"It is said that New York politicians "are rather slippery customers—that they "are not staunch, always, where princi-"ples are concerned, and are capable of "entering into any sort of combinations to "secure the elevation of the men who may "happen to suit them best or the success "of some selfish scheme." These words were contained in an editorial article which appeared in the GAZETTE about a fortnight ago. Since that time the CHASE movement in New York city has given to them singular point and force. A more extraordinary political manœuvre has never been heard of in the history of political parties. Against the misrule of the Radical faction a reaction set in two years ago, which increased steadily, and is to-day growing with startling rapidity. The Democratic party has gained enormously at every point. It has carried the city of Boston and the State of Connecticut. It swept New York by forty thousand majority and it reduced a Radical majority of the same size in Ohio to almost nothing. It has been triumphant in California and in Oregon, and everything indicates that it will, in November next, utterly overwhelm the Radicals in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana. New York and Pennsylvania it can safely count on. On the question of negro suffrage the Radicals have been disastrously beaten everywhere. Even Michigan and Kansas have rejected the doctrine. It is under these circumstances that a large number of New York politicians have deliberately insisted that the Democratic party shall take a Radical and an advocate of negro suffrage as its candidate They present him in the person of Mr. CHASE, who was a member of Mr. LINCOLN'S Cabinet; who devised our oppressive banking system; who has upheld many of the most obnoxious measures of the Radical party; who has lent himself as a Judge of the Supreme Court to the promotion of the lawless and partisan designs of that party; who is now as much responsible for the deplorable situation of the country as any man in it, and who would plunge it into further trouble by placing the white race under the black wherever the negroes may be in the majority. The New York World has been advocating the nomination of Mr. CHASE and we could name scores of the most active and influential politicians in New York city who have been energetically laboring to the same end. At first sight this appeared to be very extraordinary. It is so no longer. Very few of those who were apparently so urgent for Mr. CHASE'S nomination had the remotest idea of seeing him the candidate of the Democratic party. They were playing a little game. They hoped that a strong party would rally around Mr. CHASE in the West and that he would appear in the Convention as a formidable opponent of Mr. PENDLETON. It was supposed that under such circumstances it would be an easy thing to get the friends of both to drop them, and in the names of "peace and harmony" concentrate on some gentleman whom the New York politicians like better. They have made their play and have now dropped Mr. CHASE themselves and are awaiting the effect of their strategy. But the Democratic party was not to be so easily fooled. No portion of it outside of New York declared in favor of Mr. CHASE. That party not only knows the measure of its own power, but it feels that it is going before the country on stronger issues than ever before challenged public attention and patriotic action. It asks the people whether the faction which during three years of profound peace has brought the country into its present state shall still be entrusted with its government—whether the bondholder alone shall be exempt from taxation—whether all the rights of the States shall be insolently trampled on—whether men shall be murdered or exiled by military commissions—whether a military despotism shall any longer oppress millions of the American people—whether several of the Southern States shall be eventually remitted to the rule of the black man and barbarism? These are the questions to which the Democratic party demands answers, and it does not want as its mouthpiece a statesman to whose tongue and lips inquiries like these are strange and new. It proposes to have itself represented by its candidate, and not to be merely the stalking-horse of some discontented Radical aspirant to the Presidency. The great mountain is not going to any MAHOMET.—Baltimore Gazette.

EXCURSION.—The Annual Excursion of the Methodist Protestant Sunday School of Chestertown, will take place next Wednesday. The steamer LAW has been chartered for a trip to Baltimore, where she will remain several hours. Everything in the way of edibles will be provided, and the Kent Cornet Band will furnish music for the occasion. The excursions under the management of this school are always pleasant, and we recommend all who want a day of recreation to avail themselves of the opportunity.

STRAWBERRIES.—Dr. Adams Vannort, of Hanesville, will accept thanks for two liberal specimens of very fine strawberries of his own propagation. New varieties.

Secretary of State.

It is announced in the Easton Star that Gov. Bowie has tendered the position of Secretary of State to Richard C. Hollyday, Esq., of Talbot county, and that Mr. Hollyday has accepted the appointment. Mr. Hollyday was Secretary of State under Governor P. F. Thomas. His experience and superior qualifications for the position make the appointment an excellent one. Mr. Hollyday was a member of the late Constitutional Convention, and has many friends throughout the State.

☞ A change in the foreman of the office, and the consequent delay arising therefrom, has diminished the reading columns of the Transcript this week.

FESTIVAL.—The Ladies of Chester Parish will hold a Festival at the Sunday School Room of the Episcopal Church on the afternoons and evenings of Tuesday and Wednesday, June 23d and 24th. Door open at 2 o'clock on Tuesday and at 5 o'clock on Wednesday. Supper will be provided on each afternoon, together with a supply of refreshments and fancy goods.

The public are invited to attend.

From the Baltimore Daily Commercial.

The Southern Home Journal.

In point of merit this paper is equal—in typography it is far superior—to any of the Northern publications of the same class. It is rapidly growing into popular favor, and bids fair soon to outstrip many of its competitors. When we take into consideration the short time that it has been in existence, the immense circulation which it has already attained is really astonishing. The proprietor deserves the unbounded support of the people of Baltimore for the energy with which he has pushed this enterprise to success in the short space of six months. It is a paper of which Baltimore may justly be proud, and will be pointed to in after years as an instance of the success of Southern enterprises when properly managed. This week's issue contains the first chapter of a new story, entitled the "MASTER OF BEVERLEY: or, The Villainous Plot," by James Hungerford, Esq., author of "The Old Plantation."

From Washington.

JUNE 17.

