

The Farmers' Column.

Heavy Boots.

Farmers, don't allow your boys to wear heavy boots! Although it may be argued that such are necessary to keep the feet dry and warm, yet it is a grand mistake; for boots can be made light and impervious to water, if the leather be good and proper attention be paid to greasing them with the right sort of grease. Boys who are required to travel all day long after the plow with an extra pound or two of boot leather hanging to their heels, or engage in any other employment of less labor, will naturally acquire a dull, slow, sluggish gait, as a consequence of too much weight to the pedal extremities. It requires a quick active turn to be a good farmer, and boys should be trained to activity from their youth up, something which cannot be done if they wear heavy boots. Much better pay for two or three extra pair of light boots in a year, than growing up boys should be compelled to wear big heavy clogs, made only to break down the spirits. Let the draught be light at first, and accustom the team to a speedy gait, which ever afterwards they will follow. Plowing is performed with the greatest ease with the team at a quick pace; in fact, it is an operation that never should be performed with the team at a slow gait, for the simple reason that a slow snail gait, will no- twist and stir up the soil so well as a quick, nimble movement. The draught or width of the furrows it is best to regulate to the strength of the team, so as to allow it with ease to be quick in motion, or else to increase the power by using the third horse. Big, clumsy plows are to horses about the same as heavy boots are to boys, and should be regarded as a nuisance; for the truth is, that everything which has a tendency to make haste too slowly should be guarded against, because the short space allotted to man to remain here on this earth don't admit of slow movements. Every living thing should be up and doing, quick and nimble to make the best use of time, which is so limited and uncertain here. But enough has been said against heavy boots and huge, unweildy plows. Let us now respect the best part of creation, in which we find the dairymaid, foremost of all, drawing the lacteal fluid from the cows, typifying the first vocation of all mankind. In the vocation of the dairymaid or the milking-man, it is also requisite, not only to be quick and nimble, but regular, kind and quiet, to produce the best results; but there is no implement to impede this operation other than the dairymaid's own hands. So let the milking be done expeditiously, and if there is to be any noise or singing in the stable, let the tunes be the shortest metre, and milk according to tune, by which method the desoendants of the "cow with a crumple horn" will yield more milk than if done noisily, slowly, and irregularly. More might be written on the subject of being smart, but smartness is a quality everybody admires, so better not say not much on the subject lest there be too much activity in the land, and too much smartness displayed here with the pen, which would be a grievous fault, and hurt our own cause, which is to cry down the abomination of heavy boots for growing boys, and big, clumsy, ill-made plows for no good purpose, but to break down the spirits of horses.—Journal of the Farm.

Profits of Farming.

At a discussion of the New York Farmers' Club, in reference to the cash money profits of farming, it seemed to be generally conceded that the business failed to yield seven per cent. on the capital invested. We were somewhat surprised that none of the debators thought of giving the farm credit for the three great necessaries of life—house rent, table supplies and fuel. Viewed in this light, farming is the safest and best investment that can be made of capital. Take for instance $20,000; let it be invested judiciously in a moderate amount of land and all the stock and implements necessary to its successful cultivation. The proceeds from such an investment will support a family in a degree of comfort and even luxury, that would cost six or seven thousond dollars a year in New York; and where is the safe, honorable, mercantile or mechanical pursuit that will yield six thousand a year on a twenty thousand dollar investment? The profits of farming, except in rare instances, will be found to diminish as we extend our operations beyond what is requisite for comfortable support of a family, and this may be as well done on three hundred as on a thousand acres of land; and this is a strong argument for the subdivision of the great landed estates of the South.

How to Make the Boys Good Farmers.

Induce them to take an interest in the farm, in the implements, in the stock; tell them all your plans, your successes, and your failures; give them a history of your own life, and what you did and how you lived when a boy; but do not harp too much upon the degenerate character of the young men of the present age; praise them when you can, and encourage them to do still better. Let them dress up for the evening, instead of titting down in their dirty clothes in a dingy room. Provide plenty of light; thanks to kerosene, our country houses can be as brilliantly and as cheaply lighted as the gas-lit houses in the city. Encourage the neighbors to drop in of evenings. Talk agriculture; speak more of the importance of large crops, of good stock, of liberal feeding, and of the advantages of making animals comfortable, rather than of the hard times, low prices, and high wages. In our own case, we owe our love of farming principally to the fact that our father talked to us of everything that was doing on the farm; answering all our questions, and encouraging rather than refusing, our childlike desire of helping him to plow, to chop, to make fence, let off water, and fire the brush heap.

