The Chestertown Transcript.

Saturday Morning, February 12, 1870.

☞ Our friends throughout the county are earnestly requested to furnish us with all items of local interest transpiring in their immediate neighborhoods.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The Courts.—Neither the County Commissioners or Orphans' Court were in session on Tuesday last, but one member of each body being in town.

Building Association.—The Kent Mutual Building Association of this town will have money to sell to its stockholders this evening. The stock of this corporation seems to be rapidly advancing; it sold last week at seventeen dollars per share, eleven dollars per share having been paid in on it.

A New Enterprise.—Our well known Florist, Mr. W. F. Massey, has made an arrangement with Messrs. J. L. Stam & Son for the prosecution of the Vegetable and Flower seed business, under the name of W. F. Massey & Co. Our merchants throughout the county and elsewhere, will do well to patronize the new firm, and thus introduce to our people a quality of seed hitherto unknown among us. Mr. Massey's acknowledged skill as a Horticulturist is a sufficient guarantee for the quality of the stock.

Religious.—The protracted meeting at the Methodist Protestant Church has been in operation now nearly five weeks, and the interest is unabated. Nightly the altar is filled and conversions take place. Last Sunday evening a large number publicly united themselves with the Church. The pulpit was filled on Monday evening by Rev. Howard Meeks, and on Thursday evening by Rev. J. J. Edwards of the M. E. Church, South.

At the Methodist Episcopal Church the revival exercises have been going on almost three weeks. A number of conversions have taken place, and the membership has been greatly revived.

Wilmington Conference.—The annual meeting of Wilmington Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will commence at Port Deposit, Md., on the 16th of March. Bishop Janes will preside. The citizens of that town and its vicinity are already making arrangements for the accommodation of their guests.—This will be the second meeting of this Conference, which includes the whole of the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland and Delaware in its limits, and was set apart from Philadelphia Conference, to which it formerly belonged, in 1868.—Philadelphia Conference, we believe, meets on the same day.

Free Pews.—By a resolution of the Protestant Episcopal Church of this town, published in our advertising columns, it will be seen that the pews of the Church have been declared free, and that all are invited to any part of the sitting. Bishop Lay, the Bishop of the Diocese, will preach to-morrow evening, and it will be a favorable opportunity to inaugurate the new system, the Bishop generally drawing a considerable number from other congregations.

The clergy of the Episcopal Church generally, seem favorable to the free seat principle, while the[illegible] generally incline to the old family arrangement of pews. Each have their advantages and disadvantages. The old system has been tried here for many years, the present arrangement will enable a fair comparison to be made. It is to be hoped that the congregation here, will not fall into the error generally adopted heretofore under like circumstances, and persistently, Sunday after Sunday, seek their old seats, thus virtually protesting the right of any one else to occupy them.

Chesapeake Ink.—General R. Clay Crawford of our town, has discovered, while making some chemical experiments, a black writing ink, which is likely to supersede all writing inks now in use. It is black, flows freely from the pen, which it does not corrode, can be sold cheaper than inks now on the market, and is perfectly indelible. The strongest acids applied to this ink will only turn it a red color, while the ordinary oxolic acid of the shops will completely efface other inks. In all legal instruments this ink is invaluable. For cancelling stamps it is perfectly effectual, it being impossible to remove the ink. Another valuable property it possesses is, that freezing does not impair it. The difference between this and other inks is this—that where other inks are a chemical combination, this is a mechanical combination, and is consequently affected neither by cold or heat. General Crawford is now largely engaged in its manufacture, and it will soon be introduced in the large cities of the country. It is already generally used in our town.

