NEWSPAPER IMPROVEMENTS.—The Maryland Republican, Annapolis, Geo. Colton & Son, publishers, makes its appearance in an entire new style, and enlarged. Before this change the Republican was one of, if not, the neatest newspaper in the State. It is surely a handsome paper, and does very great credit to its accomplished publishers; and the fact that we think it not quite so neat as before the late change, is owing entirely to our want of taste.

The Centreville Observer, also, comes to us enlarged and improved. The editor has recently supplied himself with a Potter power press, and has very materially improved his paper.

These improvements are gratifying evidences of prosperity, and we wish the publishers the success due their energy and progress.

E. F. Perkins, Esq., Dear Sir: In the last issue of the Transcript there was an announcement that Mr. Bradley of Queen Anne's county, would deliver an address on the commencement day at Washington College. This was a mistake. He was invited by the students to deliver the address before the Mt. Vernon Society on the night before the commencement. Please correct the mistake in your next issue and oblige. Yours, truly,

The Roads.

Whilst the public highways are attracting so much attention in almost every section of our much improved and beautiful county, and we all have reaped so much benefit from their recent and rapid improvement; yet let us all resolve to try and request the careful consideration of so many expenses, as the increased number of petitions for widening and improving the roads must cease.

Another failure of the peach crop, with another double tax as of 1868, would almost make the county insolvent, should there be a blight of the grain crops too.

The people are taxed in every way, in the consumption of every article of daily use, to pay the National debt; and our State and county taxes are almost triple of the last assessment, prior to 1866.

The past year was one of the hardest within the experience of any one in this county, and one that will be long remembered by every one, as the scarcity of money was unparalleled, and the outcry for it is now general.

The taxes of 1866 in one case were $35 or $36; $59 in 1867, and the same person paid $118 or $119 in 1868. One gentleman, of large means its true, paid $700, another paid $950, and if Mr. Edward Comegys and ——— had been living, their State and County taxes would have been $2500 each, and at least $1200 United States income taxes. These figures are most appalling to the land holders; it is all, now, upon the land, and at a high valuation. The sum of $2130.00 is yet due upon the Sassafras river bridge, to be paid by our county this year: it cost $14,000, and the deficit due upon it must be paid, and that sum is about equal to or more than several new roads now being laid down and made, with the damages, &c. Then let us all ponder, and defer asking for any more new roads, or other heavy expenditures till another year; let them come SLOWLY and GRADUALLY from year to year, as our circumstances may demand. "The world," it is often said, "was not made in a day," nor can all the public roads be made or improved in one year. Remember, we have certain inevitable expenses put upon our county by the law. The railroad, schools, school houses, support of the alms house, &c., and the repairs and improvement of the old county roads: they cannot be avoided.

It's clear that the Lower District is awakening to the true condition of her long-neglected roads Yet now she should defer asking for any more appropriations this year, unless it is for the road to be made on Eastern Neck Island, and some other short roads in that part of our county, which so long gave way to other portions of the county. One of our good citizens lost a pair of the most valuable horses last year, from the freshet at "Turner's Mill Branch," often rising to a great depth, and has a most sweeping force. These horses were valued at $300, which was a very heavy loss to a farmer; and in time there should be a substantial bridge erected over it, and raised high, and made strong enough to prevent the slightest danger, night or day, under any and all circumstances. CAPSICUM.

The Recall of the Presidential Pardons.

In the United States Circuit Court at New York, Judge Blatchford has decided that the recall of the pardon which was made out in the last days of President Johnson's administration for the two Depuys, in prison for whisky frauds, was legal, and they must therefore remain imprisoned. The main question was as to a legal delivery of the pardon; whether the delivery to the marshal was a delivery to Depuy, and placed the matter beyond the control of President Grant. It had been contented that when a pardon had received the signature of the President and the seal of the State Department it was a completed act, and had passed beyond the power of revocation, but he (Judge Blatchford) did not think so. The intention of a President to grant a pardon is, even after the pardon has been issued, simply a matter of intended favor until the act is made complete by a legal delivery. To make a legal delivery the pardon must either be put in the personal possession of the person for whom it is intended, or of the officer who has him in custody The marshal had no control of Depuy, who was in the custody of the warden of the penitentiary. It is a prerogative of the presidential office to stop a pardon any time before a delivery. Such stoppage is not a revocation, as the pardon is not complete. The Presidential office never dies. If President Johnson had a right to recall, so had President Grant.

