Our Senator.

Since the days of military arrests our town has not been so muth startled as on Friday night of last week, by the arrival, about two o'clock, of the ice breaker Chesapeake at our wharf, having on board the Legislative committee to inform Mr. Vickers of his election. Her peaceful mission however, soon became known, and the committee consisting of Senators Maddox and Welch and Messrs. Smith, Hubbard and Vandiver of the House, at once proceeded to Mr. Vickers' residence and officially informed him of his election, to which Gen. Vickers briefly responded, accepting the position. In the course of an hour or two the committee accompanied by the Senator were again on board the Chesapeake, reaching Baltimore about ten o'clock Saturday morning.

Mayor Banks, Sheriff Davis, John T. Ford, Esq., and others of Baltimore city, with the committee, at once repaired, with Mr. Vickers to the office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, where they were met by John W. Garrett, Esq., president of the railroad company, who promptly furnished a special car for the use of the party. On reaching Washington it was found that the credentials of the new Senator had not reached that city from Annapolis.

On Monday, his credentials having arrived, Mr. Vickers was duly sworn in, and the proceedings in the case are thus escribed by a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun:

General Vickers, the new Senator from Maryland, was punctually on hand this morning, and, before the opening of the Senate, was presented by Mr. McCreery, of Kentucky, to Messrs. Fessenden, Wilson, Frelinghuysen and others, who received him most cordially. Mr. Johnson presented the credentials of Mr. Vickers as soon as the reception of petitions and memorials had been concluded, and, with Mr. Vickers on his arm, had advanced half way to the President's desk, where the oath was to be administered, when Mr. Sumner interjected a motion to refer the credentials, and went on to deliver himself of a speech, to prove that Maryland had not a republican form of government. In the midst of his rhapsody he seemed to be conscious that he was only exposing himself to ridicule, and remarked with an injured air that it was not the first time he had stood alone in the defence of the right.

Mr. Nye then trotted out the letter of Judge Carmichael, and depicted in graphic terms the wrongs of the "loyal men of Maryland." After a few sensible remarks from Mr. Conness, exposing the folly of Mr. Sumner's argument, and a dignified intimation to Mr. Nye from Mr. Johnson that the representatives of Maryland in Congress were amply competent to protect her interests, Mr. Sumner asked leave to withdraw his resolution, stating that he had accomplished his object, though what his object was, and how he had accomplished it, he did not vouchsafe to say.

Mr. Vickers, accompanied by Mr. Johnson, then came forward to the desk and took the oath, and thereupon became a Senator of the United States and entitled to an equal share in all the privileges of that illustrious body. He selected the vacant seat by Mr. Van Winkle, of West Virginia, was soon comfortably ensconced, and was immediately beset by the pages for his autograph.

In connection with this case it may be stated that Mr. Creswell and Mr. John L. Thomas, Jr., and Mr. Francis Thomas, were all very active in endeavoring to induce radical Senators to oppose Mr. Vickers, and the former publicaly boasted this morning that he would not be admitted. Gen. Schenck thought it incumbent also that he should have a finger in the pie, and sent over to the Senate this morning a statement that he, while in command in Maryland, had intended to arrest General Vickers on account of his holding intercourse with his son in the rebel army.—For reasons best known to themselves, however, none of the radical Senators saw fit to use this gratuitous and mendacious statement.

We add the speeches made on the occasion, as reported in the Baltimore Gazettee. Mr. Maddox said:

General Vickers—We have been appointed a committee to inform you of your election by the Legislature of the State of Maryland to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate, occasioned by the fact that the Hon. P. F. Thomas was not permitted to take the seat assigned him by the State of Maryland in that body.

This is an honor of which you may well be proud; it is an honor that your children and your children's children may, in days to come, look back to with pleasure and pride. This act upon the part of the Legislature of your State bids us hope for better times. The principles which induced men of a former age, when their country was in danger, to call Cincinnatus from the plow to take the helm of State, is drawing upon us. In this crisis in our National affairs, when danger surrounds us on all sides, there is required in the National Capital a man to speak for this, our State, to protect and save her harmless; the eyes of all were turned on you, not because you sought the position, but because of the virtue and integrity of your private life, and because of your pure statesmanship.

The whole country is looking to Maryland in this eventful crisis of our history to help to stay the hand of Radicalism which is spreading consternation around us; by her sound discretion, but determined maintenance of her rights you, as one of her representatives in the Senate of the United States, may assist in staying the excitement of feeling, avert the dangers which encompass our country and maintain the pure principles of the Constitution.

Whilst Maryland will keep ever a watchful eye on your course, she will do so to be prouder every day of her distinguished son. Though political contentions may strike heavy blow at our interests, and though danger may surround us, the State, as far as its Senator is concerned, has no fears; she will, well knowing his virtues, put into his charge her true interest. May God speed you in the performance of the duty of that task, though unsought for by you, has been willingly accepted but for the good of the State.

