"Weighed in the Balance and Found Wanting."

Oh! rally round the standard, boys,
Of the gallant, brave and true—
The noble zeal of Seventy-Six
Within your breasts renew;
And give your vote to Seymour,
The "generous, tried and true."

Oh! weigh them in the balance, boys—
The parties do present
A soldier or a statesman,
To rule as President;
To bind the hearts now bleeding
By civil war thus rent.

Let's see what Gen. Grant has done
To earn his laureled wreath;
From Illinois by chance he came,
Rude cabin logs beneath;
And drove six hundred thousand men
Into the jaws of death.

And now these transient "radicals,"
Have placed him at their head,
Because, forsooth, so free he used
His buckshot, lives and lead;
And now as their last policy,
They use these martyred dead.

In statesmanship and loyal deeds
He shines a lesser light,
But drinking gin and toddy punch
He is in fact "all right,"
And give him men and money,
Can drive them on to fight.

But in the cycle of events,
Where is our Seymour brave?
The same in peace and time of war,
He will our country save;
Nor suffer e'er taxation dire
To crown its early grave.

By equalizing rich and poor,
And taxing bonds with gold,
He will our nation's lowering debt
In silken webb enfold;
And laws and Constitution
Judiciously uphold.

Now, boys, on next November third,
When you with gallant Blair
Do place our honored Seymour
In Presidential chair,
This blest and glorious nation
All shall its blessings share.

The Stars and Stripes again shall wave
From Maine to Oregon,
And Florida's remotest bounds
All shout the victory won;
And peace and mutual brotherhood
Shall our blest Union crown.

Nor with the drifting rabble, boys,
Of base unthinking mind,
No longer float as refuse waste
With mass of human kind,
But leave thy place in negro ranks
With signature, "resigned."

Then weigh them in the balance, boys,
Our Seymour just and true,
Who will our country's blighted hopes
Restore as good as new,
With Grant, the mushroom soldier,
Who fought as others do.

Now, choose between them by your vote;
God bless your efforts just,
And crown them with brave Seymour's reign,
That home of truth and trust,
Who govern by "consent" not "force,"
And discord cowers to dust.

Then rally all for Seymour brave,
New York's own chosen son.
Let discord reign in meaner breasts
In ours the victory's won;
Then show your colors in the right
Ere conquest's scarce begun.

Amputation of a Tongue.

There are some operations in surgery that are dangerous on account of hemorrhage from the smaller vessels, and others which are performed by means of strangulating a part, allowing it to die and cast off by law of nature; the latter procedure being necessarily protracted, and often excessively painful. A French surgeon, by name Chassaignac, being aware of these facts, devised an instrument which he called the eraseur, or crusher, to obviate the dimculties alluded to. It is formed of a fine chain, gathered into a loop, and encloses the part to be removed; by turning a screw the chain is gradually tightened until the parts are separated. There is not a cutting edge to this contrivance; the chain is blunt, and in its passage through the structures so turns up or twists the ends of the blood vessels that hemorrhage is prevented. The working of this instrument is truly surprising.

A young lady was unfortunate enough to have been born with a tongue so much too long that it protruded from her mouth from four to five inches; she could neither masticate her food nor articulate a single sentence; life was kept in her for nearly fifteen years, by liquid nourishment sucked through a tube; her appearance was naturally revolting, and upon the slightest exposure to cold or atmospheric changes she was well nigh suffocated by the tremendous enlargement of this congenital hypertrophy. To cut off this tongue with a sharp knife would have been to expose her life to danger from hemorrhage; to twist a string around it, and allow it to die by slow degrees, was a torture to which neither her friends nor herself would submit; yet, with the application of chloroform and the eraseur, it was taken away—the superabundant portion of it—trimmed to a point, and to-day she sings, talks, and eats with perfect control of the remaining portion of the organ. She went to sleep, and awoke with her jaws closed for the first time in her life, and with but the loss of a few drops of blood.

MARRIAGE is like money—seem to want it, and you never get it.

Strawberry Plants AND Dwarf Pears.

I have about 200,000 Strawberry Plants, cultivated expressly for the Plants, which I now offer as low as can be bought of any Nurseryman, embracing the following choice varieties: Wilson's Albany, Agriculturist, Russell's Prolific, Knox's Jucunda or 700, and Golden Seeded.

Also, 5,000 Dwarf Pear Trees, principally Dutchess, budded on the best two year old transplanted Auger's Quince, of my own importation, from the celebrated nursery of Duvesse & Co., at Orleans, France, that I will warrant equal if not superior to any that can be bought and at as low a price.

For the benefit of those wishing to plant Pear Trees, I will state that I have 2,800, of eight varieties, planted in 1863, and selected from the orchard of a gentleman who had thirty-two varities, as the only ones worthy of cultivation. My own experience has induced me to discard all but the following, of which I shall plant about 5,000 myself this fall: Beure Gifford, very early; Beure Easter, very late; Louise Bon de Jersey; Dutchesse de Angoulene.