It is understood that a new indictment, charging conspiracy alone, has been prepared against John H. Surratt, and several witnesses, including St. Marie, were before the grand jury to-day. The prosecution will not be prepared to go on with the case on Monday, and in that event Judge Wylie will certainly admit the accused to bail, unless his colleagues on the bench overrule his action, or Congress enacts a law in the meantime declaring that Surratt shall not be bailed, and neither event is at all improbable, for both this court and this Congress have done things just as strange as this. If Surratt is bailed, Mr. Logan or some one else will construe it into evidence of the disloyalty of the disloyal community sufficient to effect a removal of the seat of government to the Valley of the Mississippi.

[Correspondence from the Balto. Gazette.]

The city is unusually full of leading Democrats from a distance. At quite a gathering last night the approaching New York Convention was the subject of remark. It was generally conceded that some reliable man would be the selected standard bearer of the party, and that he would be placed upon a platform short, plain and to the purpose. As to the course of the Southern delegates, of whom two or three are here, it was thought they would unitedly and cheerfully yield a ready acquiescence in what should appear to be the wishes of the real representation of the Democratic party at the North, but that they should not be regarded or treated as cyphers, but as peers. Another very important matter was discussed—that of the famous two-thirds rule. It was contended that whatever considerations in by gone days might have been urged in its favor, time had demonstrated that its observance had rather distracted than cemented the party. The inevitable tendency of its adoption now would be merely to defeat the will of the majority. A third of the members of the Convention—belonging to the odds and ends of personal cliques under its operation—have the power either to force an objectionable candidate upon the party or to disrupt the organization. Its inauguration in 1844 laid the foundation of the schism between the Northern and Southern wings of the Democratic party, and finally in 1860 led not only to the disruption of the only National party then existing, but, as a necessary consequence, to sectional warfare. There cannot at this day be a single sound reason advanced in favor of its continuance, and in the opinion of wise heads it should be formally abandoned, as soon as the 4th of July Convention assembles. As a substitute it was thought at the gathering referred to a rule preliminarily pledging every member to abide by and support the choice of a majority might answer all profitable purposes.

The Chase Movement.

NEW YORK, June 16.—A Richmond dispatch to the Herald says: A report has been current here that Chief Justice Chase would positively decline a nomination by the democratic party prior to the convention. I am authorized to state that such is not the case. If the democracy shall adopt a platform in accordance with the well-known principles of Mr. Chase, he will serve with the purpose of proclaiming general amnesty, restoring peace, abolishing military rule, and establishing the finances of the country on a firm basis. Mr. Chase is now in accept of communications from leading republicans of the East, North and West, assuring him that if he receives the democratic nomination on a platform embodying universal suffrage, they will heartily co-operate in his election. The people here are determined to support the New York nominee at any and all hazards.

INCOMPARABLE.—Grace's Celebrated Salve is conceded by all to be the best preparation for the cure of cuts, burns, wounds, scalds, sprains, and cutaneous diseases and eruptions generally. In places distant from medical aid it will be found invaluable, and in the nursery it should always be at hand.

Notices of Marriages and Deaths will be inserted without charge, and we look to the friends of the parties to furnish the notices. OBITUARIES will be charged for at the rate of fifty cents a square, of ten lines, to those handing them in, unless otherwise directed.

MARRIED.

At "St. Paul's Church," Kent county, on the 11th inst., by REV. E. H. C. GOODWIN, MR. SOLOMON B. WRIGHT, of Wye Mills, Talbot county, to MISS MARY A. ROBINSON, of Kent county.

Daniel Webster's Prophecy.

The Dayton Ledger makes the following correction of certain facts in relation to Daniel Webster's celebrated prophecy in regard to the abolitionists, which has been so extensively copied into the Democratic press:

If Daniel Webster was not a prophet in fact, he had a singular prescience as to some things. For example, in his speech delivered in Fanuiel Hall, Boston, March, 17, 1850, he said:

"If the infernal fanatics and abolitionists ever to get power in their hands, they will override the Constitution, set the Supreme Court at defiance, change and make laws to suit themselves lay violent hands on those who differ with them in their opinions or dare question their infallibility, and finally bankrupt the country and deluge it with blood.—Exchange.

Accuracy, brethern, is everything if you would make a sure shot. Daniel Webster did not speak "in Fanuel Hall, Boston, March 17, 1850;" nor on the 7th of March of that year, as usually stated in publishing the above extract. On that day he made his great "Compromise" speech for the Union in the Senate of the United States. The sentence above is not to be found in it, and never was uttered as a part of Mr. Webster never spoke it, as part of any public speech. But he did say it in very nearly the same words in a public conversation in Boston, sometime in the spring of 1850; and the prophecy or declaration was published about the same time, in a Boston paper; we believe in the Daily Courier.

More than that, it has turned out to be all true.—Ledger.

A CARD.—I desire to give a brief history of the passage of the law at the January session eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, amending the local laws of Chestertown in relation to town elections. The petition of sundry citizens requesting the amendment was read and referred to the Kent and Queen Anne's delegations. As chairman of that committee, after consultation with all its members, I reported favorably the Bill which afterwards became a law. When the vote was taken on the passage of the Bill, Mr. Boyer was not present, and his name does not appear among those voting for it. The Bill was afterwards amended in the Senate, came back to the House, and was passed as amended, Mr. Boyer voting in the affirmative. In confirmation of the above statement, I refer to the Journal of Proceedings of the House of Delegates, pages 558, 565, 637, 1037, 1257 and 1258.

I raise no question of veracity with Mr. Boyer in reference to the statements in his Card published on the 5th inst. He may have forgotten some of the proceedings above mentioned. Neither do I desire to excuse myself for voting for the law, or to relieve myself of any share of the odium (if any) which has grown out of its passage. The petition was largely signed—there was no counter petition or remonstrance, and I voted for the law supposing it to be what the people of Chestertown desired.