☞ Postmaster-General Cresswell has under consideration the establishment of a number of post-offices at the principal watering places, which do not enjoy postal facilities.

☞ Mrs. Belle Boyd, the famous 'Rebel Spy,' has again entered upon the married existence. She took this important step in New Orleans, on the 17th instant, a Mr. John S. Hammond being the lucky recipient of her "true heart's best love."

The Fifth Regiment Encampment.

In pursuance of orders, the Fifth Regiment Maryland National Guard, will go into encampment for five days, at Catonsville Park, to-day, the 19th instant. The regiment will assemble at the armory at half-past three o'clock in the afternoon, in full dress uniform, the fatigue cap suspended by a strap from the left button on the back of the coat, with knapsacks and blanket rolled and strapped thereon. A circular has been issued by command of Colonel Herbert, which states that whilst every liberty, consistent with discipline, will be allowed, disorder and unsoldierly conduct will be promptly checked and punished. Each man will be required to have, neatly packed in his knapsack, one pair white pants, one pair white gloves, two shirts, one undershirt, one comb and hair brush, one pair drawers, two pairs socks, two towels, four handkerchiefs and one cake of soap. Such other articles of clothing as inclination may prompt, the members will be allowed to carry. On the day of the march for the camping ground the knapsacks will be inspected by company commanders, to see if the contents conform to the regulations prescribed. Absence from camp or non-compliance with the general orders will be visited by the severest fine allowed by the Code, and no active member of the regiment will be permitted in the camp as a visitor. It is expected that the entire regiment will go into camp, and there is no doubt that it will be visited by thousands of persons from the city.

Meeting of the First Annual Convention of the Diocese of Easton.

The first Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church for the Diocese of Easton, composed of nine counties of the Eastern Shore of Maryland, convened at Christ Chruch, Easton, on Wednesday, the 9th of June, the Right Rev. Henry C. Lay, Bishop of the Diocese, presiding. The convention commenced with divine services by the Bishop, assisted by Rev. Dr. McKenney, Rev. Mr. Barber, Rev. Mr. Dashiell, and Rev. Mr. Hutton. After an eloquent and able sermon by the Bishop, on the reciprocal duties of pastor and people, the Holy Communion was administered, after which the convention was called to order by the Bishop. The Secretary pro tem., Rev. J. L. Bryan, called the roll of those entitled to seats in the primary convention held in November, 1868. The Bishop announced that the first business in order was the election of a permanent Secretary, whereupon the Rev. J. L. Bryan, of Cambridge, was unanimously elected. The Bishop appointed Dr. Gale, the lay delegate from Princess Anne, Assistant Secretary.

The Bishop announced the appointment of the following committees:

Committee on Elections—R. B. Carmichael, S. S. McMaster and T. B. Sherman.

Committee on Rights of Clergman to Seats—Dr. Levin, Rev. E. F. Dashiell and Rev. James T. Hucherson.

Committe on Accounts.—James T. Earle, Dr. Gale and Dr. Mackall.

Committee on Parochial Contribution—George R. Goldsborough, S. S. McMaster and Dr. I. L. Adkins.

Committee on the State of the Church—Rev. Dr. McKenney, Rev. Mr. Barton, Rev. Mr. Smith, Tench Tilghman and William S. Walker.

Committee on Admission of New Parishes—Rev. Mr. Watson, Mr. Beavan and Daniel M. Henry.

Committee on Canons—Rev. Mr. Barber, Rev. Dr. Levin and Judge Carmichael.

Rev. Dr. McKenney offered a resolution, which was adopted, inviting visiting clergymen to seats in the convention.

