The Chestertown Transcript.

Saturday Morning, February 19, 1870.

☞ Our friends throughout the county are earnestly requested to furnish us with all items of local interest transpiring in their immediate neighborhoods.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Farmers' Club.—In pursuance of the notice of last Saturday for the formation of a Farmers' Club, a number of the farmers adjacent to the town assembled at the appointed hour. The meeting was organized by calling Dr. F. Worrell to the Chair.

On motion, it was resolved that those present organize themselves into a Farmers' Club, to be called "Central Farmers' Club of Kent County." A committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed. After preliminary business, Mr. C. H. Wickes propounded the inquiry whether "shell lime, at nine cents, is equal to or more profitable than stone lime at market prices," giving rise to an interesting colloquial debate; after which the meeting adjourned to meet at the same place on Thursday evening next, at 7½ o'clock—with an invitation to all farmers to become members.

The formation of these Clubs is a gratifying evidence of a needed revolution among the farmers of our county; but they have been confined, as yet, to that portion of the county below Chestertown; Kennedyville and Massey's districts have not yet moved. Where are the Kennards, Blackistons, Spencers, and other leading agriculturists. Mr. Geo. S. Hollyday, of Worton, has his armor on, and is the presiding officer of the Worton Club. Gentlemen—you old farmers who flourished in the days of the old State Fairs—your countenance and experience is desired, and would be valuable; but the growing men do not intend to wait for you; they will do the best they can without you.

The Kent Railroad.—We regret to learn that, by the action of the Board of Directors of the Kent County Railroad, on Tuesday last, the running of that portion of the road now completed will probably be delayed some time. We are not, of course, advised of the reasons for their action, but from what we can learn, the terms upon which the Townsend and Massey's branch were offered could not have been the obstacle. Prudence is a great virtue, especially in those who have charge of public money; but building railroads is a big venture at the best, and it would seem that the running of any considerable portion of a road after it is built, is a consummation which should be effected at the very earliest period. The developments of travel and freights by the opening of a railroad through a rich country like ours, cannot be arrived at—they always exceed the expectations of those who are not familiar with such enterprises, and the probabilities are all in favor of the undertaking. Admitting, however, that the receipts for the first year should not equal the expenditures, it seems to us that any reasonable deficiency would be a good investment in the way of additional credit to the road. The bonds of a railroad which the Directors thereof are unwilling to run, are not likely to realize much in the market. On the contrary the bonds of a road which gives evidence of progress and enterprise, will go largely towards its construction.

The running of this road would stimulate the payment of subscriptions, and awake afresh the interest of our citizens. The people want some practical demonstration of progress; and the regular departure and arrival of the cars would beget a confidence in the efforts of the managers not otherwise attainable.

The Directors have expended considerable sums in an engine, station-houses, turn-tables, &c.; in fact, they have prepared the road for action, and now, at this late to furl sails and lay by for growing crops and better prospects will be actually damaging to the credit of the road. The bravest, boldest—we do not mean reckless—speculators, are the most successful; and the popular judgment in this case, whatever it is worth, is, that the road ought to be run.

Newspaper Spongers.—An exchange well says, there are many persons who either take no paper at all, or else take one from a city, and when they wish to see what is transpiring in their own neighborhood they borrow the local paper from the citizen more liberal than themselves. Many men of this kind are engaged in business, and frequently grumble because people do not patronize "home industry" when they practice the very thing of which they complain.

The Orphans' Court.—The following, among other matters, occupied the Court on Tuesday last:

John K. Bosee, administrator of John Bosee, returned a list of debts due deceased which was received by the Court.

E. S. Ricaud, executrix of L. M. Ricaud returned an inventory of the personal estate of deceased.

Martha A. Biscoe, admr'x. of A. A. Biscoe, returned an inventory of the personal estate of dec'd., and obtained an order for the public sale thereof.

Rev. W. T. Perkins, acting guardian for Mary Helen Owen, returned account for the years 1867, 8, 9, and '70, to Jan. 31, which was passed and ordered to be recorded. Geo. W. T. Perkins was appointed guardian to Mary Helen Owen, with W. B. Wilmer, W. N. E. Wickes, and Rich'd. Hynson, as sureties.

Mary E. Brown, guardian to M. C., H. C., H. M. and Ann R. Brown, returned first guardian accounts, which were passed and ordered to be recorded.

Samuel Comegys, executor of Mary Pearce, returned second administration account, which was passed.

