Tableaux and Charades.

Among the various sources of innocent amusements, we know of none more pleasing than well gotten up Tableaux and Charades. We had the pleasure of witnessing some private Tableaux and Charades of this character, one evening last week in our town. Gotten up as these things usually are, entirely too hurriedly, they were, nevertheless, a success.

The performance opened with the Tableau "Judith and Holofernes," in two scenes Those who are familiar with the history of the beautiful Judith and her victory over the great captain Holofernes, will appreciate the difficulty in personating the character. Yet, when Judith appeared, with "her hair braided and the tire upon it, and in her garments of gladness, the sandles upon her feet, with her bracelets and chains and all her ornaments, they wondered at her beauty very greatly." "Likewise Holofernes said unto her, thou art both beautiful in thy countenance and witty in thy words, surely if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth." Holofernes' head was not severed, and Judith is not a widow."

"The Mad Cap," a Charade, was next given: the characters were well played, theleve-making admirable, and suggestive of frequent rehearsals.

When the curtain next rose it revealed the brilliant Mrs. Chillington, in all the excitement of a morning call from the irresistable Lord Arnold. The play is one of some length and difficulty, a contest of lovers' stratagems, the playing varied in character; but it was so played as to keep up the interest to the end.

The next Tableau was, "Appollo appearing, at the incantations of a witch, to Hypatia and Peleygia." The Tableau was very pretty, could not be otherwise, but with all due deference to the admirable management, we think if the faces had been turned more to the audience it would have been more striking. The Witch was not a thing of beauty, and it would have been better to have given his position to one of the other characters.

Following, came a Charade, "Refinement." Kate, the young country wife of Frederick, the dignified and very proper gentleman of elegance, sister Cad, and the fellow who was sparkin' her, were the characters. Mrs. Kate played with a naturalness most astonishing; and Fred., who seemed neither pleased with the reception given his friends, or his own after his long absence, was the only one not entirely charmed. And Cad's little bit of grief at the loss of her lover was net the badest thing we ever saw on the boards.

The entertainment closed with the "Surprise Pic Nic." The rise of the curtain revealed four young ladies in a grove of cedars, resting from a romp in the woods, reclining in all the grace of attitude; the branches suddenly part, and reveal three blooming youths; and startled beauty is shown in another position.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.—We have recieved from the publisher, Mr. Geo. W. Childs, of Philadelphia, The Public Ledger Almanac for 1871. It is well gotten up and contains a vast amount of useful information.

VICK'S FLORAL GUIDE.—We return our thanks to Mr. James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., for a copy of his Floral Guide and Illustrated Catalogue for 1871. It is beautifully embellished, with colored plates, and contains full directions for the cultivation of flowers and vegetables. Mr. Vick is one of the most reliable Florists in the country, and we cheerfully recommend him to those of our people needing anything in his line.

IN MEMORIAM.—GEN. ROBERT E. LEE.—The Faculty of Washington College are making arrangements for the publication of a Memorial Volume in honor of their late President. It will contain a Biographical Sketch of Gen. Lee by Col. Chas. Marshall; a sketch of his life since the war; incidents and reminiscences illustrative of his character, &c., &c., together with four steel engravings. The entire profits of the sale of the work will be devoted to the erection of a tomb and monument over the remains of Gen'l. Lee at Washington College. The volume will be published by the University Publishing Company, 4 Bond street, N. Y., without profit, and in the most elegant style. Agents are wanted in every county, applications for which should be addressed to the publishers in New York.

VENDUE NOTES can be obtained at this office.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.