Mr. Maddox was followed by Mr. Smith on the part of the House Committee, who spoke as follows:

General—It is now my honor on behalf of the House committee to speak formally to the subject of your election to the United States Senate. It is another and rare instance in these latter days of the office seek the man, and even those of the Legislsture who did not vote for you are satisfied at your election. They all were your admirers and appreciate your virtues and moral courage. Were it proper here, I could pay you no higher compliment than to repeat the compliments paid you during the balloting by those who did not know you personally, and I need hardly say that your election to the high honor of the United States Senate for Maryland from my native county is one of the happiest events to me. I am sure the State will be as much gratified at your course in the Senate, as we all feel at your election.

Mr. Vickers then replied:

Gentlemen of the Committee—I am deeply sensible of the high honor the Legislature of my State has conferred upon me, and thank you for the complimentary terms in which you have communicated the joint action of the Senate and House of Delegates of Maryland. And whilst I am also sensible that you have attributed greater merit and ability than I possess, I nevertheless assure you that I shall not have one code of morals for private life and another for public station, but shall be governed in my official conduct by the conscientousness which I always endeavored to make the rule of my private life.

I cannot but regret that the Hon. P. F. Thomas has not been accepted by the Senate of the United States as a representative of the State of Maryland, knowing as I do that his commanding abilities and extensive influence would have added lustre to the proceedings of that grave and honorable body.

If in the discharge of my public duties I shall be able to contribute to the establishment of the broken harmony between all the States of the Union and the speedy binding them together in happy fraternal relations, at the same time vigilantly guarding the honor, the rights and the sovereignty of my own State, and faithfully sustaining the Constitution of our country, which I have always revered, it will be to me the highest duty and noblest aim of my public career.

Thus, for the third time, has our county had the honor of furnishing a representative in the Senate of the United States.

KENT COUNTY RAIL ROAD.—The Board of Directors of this road met again on Thursday, several bids for the contract were examined, and favorably considered. The road will in a week or two at most, be under contract, and under such terms as will enable the directors to complete its entire length, within twelve months.

IT is a singular fact, that a republican Senate and House of Representatives, should be willing that the trial of Jefferson Davis, who they pronounce a traitor to his country, should be suspended for the trial of Mr Johnson, the President of the United States, and elected by their own votes. It should be a more singular fact, though not improbable, if this same "Traitor" should never be brought to trial and the President should be convicted, by the party who elected him, of high crimes and misdemeanors. It should be a third singular thing if upon the simple removal of the President, without disqualifying him to hold office, he should be again placed in that position by the people of the States. The first is a fact, the next twelve months may place the second and third propositions on the record of our history.

Public School Bill.

The Public School bill which has been reported to the General Assembly, and which is now under discussion, while making some important changes, preserves, as we supposed, the general features of the present law. The State Board of Education is preserved, but constituted entirely different from the present board.

The supervision of the Schools is as follows:

CHAPTER I.

Sec. 1. The care and supervision of public education shall be entrusted to a State Board of Education, to be composed of a State Superintendent of Public Education, the President of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, and the principal of the Maryland State Normal School.

Sec 2. Educational matters, specially affecting a particular county, shall be under the control of a board of county school commissioners, with a county Superintendent ex officio as their president and treasurer.

Sec. 3. And a board of school district trustees, composed of three persons, shall be the guardian of the educational interests of each school-house district.

CHAPTER II.

Sec. 1. The State superintendent shall be appointed by the Governor of the State of Maryland, subject to the confirmation of the Senate; his term of office shall commence on the 1st day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy——, and continue for four years thereafter, when either his successor shall be appointed to serve for a like term, and so on; and it is the intention of this section to effect that the State superintendent shall be appointed about the middle of the gubernatorial term of one Governor, to serve until about the middle of the gubernatorial term of the next succeeding Governor.

Sec. 3. The General Assembly of Maryland shall, on joint ballot, elect a State superintendent, to serve from the date that this act shall go into effect until the said first day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and seventy.

County Superintendent and County School Commissionsrs.

Sec. 12. At the regular meeting of the State Board of Education, in July, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, or within ten days thereafter, and within the same period in ever fourth year thereafter the State Board of Education shall appoint to hold office for four years, from the first day of October in said year, one county superintendent for each county in the State, who shall be a practical teacher.—And for the interim between the expiration of the present session of the Legislature to said first of October, the State Superintendent shall appoint said county superintendents; and said board shall appoint at the same time, to hold office for the same period, county school commissioners for each county, in the proportion of one commissioner for every fifteen schools, or fraction thereof exceeding one-half of that number; and for the interim aforesaid. the said county commissioners shall be appointed by the said State superintendent; and the State Board of Education shall have power to suspend or remove any county superintendent for incompetency, immortality or neglect of duty, and shall also have power to remove any county school commissioner.