Gas Works in Chestertown.—A week or two since, we made some remarks upon the necessity of establishing a Gas Company in our town, and urged it upon the attention of our citizens, so that they might take the necessary steps during the session of the Legislature. Our people move slowly, and the matter seems to have passed almost entirely unnoticed here: but, much to our gratification, the subject has arrested the attention of responsible parties in Baltimore. We have received the following letter, and hope the opportunity here offered will be availed of by our people:

E. F. Perkins, Esq., Editor Transcript, Chestertown, Md.—My Dear Sir: I was pleased to notice in your paper of January 22d, your remarks in local matters on light. I am prepared to put up Gas Works in your town, of the best kind, and had intended, ere this, of visiting your place with the object of bringing the matter before your townsmen: but absence from the city has prevented. If your citizens will subscribe to part of the stock of a Company that I propose forming to build substantial works in your town, I will guarantee that before six months roll over to have the works completed and the town lit with gas. If in your opinion you think that they will encourage such an enterprise, please give me the names of good, substantial men, who will act as Corporators jointly with those in interest here. The parties for whom I am authorized to act are men of unlimited capital, and all they would ask of your citizens would be a moderate subscription towards the cost of erection of the works.

It is well known that Gas Companies, all the world over, have never failed paying handsome dividends on their stock, even in much smaller towns than Chestertown.

I would be pleased to hear from you on the subject, and would thank you to give me the population of your town; a rough plot of it, also, to guide our engineer; and at an early day will pay you a vtsit.

Presentation to a Clergyman.—The Rev. Daniel Bowers, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, corner of Fayette and Aisquith streets, was the recipient, on Friday evening last, at the Parsonage, of a beautiful gold-headed cane. The presentation was made in a neat and appropriate speech by Mr. Long, on behalf of the Young Men's Sabbath afternoon prayer meeting. The remarks were fittingly responded to by Mr. Bowers.—Sun.

Injunctions Sustained.—It will be remembered that some months since Messrs. J. B. Bennett, Wm. T. Kemp, H. C. Morgan and James Dixon applied for an injunction against the Maryland and Delaware Railroad, to prevent that company building the road through their lands upon the nominal awards made by the commissioners to assess damages. The Court granted the injunction, and the Railroad company appealed from the decision, and the Court of Appeals has sustained the Court below, remanding the cases back for further proceedings. The effect of this decision, we believe, is to bring up the merits of the cases as to actual damages sustained, for which the company may be found liable.—Easton Journal.

Mysterious Disappearance.

James A. Richardson, one of our Water street merchants, left town on Monday the 24th ultimo, ostensibly for the purpose of transacting business in Baltimore, with the view of returning home on the 27th. That day and the day succeeding steamboat day having passed without bringing tidings of his whereabouts, some uneasiness was felt for his safety, apprehension being expressed that he had been foully dealt with. When it became generally known that he had not returned at the appointed time, it came out that he had taken with him considerable sums of money belong to other gentlemen in town for the purpose of paying the same to Baltimore merchants. These gentlemen naturally enough felt uneasy for the safety of Mr. Richardson. Successive steamboat days, bringing no tidings, only had the effect of increasing the excitement and causing alarm. The wife of the absent gentleman, became so alarmed as to be almost frenzied. Persons who had entrusted funds to the keeping of the absent gentleman, as well as to those who held claims against him, became apprehensive of a defalcation, and in order to avoid haste in injuring the reputation of a man who had formerly stood high in public estimation as any of our citizens, they prevailed upon Mr. Samuel A. Richardson to visit Baltimore and ascertain if possible, the whereabouts of his absent brother. The only evidence, however, he could obtain that he had been in that city was the name of "G. H. Richardson" in his hand on the register of the Maltby House, and mortified beyond measure, he returned home on Saturday last, having to say he believed his brother a defaulter. Attachments thereupon issued upon the property left in town, but it is doubtful whether there will be enough to meet the demand, including large sums said to be due the gentlemen in Baltimore. The amount taken away belonging to other parties is said to nearly $1,000, and the amount of his indebtedness is variously estimated at from 6,000 to $10,000. The amount of property left behind will not amount to much over $1,000. The defaulter is a man of good family, had always been highly respected, and was supposed to be in easy circumstances. His many friends and relatives are much aggrieved over his sudden and unexpected departure, and the hope is yet entertained that he will turn up all right at last.—Centreville Observer.
