To the payment whereof well and truly to be made, the Said Thomas Parrott Roe did bind himself firmly by the same writing — Nevertheless the Said Thomas Parrott Roe (although often thereto required) the sum of money aforesaid, or any part thereof to the Said John Corrie in his lifetime, or to the said James Corrie after the death of the Said John Corrie, yet hath not paid, but the same to the Said John Corrie in his lifetime, and to the said James Corrie, after the death of the said John Corrie, to pay the said Thomas Parrott Roe hath hitherto altogether refused, and the same to the Said James Corrie to pay doth still refuse, and the same doth unjustly detain, to the Damage of the Said James Corrie in the sum of one thousand pounds Current money: And thereupon he brings this suit &c — And he brings here into Court the Letters of Administration to him in due form of Law granted, whereby it sufficiently appears to the Court here that he the said James Corrie is the Administrator of all and singular, the Goods and Chattels, Rights and Credits which were of the aft. Sealed with my Seal and dated this twenty third day of January one thousand seven hundred and ninety seven — 1797 — The Condition of the above Obligation is such that if the above bound Thomas Parrott Roe, his Heirs, Executors, and Administrators, or any of them, do and shall well and truly pay unto the above named John Corrie, his certain Attorney, Executor, Administrators or Assigns, the full and just sum of four hundred and eighteen pounds, thirteen shillings and five pence three farthings, in Spanish Milled Dollars, at the rate of seven shillings and six pence each, That then the above Obligation to be void, otherwise to be and remain in full force and virtue. — Thomas Parrott Roe (Seal)

And the said Thomas Parrott Roe defends the force and injury when &c. and says that he cannot gainsay the action aforesaid of the Said James Corrie so as aforesaid against him brought, nor can he deny but that he unjustly detains from him the Said James Corrie the aft. full and just sum of eight hundred and thirty seven pounds six shillings and eleven pence half penny Current money, in manner and form as he the Said James, above thereof against him complains — Therefore it is considered by the Court here that the Said James Corrie recover against the said Thomas Parrott Roe as well the Said full and just sum of eight hundred and thirty seven pounds six shillings and eleven pence half penny Current money his Debt aft. in form aforesaid acknowledged, as also the quantity of five hundred and sixty five pounds of Tobacco for his Damages which he hath sustained as well by occasion of the detention of that Debt, as for his Costs and Charges by him about his suit in this behalf laid out and expended; adjudged by the Court here unto the Said James Corrie Administrator as aforesaid with his Assent. And the said Thomas Parrott Roe in mercy &c —
