amount of linen used by some of our mills is enormous. One manfacturer receives at his mills in Maine, from sixty to seventy-five tons; and not less than two hundred tons per week are consumed at Holyoke and its immediate vicinity. Linen rags are always quoted at least a cent and a quarter below an equal selection or grade of cotton. They are not so in general demand as cotton. being introduced only into the best qualities of paper, and the supply always being equal, if not in excess of the wants of manufactures. No. 1 whiter rags—when quoted, always mean cotton fabrics, and this grade is chosen of clean new cloth clippings, and cleanly washed, unstained peddler-collected scraps. The former come chiefly from shirt factories; the latter are the outpourings of home ragbags. When well culled are carefully baled, they readily sell at eight cents per pound.

☞ We have received from CAPT. JOHN RUSSELL, the efficient and prompt Clerk to the County Commissioners, the following facts for publication. CAPT. RUSSELL has been quite sick for some weeks, and his annual assessment list has consequently been delayed. We are gratified to state that he is on his legs again, and as spry and active as a youth of twenty-five:

Editor Transcript:

SIR—The Levy List is now completed and ready for publication; the assessment books are also ready for the tax collectors. You will find the County assessment this year $8,025,431. The County Commissioners have laid the tax for support of public schools at 24½ cents in the hundred dollars, making $19,662.26. Last year they levied for schools $16,043.50, making an increase this year of $3,618.76, in addition to which they have levied $1,716.24 to liquidate claims against the School Commissioners for material and work on school houses. Levied for the payment of Railroad Bonds and interest, 17¾ cents in the hundred dollars, making the required amount for this year $14,200. Levied for other expenses 46¾ cts. making in the aggregate for County expenses 89 cents in the hundred dollars. The State tax is 19¼ cts., which added, gives a total of 108¼ cents in the 100 dollars; last year it was 110 cents.

We have in this County an assessment on Bank stock amounting to $85,914, nearly all owned in Chestertown, on which there is no State tax charged, as the State tax on Bank stock is paid by the several banks to the State Department. Deducting the bank stock assessment from that of the County and we have the State assessment, $7,939,499. This amount at 19¼ cents gives the State from Kent county, through the collectors, $15,283.54. The expenses of the Circuit Court for the present and last year have greatly exceeded that of former years. The general assessment was lower last year than the three previous years, owing to the law exempting all mortgages from taxation. During the present fiscal year other private securities, amounting to some thousands of dollars, have been settled, and consequently are not now taxable, the loss of which would have reduced the assessment considerably, but for the faithful attention of our late tax collectors to the very important duty of making their annual appraisements.

Many farmers and others move annually out of one district into another, and some out of the County, and the tax collectors should not fail, annually, to assess all new comers into the county, and all new and additional buildings.

Respectfully, yours,
JOHN RUSSELL,
Clerk to County Commissioners.

RELIGIOUS.—Denton and vicinity can boast of five churches, to make up congregations for each we have a population of about four hundred persons all told.—The several denominations are the Methodists, Catholics, Episcopalians, Friends, and two colored Methodist congregations. Strange as it may appear, the colored churches have the largest congregations, their membership being in regular attendance. The services at all the other churches are sparsely attended and it is certainly an up-hill business to the ministers to preach to empty benches.—Union.

Proceedings of the School Board.

July 11. At the meeting to-day all the members were present except Mr. Parsons. Teachers Reports examined and passed as far as admissible.

Resolved to pay John P. Edes, for Spring Term, 1870, the Report having been delayed beyond the proper time.—Also, to pay Miss M. V. Jones, for Fall Term 1870, the Report said to have been lost; also, to pay S. S. Baker for Fall Term, 1869, for which he has had no credit.

Resolved to place pumps at Ship Yard School and School No. 1, 4th District.—District School Commissioners at No. 9 and 10 authorized to proceed to build School Houses as soon as Deeds can be procured for the sites.

Henry Parr, Esq., submitted a Report of rent received for the Hall at Galena, together with cash $5.

The Deed for House and Lot No. 9, 1st District was presented by Mr. Ireland, and on motion he was authorized to expend $125 to complete the building.

Bills amounting to $147.03 passed for payment.

Messrs. C. W. Murphy, J. M. Davis and Robert Alexander were appointed District Commissioners of School No. 9, 1st Election District. Mr. Rob't. Loud of No. 9, 2nd Election District in place of L. L. Rollison, dec'd., and Messrs. Wm. Turbitt and Jas. Lees of No. 2 and 3, 1st Election District, in place of Messrs. Cbase and Edwards removed from the District. The Examiner read his report of Quarterly Examinations of Schools as follows:

To the President and Members of the Board of School Commissioners of Kent county.

