. The annual meeting, which is called the congress, assembles in the different member nations. It convened in the United States at New Orleans in 1922 and in Washington in 1930.

In our own country the American Legion, as the representative of Fidac, conducts annually a competition for three medals—one given to a University, one to a college and one either to a University or a college. The awards are made on the basis of achievement.

The American Legion Auxiliary conducts each year a nation-wide contest among high school students. These contests are designed to give the youth of America an understanding of the aims and ideals of the American Legion and Fidac.

In accordance with the principal aim of Fidac—the preservation of world peace—let every Legionnaire and Auxiliary help to make the Legion more active, more helpful and more powerful in Fidac. That is our aim and hope. Yours is the opportunity!

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Percy G. Bowen,
Publicity Chairman.

Womans Walked to Woman.

Mrs. Benson Hutchins, of Adelina, Calvert county, will receive a reward that was watted into her hands by the northwest breeze that blew at Adelina on Thursday of last week.

About 3 o'clock that afternoon a chain of white balloons about 3 feet each in diameter with an object suspended beneath them, appeared overhead in that section, causing considerable spontaneous among local residents concerning its nature and purpose.

The puzzling objects descended near the home of Mrs. Rae Hutchins, and were retrieved by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bezaco Hutchins, who saw them nearing the ground. She found that the balloons had attached to them an oblong box of about one cubic foot in total dimensions, suspended by numerous rubber bands. There were two balloons inflated with hydrogen gas and two others which had burst.

Upon examining her discovery Mrs. Hutchins came upon a glass tube, inside of which was a slip of paper with a message telling the finder that a reward of five dollars could be obtained at the National Bureau of Standards in Washington, D. C., for the return of the box, which apparently contained apparatus designed to register cosmic ray bombardment. Cosmic rays are believed to emanate from the sun and to strike the earth in varying intensities in different localities.

Struck and Killed by Car.

Avon Watkins, colored, of Dunkirk while walking along the highway about 9 o'clock on Sund y afternoon last in this community, was struck by a car driven by George S. Milner, colored, of Washington, and instantly killed. According to a companion of Watkins and others present at the scene of the accident, including the driver of the car, Watkins was intoxica ed and suddenly lurched in front of the car when it was but a short distance from him. The accident occurred about 4 o'clock. Justice Arthur R. King, acting coroner, summoned a jury of inquest, and named William C. Somervell as foreman After hearing the evidence, the jury rendered a verdict that Watkins came to his death through his own negligence.

Death of Miss Harriet R. Leason.

Miss Harriet Rebecca Leason died on Friday afternoon of last week at her home at Solomon's. She had been in failing health for a long while past. Miss Leason was very well known in this county, and related to many of leading Calvert families. The last member of her immediate family, she was a daughter of the late Rev. James Leason and Mary Magro er Leason, and was a aged 80 years. She is survived by a large family connection in this county.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at Christ Protestant Episcopal Church. Rev. H. Kearney Jones and Rev. Harry L. Paff conducted the service.