Under this arrangement, Kent County would have two School Commissioners.

One of the most important changes is the appointment of School District Trustees, who are to be elected annually by the registered voters of the District, with the following powers.

The Trustees shall have the care and control of all houses and lands connected therewith, intended for school purposes, within the limits of their respective districts, also of the furniture, apparatus and and other property belonging to the district. They shall attend to all necessary repairs, and charge the cost among the incidental expenses of the school, to be paid out of the tax levied upon the assessable property of the district or county, as herein provided for, the trustees shall employ a teacher from among those persons who hold the proper certificate; they shall exercise a general supervision over their respective schools, and visit them frequently and shall cause instruction to be given for ten months in the year.

Salaries.

The salaries of the officers created under and by this act shall be as follows, to wit: The State Superintendent shall receive the annual salary of $3.000; the president of the Maryland State Normal School shall receive $2.500 per year.—The county superintendents shall receive each as follows: The county superintendent in any county having not more than forty schools, $1,000; in any county having not more than seventy schools, $1 200; and in any county having over seventy schools, $1 500.

Teachers Associations, and teachers institutes, are encouraged and enforced by the law, High Schools are a marked feature of the Bill.

Colleges.

The annual donations to St. John's College, Annapolis; Washington College, Chestertown; the Agricultural College, in Prince George's county, and the Baltimore Female College, are continued until otherwise ordered by the General Assembly, subject to the condition that they shall afford tuition in all the branches taught, and use of books free of charge, to one student for every hundred dollars that such college receives from the State; in accordance with which requirements the the further sum of three hundred dollars, in addition to the present donation, shall, on warrant of the comptroller of the State be annually paid, on the first day of April of each year, to the president of the board of trustees of the Baltimore Female College, for the support of said institution.—The above colleges shall report annually to the State superintendent, in such form as may be ordered by the State Board of Education, and comply with all the other requirements of article eighty-four of the code entitled "Schools and of their respective charters."

Colored Population.

Section 1. The total amount of taxes paid for school purposes by the colored people of any county and the city of Baltimore, together with any donation that may be made for the purpose, shall be set aside for maintaining schools for colored children, which schools shall be conducted under the direction of the board of county school commissioners of the city of Baltimore, and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as said board shall prescribe.

Sec. 2. The board of county school commissioners are hereby authorized to extend such encouragement to said schools for colored children as to them shall seem expedient.

The Impeachment Summons to the President.

At four o'clock on Saturday afternoon the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate called at the White House, and delivered to the President the summons of High Court of Impeachment to appear before it on Friday, the 13th instant. The President quietly remarked that it would receive attention, and the sergeant-at arms retired.

The following is a copy of the document:

The United States of America, ss:—The Senate of the United States, sitting as a High Court of impeachment, to Andrew Johnson, greeting:

Whereas the House of Representatives of the United States of America did, on the 4th day of March, exhibit to the Senate articles of impeachment against you, the said Andrew Johnson, in the words following:

[Here follow the articles.]

And demand that you, the said Andrew Johnson, should be put to answer the accusations as set forth in said articles, and that such proceedings, examinations, trials and judgements might be thereupon had as are agreeable to law and justice.

You, the said Andrew Johnson, are therefore hereby summoned to be and appear before the Senate of the United States of America, sitting as a High Court of Impeachment, at their chamber, in the city of Washington, on the 13th day of March, then and there to answer the said articles of impeachment, and then and there abide by, obey and perform such orders, directions and judgments as the Senate of the United States, sitting as aforesaid, shall make in the premises according to the constitution and laws of the United States.

Hereof you are not to fail.

Witness Salmon P. Chase, and presiding officer of said Senate sitting as such High Court of Impeachment, at the city of Washington, this 6th day of March, in the year of our Lord 1868, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-second.

Form of precept to be endorsed on said writ of summons:

The United States of America, ss:—The Senate of the United States, sitting as a High Court of Impeachment, to Geo. T. Brown, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to deliver to, and leave with, Andrew Johnson, if conveniently to be found, or if not, to leave at his usual place of abode, or at his usual place of business in some conspicious place, a true and attested copy of the within writ of summons, together with a like copy of this precept; and in whichsoever way you perform the service, let it be done at least four days before the appearance day mentioned in said writ of summons.

Fail not and make return of this writ of summons and precept, with your proceedings thereon endorsed, on or before the appearance day mentioned in the said writ of summons.

Witness Salmon P. Chase, and presiding officer of the Senate, sitting as aforesaid, at the city of Washington, this sixth day of March, in the year of our Lord 1868, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-second.

A distressing Cough, causes the friends of the suffer almost as much pain as the suffer himself, and should receive immediate attention. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry speedily cures coughs, colds, Influenza, sore throat, &c. It will always relieve consumption, and in many well attested cases it has effected a perfect cure.

THE Republicans have been successful in the State election of New Hampshire.
