CHESTERTOWN, MD.,

Saturday Morning, January 4, 1868.

1868.

Again have we entered upon a New Year. With new hopes, fresh energies, and much thankfulness for past blessings, may we all have entered upon this year with a determination to do our duty to Him who rules the destinies of men, and our fellows. Turning back to the beginning of the year just closed, we find the past twelve months have been abundant in much that gives cause for congratulation. Neither war, pestilence or famine have visited us with their scourge. The political results of the past year also give cause for thankfulness. The national executive, relying upon the just judgment of his people, has successfully resisted, through him, an attack upon the integrity of the government. In our own State, a new bond, for the undisturbed enjoyment of life and liberty, has been given to its people. With all these facts in view, may we not truly enter, upon a new year with renewed hope for continued blessings. As in the years past, so during the present year it shall be our earnest indeavor to make the Transcript a welcome visitor to the family fireside; and that we may more effectually preform this duty, we ask the active aid and support of our many friends. We desire to make our paper especially a county paper, and in order to do this, local correspondence, detailing events of general interest, are absolutely necessary.

We hope our friends in the several districts of the county will remember us in an occasioned correspondence, remembering also that the same things which are matters of interest in neighborhoods, will be equally so to the other districts of the county.

We have been pleased to receive a communication from our friend Worton, upon the subject of a railroad communication for Worton Creek, which will be found upon our first page. We forgive him of those hundred pound shot, in the way of "hill-sides, gullies, mill-pond and creeks," which he levels at the Directors of the Kent road, in consideration of the interest which we know he takes in the railroad enterprises of our county. Truly glad are we to learn that, the subject of a railroad for Worten, has, already, been so actively discussed. As our correspondent has opened the question of route, we may be pardoned for one or two suggestions.—The advantages of connection at or near Chestertown seem to us immeasurably greater. Assuming that the Kent road will be built, and which we have never doubted, a connection from Worton Creek at Duyer's would only open up two and a half miles of country, and give an outlet from Worton Creek northward, it is not probable that when the Kent road is completed to the Bay, that freight of any consequence, North of Duyer's would be diverted by way of Worton Creek. Should the Worton road be located to Chestertown, the same outlet, northward, would be attained, although a trifle circuitous, and Worton Creek would have poured into her bottoms, the trafic of six miles of road, and connection with her county seat. The business, with the present limited facilities, between Chestertown and Worton Creek, is, already, considerable; and as it is probable that the Worton road would be built much sooner than the lower portion of the Kent road, the travel and trafic by way of Chestertown to Worton would become establish.

We think our suggestion not altogether without reason, and give it for what it is worth.

STOLEN.—A number of articles were stolen from a box sent to the Editor of this paper last week, from Philadelphia, by Adam's Express to Smyrna Station and thence by Spruance's Express to Chestertown. We give publicity to it, as a warning to the community. Among the articles taken was a Stereotyped Calendar.

RECEIVED.—A copy of Vick's Illustrated Catalogue and Floral Guide. This catalogue may be obtained by writing to James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., and enclosing ten cents.

THE ENTERTAINMENT.—For the benefit of the Poor by the Chester Minstrel Troupe, on Wednesday evening last, was very creditable to the performers, considering the very limited time they were preparing for it. The amount realized, however, was small, as we learn, barely covering expenses.

Maryland Legislature.

In pursuance of the provisions of the new constitution of Maryland the General Assembly met at Annapolis Wednesday. There was a very full attendance of members in each branch—22 in the Senate 76 in the House. In the Senate the Hon. Barnes Compton was made temporary president. After the Senators present were duly qualified an adjournment took place until Thursday.

In the House Mr. John S. Biddison, of Baltimore county, was made temporary chairman. No business was transacted, and the House adjourned until Thursday.

The Maryland Legislature--List of Names of the Members.

The subjoined full list of the names of the members elect to each house will be of interest to many persons. They were all elected as democratic conservatives The Senate is composed of twenty-five and the House of eighty-six members. A constitutional majority of the Senate, therefore, is thirteen and of the House forty-four:

THE SENATE.

