William Stevens's Lessee
vs
Levi Houston and Danl Young. } Ejectment March Term 1790.
In the trial of this Cause the Counsel for the Defendant offered and read to the Jury the Copy of the release hereto annexed from William Stevens to Samuel Dorman under whom the Defendants claim for the purpose of establishing in the Defendants a title to the Lands in question upon which the Counsel for the Plaintiff moved to the Court to direct the Jury that the said Deed has no operation in Law to pass a title to the Lands in question for want of a sufficient Legal Consideration expressed in the said Deed, but the Court over ruled the objection and determined and directed the Jury accordingly that there is a sufficient legal Consideration expressed in the said Deed, to which opinion and determination of the Court the Plaintiff by his Counsel excepted and prayed the benefit of his exception according to the directions of the Statute in such Cases made and provided —

William Stevens Lessee
Levi Houston and Daniel Young } Ejectment. March Term 1790.
In the Trial of this Cause Counsel for the Defendant offered and read to the Jury the Copy of the release hereto annexed from William Stevens to Samuel Dorman under whom the Defendants claim for the purpose of establishing in the defendants a title to the Lands in question upon which the Counsel for the Plaintiff moved the Court to direct the Jury that the said deed has no operation in Law to pass any estate in the Lands in question to the said Samuel Dorman for want of privity for as much as Catharine Dorman to whom an Estate for life was devised by the Will of Edward Stevens, was then living but the objection was overruled by the Court who determined and directed the Jury accordingly that the said Deed of release was good and sufficient in Law to pass an Estate in fee simple in the Lands in Question to the said Samuel Dorman to which opinion and determination of the Court the Plaintiff by his Counsel excepted and prayed the benefit of his exception according to the directions of the Statute in such Cases made & provided. —