Dr. Levin, chairman of the committee on the rights of clergymen to seats in the convention, reported the following as entitled to seats: Rev. Theodore Barber, Rev. John O. Barton, Rev. George F. Beavan, Rev. James L. Bryan, Rev. John Crossdale, Rev. E. F. Dashiell, Rev. William Fulton, Rev. E. P. C Goodwin, Rev. O. Hutton, Rev. Samuel D. Hall, Rev. James T. Hutcheson, Rev. Lucien C. Lance, Rev. Dr. Lewin, Rev. Dr. McKenney, Rev. James A. Mitchell, Rev. William. D. Mitchell, Rev. A. S. Smith, Rev. Joseph N. Watson, and Rev. Robert Wilson.

Judge Carmichael, chairman of the Committee of Electicus, reported the following lay delegates, entitled to seats in the convention; Dr. J. L. Adkins, A. H. Barnett, Horatio Beck, Saml. Beck, R. B. Carmichael, Sam'l. Chamberlaine, Jas. T. Earle, Dr. William H. Gale, Dr. William R. Hayward, Daniel M. Henry, James A. Higgins, George W. Jefferson, Dr. O. S. Mackall, S. S. McMaster, William E, G. Newman, J. R. Purnell, Dr. J. R. Jurnell, A. J. Pennington, Thomas F. J. Rider, Thomas B. Sherman, General Tench Tilghman, and William S. Walker.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention re-assembled at 4. P. M., and opened with religious services by the Bishop, after which it was called to order, and the Bishop proceeded to read his Annual Address. The reading occupied about an hour. It was a straightforward business paper, and showed that the Bishop had kept his eyes wide open during his visit through the Diocese.—He gave a particular account of the condition of the church in the various parishes; the names of the several Rectors under his charge; the church statistics; acknowledged in fitting terms his hospitable and christian reception; pointed out many things necessary to be done to give greater efficiency to the work; exhorted his brethern to greater piety and zeal in the work of the Lord, laying particular stress on the needs of church extension and diocesan Missionary enterprises. He said if the influence of the church in the Diocese was to be extended, the ministers must not confine their labors within the walls of the churches, but must go out among the people and labor to bring them into the fold of Christ.

THURSDAY MORNING, May 10th.

The order of the day being the report of the committee on the Constitutions and Canons.

Rev. Mr. Barber submitted a lengthy report, providing for such changes in the Constitution and Canons as were necessary for the new diocese.

Judge Carmichael made a minority report, in the form of an additional article to the constitution, prohibiting ritualism in the Diocese of Easton.

The minority report was laid on the table, and the majority report considered article by article. The consideration of the first article of the constitution elicited considerable discussion, which was participated in by Rev. Dr. Levin, Rev. Mr. Barber, Rev. Mr. Dashiell, Rev. Mr. Hutton, Hon. James T. Earle and Judge Carmichael. A rule of the general convention provides that new dioceses may be admitted in the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States upon their acceding to the constitution and laws of the general church. The first article of the constitution and laws of the general church. The first article of the constitution reported by the committee acceded to the general convention as required by its rule. The Diocese of Maryland being a part of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States at the time this rule was adopted by the general convention, was never required to accede as in the case of the new dioceses. On the one hand, it was argued that inasmuch as the diocese of Easton was a part of the diocese of Maryland, it was not imperative upon it to accede in form. On the other hand, it was argued that all new dioceses must accede, whether they be composed of parts of old dioceses or entirely of new territory. The article acceding to the general convention as required by the rule was finally adopted as reported by the committee.

The second article, fixing the time of meeting of the Diocesan convention of Easton, also elicited considerable discussion. Rev. Dr. McKenney thought it advisable that the time should be early in May, before the meeting of the convention of the Diocese of Maryland. Rev. Mr. Goodwin advocated meeting on the same day of the meeting of the convention of the diocese of Maryland, and thought June an inconvenient season, Rev. Dr. Levin presented most cogent reasons why the convention of the diocese of Easton should not meet until after the meeting of the convention of the diocese of Maryland. The Bishop expressed also the same views. The article as reported by the committee, fixing the first Wednesday in June as the day for the meeting of the convention was finally adopted.