Allegany—Alfred Spates.
Anne Arundel—Dr. Eli J. Henkle.
Baltimore City—Wm. Kimmel, Henry Snyder and Isaac M. Denson.
Baltimore County—James C. Clarke.
Calvert—Dr. John C. Harker.
Caroline—Daniel Fields.
Carroll—Nathan Browne.
Cecil—John M. Miller.
Charles—Barnes Compton.
Dorchester—Lr. W. A. Smith.
Frederick—Joshua Biggs.
Harford—Colonel John C. Walsh.
Howard—John Lee Carroll.
Kent—William Welch.
Montgomery—Dr. Nicholas Brewer.
Prince George's—Maj. John F. Lee.
Queen Anne's—James T. Earle.
Somerset—Dr. C H. Hyland.
St. Mary's—G. Fred. Maddox.
Talbot—Ormond Hammond.
Washington—James H. Grove.
Worcester—Col. Thomas P. Parker.
Wicomico—Lemuel Malone.

The constitution provides that immediately after the Senate shall have convened, the Senators shall be divided by lot, into two classes, as nearly equal in number as may be. Senators of the first class go out of office at the expiration of two years, and Senators shall be elected on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, for the term of four years, to supply their places; so that, after the first election, one-half of the Senators may be chosen every second year. In case the number of Senators be hereafter increased, such classification of the additional Senators shall be made as to preserve, as nearly as may be, an equal number in each class.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1, 1868.

The receptions incident to New Year's day all took place to-day as usual, the only variation from preceding years being that a great number of persons received visitors, and that there was not so great a throng of the people at the Executive Mansion as is usual. The latter result was attributed to the fact that the weather this forenoon, and until after 12 o'clock, was of the most unpleasant description, a drizzling rain falling all day, and the streets and street crossings being in a wretched condition.

The usual preparations had been made at the Executive Mansion, visitors entering by the main door, and, after paying their respects to the President, passing out over a platform erected from one of the windows of the east room to the pavement. The full Marine Band was, as usual, present in uniform.

The visitors commenced to arrive at 11 o'clock and among the first to call was Senator Johnson, of Maryland. The President occupied his accustomed position in the blue room, where he was attended by the marshal of this District, and by the members of his staff. He was attired in a full suit of black, and looked as well as his best friends could desire. To his right were his daughters, Mrs. Stover and Mrs. Patterson, who were nearly attired in dresses of heavy black silk, wearing white lace collars, with hair crimped and adorned each with a beautiful white japonica and a spray of mignonette

The presentations to the President were made by Marshal Gooding, and to the ladies by Brigadier General Michler. The first to arrive were the Cabinet officers, officers and members of the foreign legations, Judges of the Supreme Court and members of Congress. Many of these gentlemen were accompanied by ladies who were appareled in the most gorgeous manner. One of the noticeable features was the immense trails now worn to the dresses, some of them dragging upon the floor for a half a yard. The representatives of foreign governments all presented themselves in court dress, and therefore presented a peculiar appearance to republican eyes. The delegations were all fully represented, nearly every member of the legations now in the city being present. Prominent among them, and among the most observed were Blacque Bey, the Turkish minister, and Mr. Xenophan Baltazzi, secretary of the legation It was the first time that a representative of the Ottoman empire was at a presidential reception.

Presidential Signs in the South.

Our Southern exchanges show that considerable activity on the part of the politicians in connection with the presidential contest is already manifested. The Chase movement is assuming shape among the radicals in various parts of the South, and very little is said concerning General Grant. The New Orleans correspondent of the Philadelphia Post, (radical,) says he has traveled in nearly all the Southern States within the past two months, and has found but one voice among the republicans, and that was unmistakably for Chase for President; and to make their declaration good, they have commenced an organized movement, extending all over the South. In New Orleans, and in fact throughout Louisiana, the Chase movement is assuming formidable proportions. This correspondent also says that Grant has no strength as a presidential candidate in New Orleans. The loyal leagues are working for Chase everywhere, and radical politicians from the North are now in many of the States effecting Chase organizations.—New York World.