A LAY OF ENCOURAGEMENT.

BY W. GILMORE SIMS.

"Strike!" as said the Anvil to the Hammer,
Strike! and never let your iron cool—
Up head, my boy! Speak bravely, do not stammer,
Lest all the world should set you down a fool.
There is no time allowed for shilly-shally,
But seventy years allotted to the best;—
Down with the rock, tear up the fertile valley,
Work out your purpose—leave to God the rest!

You have a purpose—should have—then begin it!
An earnest working purpose is a power,
Which, if you straightway seize upon the minute,
Will make its progress surer every hour!
Build up your fortunes by it—lay them deeply—
Make your foundations sure!—then, day by day,
Raise up your walls—a fortress—never cheaply—
Good purposes demand a large outlay!

Toil, Faith, Devotion, Courage, Resolution!
These make your capital!—these freely spend;—
Once sure of your design, the execution
Needs all that you can give it to the end!
Oh, boy! man! what a world is in the keeping
Of him who nobly aims and bravely toils!
Speed to the work! We'll all have time for sleeping,
When we have shuffled off these mortal coils!

Hotel Statistics.

In the Capital, a weekly paper published at Washington, the manager of the Arlington, which is spoken of as a small hotel, publishes some statistics in regard to his own receipts and rents of other houses which may be interesting to the public, although some what personal:

"Senator Cameron paid for himself and wife $450 per month, and had but two rooms. Senator Fenton had a parlor, two bedrooms, and an office, and paid $1,000 per month. Mr. S. S. Cox and wife paid $250 per week, and I gave him a buffet supper for 100 persons, which cost him $1,500. Mr. W. S. Huntington gave the Japanese the finest spread ever set in the Arlington Hotel; there were only twenty persons and he paid $1,000. A parlor and three bedrooms in the second story of the Arlington, with a small family occupying them, are worth to me $450 per week during the season; and one guest here pays for a parlor, bedroom, and bath-room, $300 per month.

"At the Delavan House, Albany, Dr. Gautier used to pay $375 per week, and General Darling, with a parlor, three bedrooms and four persons, paid $400. Our hotel at Lake George had 37,000 on the register last season, in four months; we took in that space of time $294,050, and the net profits were $52,000.

"The Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York rents for $200,000 a year, including the stores beneath it. The St. Nicholas rents for $95,000, although it costs but $425,000. Mr. A. T. Stewart has just rented to William M. Tweed the Metropolitan Hotel, New York, for $65,000 a year, to put his son, Richard Tweed, into business as a landlord; and the Leland, who got out, paid $75,000.

"The Delevan House, at Albany, where there is merely a Legislature meeting, is very profitable to Charles Leland at a rent of $55,000 a year; and for the little Stanwix Hall, at Albany, Delavan pays $25,000. Burroughs pays for the Everett Hotel, New York, $35,000, although it is small; and the Astor House rents for $75,000.

Instructions for the Erection of Lightning Rods.

1. The rod should consist of round iron of about one inch in diameter; its parts, throughout the whole length, should be in perfect metalic continuity, by being secured together by coupling ferrules.

2. To secure it from rust the rod should be coated with black paint, itself a good conductor.

3. It should terminate in a single platinum point.

4. The shorter and more direct the course of the rod to the earth the better; bendings should be rounded, and not formed in acute angles.

5. It should be fastened to the building by iron eye, and may be insulated for these by cylinders of glass; I don't, however, consider the latter of much importance.