David and Rachel Hurley, admr's. of S. H. Hurley of Middlesex Co, Va., returned first administration account, which was passed.

Jane Hanes, admr'x. of John S. Hanes, returned second administration account, which was passed and ordered to be recorded.

The will of Eliza Usilton, of the State of Delaware, was admitted to probat.

It was again ordered that Pere L. Lynch, guardian to P. L. Rasin et al, be attached to answer a certain contempt in not attending the Court after being thereto legally cited.

Ordered that the Register issue a citation to Elizabeth Price, guardian to Pere P. Howard et al, to return account of her guardianship.

☞ We publish the following for the benefit of our colored citizens, and hope they will take warning thereby. White men who are given to sleeping and eating with colored people, are generally mean enough to steal an ox, or anything else:

Ox Stolen.—On Saturday night last, some one stole an ox from a colored man named Wm. Brown, residing in the neighborhood of Anthony's mill. At last accounts the animal had not been recovered. Brown suspects a white man committed the deed, and with good reason. The day previous, about noon, a white man appeared at Brown's house and took dinner and supper, remained all night, and, after breakfast in the morning, followed Brown to his stables, where he took an affectionate farewell. The visitor seemed to hang on, and Brown's wife plead in his behalf, saying it might be "some good old Union man." Some time during Saturday night the man returned and drove off the ox. Brown tracked the thief for some distance, and a comparison with the tracks of the man, made the morning previous, proved they were identical. All day Saturday the unknown visitor lounged around Anthony's mill, and was seen there by Brown himself in the afternoon.—Denton Union.

The ox has been reclaimed and the thief caught. The ox was purchased by Mr. H. Mobray, of Federalsburg, on Monday, at such a price and under such circumstances as to excite suspicion. Mr. M., after satisfying himself that the ox was stolen, sent an order to Cambridge, to which place the thief had started, for his arrest. He was caught, brought to Federalsburg, handed over to officer Wm. T. Slaughter, who lodged him in jail in this town on Wednesday. Brown visited him on Thursday and recognized him as the man who had partaken of his hospitality. Justice was so speedy in overtaking the offender that he made a clean breast of it and confessed to the theft. He gives his name as John B. Brown, of Pa.—Denton Journal.

Affairs in Cecil County.

We find the following in the Elkton Whig:

Wheat.—From all parts of the county we receive the most cheering accounts of the thrifty appearance of the wheat fields. Late sowing, owing to the extreme drought of last fall, excited anticipations anything but flattering of next harvest's crop, but the unusually mild, wet winter which has kept the wheat in a growing condition, and the fields are covered with a rich green sward, and the plant is so vigorous, that it would be capable of standing a very severe freeze without injury.

Sudden Deaths.—Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, wife of William H. Wilson, of Havre de Grace, went from religious services in the Methodist church at North East, last Tuesday night, to the residence of her brother-in-law, Asbury Wilson, and died while sitting in a chair, in less than half an hour after she entered the house. It is supposed the cause of her death was heart disease. James Crawford, Esq., well known throughout the county, died suddenly of congestion of the bowels, near North East, on Thursday.

An Old Citizen Gone.—Captain Andraw Wilson, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of North East, died, after a protracted sickness of several weeks, on the 3d instant.

LORILLARD'S "EUREKA," Smoking Tobacco is an excellent article of granulated Virginia; wherever introduced it is universally admired. It is put up in handsome muslin bags, in which orders for Meerschaum Pipes are daily packed.

LORILLARD'S Yacht Club Smoking Tobacco classed by all who consume it as the "finest of all;" it is made of the choicest leaf grown; it is anti-nervous in its effects, as the Nicotine has been extracted; it leaves no disagreeable taste after smoking; it is very mild, light in color and weight, hence one pound will last as long as 3 of ordinary tobacco. In this brand we also pack orders every day for first quality Meerschaum Pipes. Try it and convince yourself it is all it claims to be, "THE FINEST OF ALL."

LORILLARD'S CENTURY Chewing Tobacco This brand of Fine Cut chewing tobacco has no equal or superior anywhere. It is without doubt the best chewing tobacco in the country.

LORILLARD'S SNUFFS have now been in general use in the United States over 110 years, and still acknowledged "the best" wherever used.

If your storekeeper does not have these articles for sale, ask him to get them; they are sold by respectable jobbers almost everywhere.

Circular of prices forwarded on application.