Protestant Episcopal Church.

The following statistics of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States for the year ending November, 1, 1867, have been compiled from the latest reports: Dioceses 34; bishops, 44; priests and deacons; 2,556; whole number of clergy, 2,600; parishes, 2,370; ordinations, 153; candidates for holy orders, 255; membership, 1,100,000; communicants, 200,000; Sunday School teachers, 19,897; Sunday School scholars, 180,152; baptisms, 34,436; confirmations, 19,616; marriages, 10,049; burials, 15,843; contributions, $3,859,269,02.

General Breckinridge.

The Rev. Robert J. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, it is announced, has addressed a letter to President Johnson, asking pardon for Gen. John C. Breckinridge, who is now in Paris, in very reduced circumstances. He urges that Gen. Breckinridge was mistaken in his political views, but that his high character as a man entitles him to Executive clemency.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.—Fred. O. Prince of Boston, Secretary of the National Democratic Committee, has issued an official call for the meeting of said committee, to be held in Washington on the 22d of February, to name the time and place for holding the next Democratic National Convention.

Maryland and Virginia State Line.

The commissioners appointed by the Legislatures of the two States have failed to settle the long-pending boundary question. The Snow Hill Shield says:

The Virginia commissioners claim the line to run from James's Island light to Smith's Point, while the Maryland commissioners insist that the waters of the Chespeake should be divided between the two States by the shortest and most direct line from the southwestern point of Somerset county, near Cedar Straights, to Smith's Point The margin of say three miles and five-eights on the Eastern Shore side, verging to the same point at the Potomac, could not be reconciled. Just here perhaps the most valuable waters in the oyster interests of the bay are to be found, and both States are, and perhaps for an indefinite length of time have enjoyed, the benefit, each disputing the other's right.

Thus failing to come to an agreement as to a line across the Chesapeake, the commissioners will report to their respective Legislatures and await their action in the premises. In the mean time we suppos the inhabitants of both States near said waters will continue their accustomed use and ben[illegible]

DIED.

RUSSELL.—Mrs. ELIZABETH RUSSELL beloved wife of John Russell departed this life, in peace, on Saturday Dec. 28th 1867, at quarter past one o'clock, P. M., aged 57 years and 3 months.

A Virtuous woman, her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, she will do him good and not evil all the days of her life. She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and her tongue is the law of kindness. She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her.

A woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.—Proverbs, part, 31 ch.

Farmers, Mechanics, Inventors, Engineers, Chemists, Manufacturers, people in every profession of life, will find the Scientific American to be of great value in their respective callings. Its counsels and suggestions will save them Hundreds of Dollars annually, besides affording them a continual source of knowledge, the value of which is beyond pecuniary estimate.—All patents granted, with the claims, published weekly.

Every Public or Private library should have the work bound and preserved for reference.

The yearly numbers of the Scientific American make a splendid volume of nearly one thousand qarto pages, equivalent to nearly four thousand ordinary book pages. A New Volume commences January 1, 1868. Published weekly.—Terms: One Year, $3; Half-Year, $1 50; Clubs of Ten Copies for One Year, $25; Specimen Copies sent gratis.

THE Maryland Educational Journal,

A SCHOOL and FAMILY MONTHLY.

Published by E. S. ZEVELY, Baltimore, Md.

DEVOTED to Education in its widest sense—mentally, morally, physically, at home and in the school-room—which will make it a readable journal for all.

This Journal is practical in purpose, substantial in matter, attractive in style. And although from its title it may be supposed that its pages are wholly devoted to school matters, such will not be the case hereafter. The subject of Education is a much broader one than many imagine, and the idea of the publisher of this Journal, as announced in the outset, is to make it very comprehensive.—The flashy publications of the day, filled with trashy tales, are devoted to Education, and that of a very useless if not injurious character. Not so with this Journal.

We solicit the interest and co-operation of all. Some one in every neighborhood and town wanted to secure subscribers. Liberal cash premiums paid to agents,

☞ With the new year, new arrangements will be announced. See January issue.