6. The rod should be connected with the earth in the most perfect manner possible, and nothing is better for the purpose than to place it in metalic contact with the gas pipes, or, better, the water pipes of the city. The connection may be made by a ribbon of copper or iron soldered to the end of the rod at one of its extremities, and wrapped around the pipe at the other. If a connection of this kind is impracticable, the rod should be continued horizontally to the nearest well, and then turned vertically downward until the end enters the water as deep as its lowest level. The horizontal part of the rod may be buried in a stratum of pounded charcoal and ashes. The rod should be placed in prefference, on the West side of the building. A rod of this kind may be put up by an ordinary blacksmith. The rod in question is in accordance with our latest knowledge of the facts of electricity. Attempted improvements on it are worthless, and as a general thing, are proposed by those who are but slightly acquainted with the subject.

Maryland Blonde.

Folly Fairfield in the New York Home Journal thus pleasantly discourses in his "dream of fair women" of the Maryland blonde:

In Maryland a peculiar blonde appears to be indigenous. The hair is flaxen; the skin alabaster; but the eyes are dark—very dark—what would be termed black. Complexions in this type are not usually florid; the alabaster being often wholly untinted with pink. The Maryland blonde has an exceeding fullness of form, but is not tall. Hands and feet are models of civilization—full, soft, well-rounded, yet nervous enough—the former tipped with pink finger-nails, as if all the blush of the woman's heart were concentrated in the ten smooth, elongated pink gibbouses. There is, in Maryland, a second type of blonde women, which though very pretty, is less distinctive, and resembles the Virginian and New England.

HUMBLENESS of mind is gained more by believing in Christ than by dwelling upon our sins. When we see the "King in His beauty," we have little desire to behold our own deformity.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
COMPOUND FLUID
Extract Catawba
GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

For Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Bilious Affections, Sick or Nervous Headache, Costiveness, etc. Purely Vegetable, containing no Mercury, Minerals or Deleterious Drugs.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. The Catawba Grape Pills, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. 50 cents per box.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND
Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system scrofula, syphilis, fever sores, ulcers, sore eyes, sore legs, sore mouth, sore head, bronchitis, skin diseases, salt rheum, cankers, runnings from the ear, white swellings, tumors, cancerous affections, nodes, rickets, glandular swellings, night sweats, rash, tetter, humors of all kinds, chronic rheumatism, dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being prepared expressly for the above complaints, its blood-purifying properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a clear and healthy color and restores the patient to a state of health and purity. For purifying the blood, removing all chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of pains and swelling of the bones, ulcerations of the throat and legs, blotches, pimples on the face, erysipelas and all scaly eruptions of the skin, and beautifying the complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
Concentrated Fluid Extract Buchu,
THE GREAT DIURETIC,

has cured every case of diabetes in which it has been given, irritation of the neck of the bladder and inflammation of the kidneys, ulceration of the kidneys and bladder, retention of urine, diseases of the prostrate gland, stone in the bladder, culculus, gravel, brick-dust deposit, and mucoüs or milky discharges, and for enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: indisposition to exertion, loss of power, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, weak nerves, trembling, horror of disease, wakefulness, dimness of vision, pain in the back, hot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, eruption on the face, universal lassitude of the nervous system, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of 18 to 25, and from 35 to 55 or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed-wetting in children.

B

Helmbold's Extract Buchu is diuretic and blood-purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences of life, impurities of the blood, &c., superseding Coaiva in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with Helmbold's Rose Wash.

LADIES.—In many affections peculiar to ladies the Extract Buchu is unequaled by any other remedy—as in chlorosis or retention, irregularity, painfulness or suppression of customary evacuations, ulcerated or schirrus state of the uterus, leuchorrea or whites, sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent physicians and midwifes for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages, attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms.

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU Cures Diseases, arising from imprudences, habits of dissipation, etc., in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change of diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to urinate, thereby removing obstructions, preventing and curing strictures of the urethra, allaying pain and inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the Poison has, by the use of powerful astringents, been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu for all affections and diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. $1.50 per bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of cutaneous affection. It speedily eradicates pimples, spots, scorbutic dryness, indurations of the cutaneous membrane, &c., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restores the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage by possessing qualities which render it a toilet appendage of the most superlative and congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a preservative and refresher of the complexion.
