The Chestertown Transcript.

Saturday Morning, January 22, 1870.

☞ Our friends throughout the county are earnestly requested to furnish us with all items of local interest transpiring in their immediate neighborhoods.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Light.—It has often been a matter of astonishment expressed by strangers visiting our town that we are so entirely given over to darkness on a cloudy or moonless night. In other words, that there is not sufficient enterprise in our midst to have street lamps, and gas. There is scarcely a town in the country, of our proportions, whose citizens do not enjoy the comfort of walking the streets at night without having to rely on their knowledge of the ups and downs in the pavements, or to literally feel their way. Our pavements are far from level, and the curves and bends with the occasional projections in the way of porches, cellar-doors and accumulated goods-boxes, have not been mapped out; so that it is sometimes almost impossible, even for one native to the sod, to make out his reckoning. A stranger invariably has to take a guide, or in some localities he would literally fall into the ditch.

Gas, in a thickly built town like ours, would certainly pay a company a good profit on the necessary outlay to put it in the houses of our citizens; and we are informed that the capital required would not be very large. Added to the convenience, it would doubtless be a great saving of money, and certainly of trouble. The coal oil which is so universally used amongst us—when lamps, chimneys, wicks, and time are added—is by far more costly than gas, to say nothing of its objectionable smell and dangerous character. Almost every mail brings us some accident from coal oil explosions.

The Legislature is now in session, and we have brought this matter to the attention of our people that they might think of it before the close of the session; and, if it is desirable, to secure the necessary legislation.

County Meeting of Good Templars.—The Kent County Quarterly Association of the Independent Order of Good Templars, held its first session in Chestertown, on Tuesday last, at the Hall of Resolute Lodge Rev. Charles H. Baker, the W. C. T., called the Association to order at 11 A. M., when regular business was inaugurated by the adoption of the Grand Lodge order of proceedure. After reception of delegates' certificates, Rev. J. T. Murray, in some appropriate remarks, in behalf of Resolute Lodge, welcomed the members from the country, tendering the hospitality and claiming them as the guests for the day of the Chestertown members. At the afternoon session a constitution, by-laws and rules of order were adopted. The following officers were elected for the ensuing quarter:

W. C. T.—George H. Thompson, of Rock Hall Lodge.
W. V. T.—Miss Watts, of Guiding Star Lodge.
W. C.—Rev. D. C. Ridgway, of Earnest Lodge.
W. S.—Dr. Melvin, of Kennedyville Lodge.
W. F. S.—Miss Susie Young, of Bond Lodge.
W. T.—James H. Edes, of Earnest Lodge.
W. M.—F. A. Wilson, of Resolute Lodge.
W. I. G.—Comegys B. Peacock, of Mizpah Lodge.

Jas. J. Hogg, of Guiding Star Lodge, was selected to be recommended for the position of District Deputy.

It was decided to hold a public county meeting at Chestertown in May next; the W. C. T. to appoint two members from each Lodge as a committee to make arrangements therefor. The next meeting of the Association will be held at Still Pond on Saturday the 2nd day of April next. A vote of thanks was tendered Resolute Lodge for its hospitality to the members of the Association. The attendance was large and the occasion one of considerable interest.

Religious.—The protracted meeting is still going on at the Methodist Protestant Church in this town, and will continue next week. Rev. T. D. Valiant, of Centreville, preached Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. The congregations have been large.

A protracted meeting will commence at the Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday (to-morrow) evening.

Election of Officers.—An election of officers for the next quarter, will take place on Saturday night, January 29th, at Resolute Lodge, I. O. G. T., of this town.

Robbery at Annapolis.—The Annapolis correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says, on Tuesday night a number of rooms, seven or more, at the City Hotel, were entered by some expert thief, and the pockets of the inmates rifled. Mr. Beck, of Kent county, lost over $100, and Mr. Merryman was also a sufferer, but to what extent I did not learn.

☞ On Tuesday last, John O. Slay, Esq., of the Kent Bar was, on motion of F. S. Stockett, admitted and qualified as an Attorney of the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

The New School Board.—At the first meeting of the new School Board Mr. J. Clarke Taylor was elected President. At their meeting on Tuesday last, Mr. Howard Meeks was elected Secretary, Examiner and Treasurer. Mr. Meeks held the position of Examiner under the first organization of the new school system, and has been connected with schools for a number of years.

Proceedings of the County Commissioners.

Tuesday, January 18.

The following, among other matters, occupied the Commissioners:

Ordered, that R. B. Wilson have permission to remove the gate on the farm known as the "Copper Farm," in Eastern Neck, with the understanding that it is to be done free of expense to the county.

Ordered, that Wm. T. Hepbron be authorized to proceed to Sassafras and make the best contract with George Kennedy and the County Commissioners for Cecil county for widening the dam at the mill of said Kennedy.

Edward Plummer was appointed Constable, for the Third Election District, in the place of Geo. T. Williams declined to bond.

Orphans' Court Proceedings.

Tuesday, January 18.

On application of David C. Blackiston, guardian to Eliza T. Money, his guardianship was revoked and released, and Samuel Hurlock appointed in his stead.

J. W. Jones, administrator of Walter T. H. Miller, returned his first administration account, which was passed; also returned accounts as acting guardian for Walter, Merrit, and Lillian Miller, which were passed.

Clerk to Somerset Court.—Levin L. Waters, Esq., appointed by the judges of this judicial district clerk to the Circuit Court for Somerset county, Md., vice Col. Levin Woolford, elected Comptroller of the State treasury, was installed in office last week. Mr. Waters is a prominent member of the bar of Somerset county, and represented that county in the State Senate in 1861, when, by order of Gen. Banks, the members of the Legislature were arrested and confined for ten months in a military bastile. Mr. Waters is eminently qualified to fill the office to which he has been appointed.—Eastern Shoreman.

☞ In the Annual Report of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company we find the following:

The business of the Delaware Railroad afforded a profit of nearly thirty-five thousand (35,000.) In accordance with the terms of lease of the Delaware Railroad, there have been placed to the credit of the previous losses of this Company, as lessees, three-fourths of this profit, while the other one-fourth part has been added to the earnings of the P., W. & B. R. R. Co., for 1869.

The prospects of the Delaware Railroad continue to improve. The peach crop of the Peninsula was larger than ever before, although a large area of territory was entirely unproductive on account of late frosts. The quantity of peaches brought upon the road from the Peninsular roads, amounted to about two millions of baskets, or four thousand car loads.

During the year the Dorchester and Delaware railroad, which, with the Dorchester branch of the Delaware railroad, extends from Seaford, on the Delaware railroad, in Delaware, to Cambridge, Maryland, a distance of thirty-two miles, was finished.

The Maryland and Delaware Railroad was opened to Easton, a distance of forty-four miles from its connection with the Delaware railroad, at Clayton.

The Queen Anne's and Kent railroad, and the Kent County railroad, were each finished to points about ten miles distant from the Western end of the Townsend branch of the Delaware railroad, the former Southwardly towards, Centreville, Md., and the latter Westwardly towards Chestertown, Md.

The Junction and Breakwater railroad, which connects with the Delaware railroad, at Harrington, has been extended to Lewes, and is now forty miles in length.

Most of the Peninsular railroads are furnished with their car equipment from this Company; and, in several cases, it has been deemed judicious to afford encouragement to them by temporary drawbacks upon the business which they do in connection with roads operated by this Company.