The hour of noon having arrived, the further consideration of the report was deferred, and the order of the day taken up, being the election of the standing committee. The following clergymen were elected said committee on the first ballot, Dr. Purnell and Gould acting as tellers:—Rev. Mr. Goodwin, Rev. Mr. Barton, Rev. Mr. Dashiell, Rev. Dr. McKenney.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The minority report of the constitution, submitted by Judge Carmichael, being a resolution against ritualism, was taken up and considered. The Judge addressed the convention in support of the resolution, and presented some very strong reasons why the reolution should be adopted. He said fortunately ritualism had as yet made no inroads upon the Diocese of Easton, although it had rent the church in other parts of the country, and his resolution was intended to keep it out. During his remarks he was pretty sharp on ritualism, which he characterized "theatrical exhibitions." He wanted strict conformity to the mode of worship laid down in the prayer book.

Rev. Mr. Dashiell opposed the adoption of the resolution, on the ground of expediency, and moved its indefinite postponement. He said it was a very difficult question to deal with. The consideration of it had occupied a discussion several days at the late National Episcopal convention, and it was disposed of finally by referring the matter to the Bishops, to be dealt with by them in their wisdom. In his remarks he said something about "stultifying ourselves," which brought out the Judge again so sharply, that the Rev. gentleman promptly disclaimed as intending any thing personal by the remark, and the Judge good humoredly accepted the disclaimer, but redoubled his ponderous blows against the evil he was laboring to exclude from the Diocese.

Rev. Mr. Hutton was opposed to ritualism out and out, but doubted the expediency of dealing with it in the way proposed in the resolution. He thought the ordination vows quite as strong on the subject as the resolution before the convention, and therefore could see no necessity for its adoption.

General Tilgman offered an amendment, which was accepted by the casting vote of the Bishop, the vote on it being a tie.

The Bishop said that when the resolution was first taken up, he was in doubt as to whether or not he ought to rule it out of order for the want of jurisdiction. He concluded, however, not to rule it out, but to allow the subject to be ventilated. He then, at considerable length, expressed his opposition to ritualism, but admitted it a difficult subject to deal with, while those who practiced it kept within the laws of the church. He gave various illustrations of the difficulties incident to exact conformity in all things, throughout the whole, it would be better for this convention not to pass the resolution, but to leave the subject where the general convention has placed it.

The previous question was then called, and upon a division of the convention, the resolution was rejected. Although the resolution was voted down on the ground of expediency, the convention seemed unanimous against ritualism.

NIGHT SESSION.

Rev. Mr. Goodwin, from the committee on convocations, reported a plan for the organization of the diocese into three convocations, to be called the Northern, the Middle, and the Southern; the first be composed of the clergymen and deans of the vestries, of Cecil and Kent counties; the second, the clergymen and deans in Queen Anne's, Caroline, Talbot, and Dorchester counties; and the third, the clergymen and deans of Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester counties. That these convocations, in connexion with the Bishop, have charge of the Diocesan missions.

In submitting the report, Rev. Mr. Goodwin made some appropriate remarks on the subject of convocations and the mission work. He said convocations heretofore had failed to accomplish any good, for the want of legal recognition by the church. He wanted them established by legal authority. When so established he thought they could render very effective aid in the mission work.

The Bishop at this point made a strong appeal in favor of missions. He said the territory embraced in the diocese must be worked up, and the church must be put into communication and sympathy with the masses of the people. He wanted to bring the laymen actively into the work. He would like to know what they did with themselves of Sunday afternoons. Much good might be done by the distribution of good religious books, and gave instances in his own experience of the importance of the dissemination of religous literature. If the people could be influenced to read religious books, they would think more about religion, and talk about religion, and practice piety, and an influence would go abroad which could not fail to build up the church of Christ.

On motion of Rev. Mr. Barber, Christ's church, Cambridge, was fixed as the place for holding the next annual meeting of the convention.
