The Farmers' Clubs,

On the Eastern Shore, are discussing the question whether it is profitable to buy the fertilizers now so abundant in the market. We shall endeavor to note the conclusion at which they arrive on this important subject. A Michigan farmer said some years ago,—"The farmer who relies for crops upon these costly fertilizers had better shut up shop." It is a question on which much may be said on both sides, and one which is eliciting careful investigation.

The Orphans' Court

Met on Tuesday last: present Jas. Beck of George, Thomas Lusby, and William Stevens.

John T. Gale, administrator of James Gale, returned his third account: passed by the court and ordered to be recorded.

Charles Clark, administrator of John Clark, late of Kent county, deceased, returned list of sales of personal estate of said deceased, which was received by the court and ordered to be recorded.

Samuel T. Chambers, adm'r. C. T. A. of Samuel Clark, dec'd., returned list of sales of personal estate: received, and ordered to be recorded.

The last will and testament of John P. Smith, late of Kent county, dec'd., was admitted to probate and ordered to be recorded.

On application, letters testamentary on the estate of John P. Smith, late of Kent county, dec'd., were granted to Edwin Smith, the executor by the will appointed, with Richard Hynson and Horatio Beck as sureties. Abel J. Rees and James A. Burgess were appointed to appraise the personal estate of deceased. The usual notice to creditors was ordered to be published.

On application, letters of administration on the personal estate of Melvina Baker, late of Kent county, dec'd., were granted to Charles H. Baker, (the party entitled having first filed her renunciation with the Register of Wills,) with Jas. P. DeCorse and John Hadaway as sureties. Horatio Beck and Jeremiah Nicols were appointed to appraise the personal estate. The legal notice to creditors was ordered to be published.

Ordered, that the bond executed by Richard Hynson and John T. Dodd, to Henrietta Boyd, guardian to Henry L. Boyd, for the sum of $1908.56, loaned to them by the direction of this Court for the time said minor is under the direction of a guardian, or while said Richard Hynson and John T. Dodd are liable on the guardian bond of said Henrietta Boyd, the interest to be paid semi-annually to said guardian, be appropriately filed.

On application, ordered that the Register issue citation directed to James Houston, colored, guardian to Jas. D. Houston and others, to return guardian account.

MR. WILLIAM HANDY has retired from the editorial chair of the True Marylander of Princess Anne, Ephraim G. Polk and Geo. T. McClemmy are announced as proprietors, with E. G. Polk as editor.

THE HOME FOR FRIENDLESS CHILDREN, on this Shore, is now open. As the appropriation from the Legislature was intended for the benefit of the whole Shore, the Managers of the Institution desire that every county shall be represented therein. If any one in this county wishes to make application for the admission of children, the Managers hereby request that they shall communicate at once with them.

Address, MRS. HENRY C. LAY,
Easton, Talbot county, Md.

AN UNHEARD OF SCENE IN COURT.—The Washington Sunday Herald tells of a singular breeze; in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, in that city, on Saturday. The chief justice (Judge Cartter) read an opinion in the Farragut prize-money case, and when he had done, Associate Judge Wylie expressed his views in dissent of the court. The Herald says:

"The chief justice whitened with wrath, his lion like locks shook with ire, and in a voice whose notes were pregnant with uncontrolable rage, he said, 'I am supprise at the dissenting opinion. The judge in the consultation room assented to my views; he he has crept out of the hole into which he went,' &c. The audience, whose prophetic souls had drawn them to the spot, to witness, 'without money, without price,' this Saturday matinee, indulged in vociferous cachination. Judge Wylie rose with the dignity of an insulted man and judge, and said: 'I retire from the bench where to remain is to be insulted.' The chief justice was about to proceed with his lively picture of the consultation room,' when the quiet interference of his brother justices restrained him in a degree, and here the battle ended."

THE ROTHSCHILDS TO THE RESCUE.—It is stated that the Rothschilds have come forward to relieve France from the monetary exactions of the Germans. Their generous contribution to the poor of the city of Paris, it seems, is to be followed by the princely offer to advance the entire amount of the war indemnity levied by the Germans upon that municipality. It is plain that in the rehabilitation of France the power of this great house will be notably felt. It was the Lafittes who placed Louis Phillippe on his throne by a similar use of immense treasure at their command, and it is not unlikely that other bankers may do such a service for the empire, of which they are strong adherents.

The advertising receipts of the London Times have reached $125,000 in a single month.

The combined capital of the Rothschilds' banking houses in London, Paris, Frankfort and Vienna, is $500,000,000.

THE LAW OF NUNCUPATIVE WILLS—OPINION OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.—The Court of Appeals last week delivered an opinion in the case of Arthur O'neil and others vs. Michael Smith, administrator of Jas. O'Neil, on appeal from an order of the Orphans' Court of Baltimore city. The opinion, delivered by Judge Robinson, says: "Whatever may have been the earlier rule of law in regard to Nuncupative wills at a time when the art of writing was known to comparatively a few persons, it was well settled, even prior to the statue of frauds, that to be valid they must be made in the last extremity, when the testator did not expect to recover, and had not time to make a more deliberate will, or a will in writing.' So early as the reign of Henry the Eighth a nuncupative will was defined by Perkins to be properly when the testator lieth languishing for fear of sudden death, dareth not to stay the writing of his testament, and therefore prayeth his curate and others, his neighbors, to bear witness of his last will, and declareth by word what his last will is,' and that definition is substantially adopted in Bacon's Abridgement, Wood on Conveyancing, and other substantial writers.

"By the statute of frauds, further restrictions were thrown around the making of wills of this character, and to such an extent, says Sir William Blackistone, 'has the Legislature provided against any frauds in setting up nuncupative wills by so numerous a train of requisites that the thing itself has fallen into disuse, and are hardly ever heard of, but in the only instance where favor ought to be shown to it, when the testator is suprised by sudden and violent sickness.' Now the 50th section of article 63 of our code is but a transcript of the 19th section of 29th Charles 24, and the words 'last sickness' in the code, are to be interpreted and understood according to the well-known construction put upon these words under the British statute."

The opinion refers to numerous authorities, and says: "It is clear from the authorities quoted that the general rule requiring wills to be in writing, was intended to be as universal as was possible; and the exception thereto in favor of a nuncupative will was allowed only in cases of necessity, when the testator supprised by approaching death, has not the time or opportunity to make a written will.

"Thus tested, how stands the will in this case? The facts show that the testator Jas. O'Neil, was consumptive and an invalid for fifteen years, and for the last eight months confined to his home; that for some time before his death he was a boarder in the house of Michael Smith, whose wife is the party claiming under this will. The nuncupation was made on the morning of June 7th, and the day following, in the full possession of his senses, the testator died. He had ample time and opportunity to make a written will; and for the court to sustain a nuncupative will under such circumstances would obliterate all distinctions which the law has wisely drawn between written and unwritten wills, and open wide the door to frauds and perjuries. The order of the Orphans' Court, from which this appeal was taken, is reversed, and the case remanded with cost so the appelant."—Baltimore Sun.

DEATH OF A LINEAL DESCENDENT OF OLIVER CROMWELL.—Captain Joseph Howard Cromwell died last week, at his residence at Yellow Springs, Ohio, aged eighty-five years. He was one of the most prominent and useful. He was believed to be a lineal descendant of Oliver Cromwell. A grandson of Henry' Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, third son of great Cromwell, settled in Maryland early in the eighteenth century, and one of his grandsons is the subject of our sketch. He was born on a farm near Baltimore, in May, 1786.—Cin. Commercial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universal. ly adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Langour and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.