The undersigned having completed the examination of the public schools of the county for the last Term of the Scholastic year, respectfully Reports—That School No. 1 in the First Election District in charge of Miss Helen Power, was found to be in good condition. The House was scrupulously clean, and the order good. The recitations in Geography were fair. In the 4th Reader very good, in the 5th excellent. Concert reading receives great attention, and is the best heard in the whole county during the Quarterly visitation. In Grammar the recitations were indicative of progress. Writing quite respectable. Arithetic omitted for want of time. No out-house on the premises.—Water obtained from neighboring premises. Teacher diligent. School No. 2, 1st District, Henry Tonkin, and V. Power, Teachers. In these schools, the rooms were both in good order, clean and tidy. The discipline good, and the teachers apparently deeply interested in their work. The recitations in Geography were good; in reading the 4th class read too fast, and fail too regulate the voice at the comma, often suffering it to fall, a very general fault throughout the County; as will appear in these notes. Miss Power had a class in the 3d Reader, which recited well. The recitations in Grammar, and History were both good.

A class in Natural Philosophy, just entering upon the study, showed good progress, and was very thorough as far as it had gone. The writing in both was creditable; that in Mr. Tonkins department much above the general average of the Schools. Schol No. 3, Miss Alice Crane, Teacher. Industrious. School small, house very clean, order now good. Recitations in Geography medium, reading good—4th class excellent. Writing shows improvement, particularly that of Miss Varina Corbally.

No. 4. W. D. Clift, Teacher. Reading very good; concert reading fair; grammar lessons quite respectable; Geography very good; Pupils well posted in Arithmetic. Order excellent, house clean, teacher efficient. No. 5. Miss Angie W. Downs. School small, house clean, teacher faithful. Water quarter of a mile distant. Readers of 1st Book should be consolidated; 4th class read too fast, one very false, out of place, should be in a much lower class. Answers in Geography prompt and correct. Arthmetic excellent.

No. 6. Jas. Yeates and Miss A. Scott. Teachers both capable and faithful, and deeply interested in their work, but some complaints of want of proper discipline,—order deficient in primary department. Reading only fair. 1st class very promising; geography good. In the other department the spelling was good. Reading miserably bad. Children should learn that they have no right to punish their friends who visit their schools by pretending to read in a tone so low and indistinct that only a word is occasionally audible. A 2nd class in Geography is below par. 1st class good; Geo. B. Massey, W. W. Rasin, Edw. A. Scott and Jas. Crouch being excellent. Reading again too fast, with little attention to punctuation and too low to be heard.

1st class in Grammar answer well; 2nd class slow. Class in Latin beginning well to read and translate. Arithmetic, girls deficient, boys answer well, more attention should be given to first principles.—Writing not above average. Geo. B. Massey in Philosophy very thorough. Rooms in good order.

Commissioners present, Messrs. Parr, Rodgers, Scott and of the County Board Mr. Ireland.

No. 7. Miss S. E. Heighe. Clean house, good order and a live school.—Teacher prompt decisive and energetic. 1st Class, Reading: should pay attenion to pauses; a good beginning does not make a bad ending, a bad beginning is not apt to make a good ending. Ready answers given to questions in Grammar. Geograghy very good. Writing fair; 5th Readers, good if more careful of punctuation.

No. 8. Miss M. Taylor. R. F. Moffett commissioner present, also, E. J. Moffett. Teacher young, but judicious. House very clean, order excellent. Spelling and reading good In 5th require attention to pauses. Geography very good; Grammar and Arithmetic good. The School advancing rapidly. No water on the premises.

No. 9. Charles K. Morris Teacher; new school in the Forest, near the line of Del., numbers 26. Studies entirely elementary; from statements of teacher, and the examination, should think the pupils learn well and rapidly, only 4 having ever been in a school, and most of them now beginning to read and write fairly.

General Lee's Unselfishness.

The following reminiscences of General Lee are taken from the Christian Observer, of Richmond, edited by a venerable Presbyterian clergyman. The sobriety, the selfpoise, the unafailing rectitude of intention of the confederate commander have been always as well understood as his military genius.—But the entire unselfishness of the man is not, perhaps, as generally known as we find it illustrated in the following anecdotes. It may be the fashion to endeavor to render such a man odious by the designation of "rebel"—once considered in this country a title of honor; but it may at least be said of him, as of the rebel John Hampden, that "the memory of this deceased officer is such that in no age to come but it will more and more be had in honor and esteem; a man so religious, and of that prudence, judgment, temper, valor and integrity that the hath left few his like behind him." Gen. Moltke has lately said that the great man is tested, and especially tested, by adversity. We see below how Gen. Lee has borne this fiery proof of virtue. Whilst those who call him "rebel" were revelling in his estate in tne name of patroitism, and while his consequent impoverishmert and that of his family held out powerful inducements to receive any honest assistance which might be tendered him here, is what he does—an example of disinterestedness, selfsacrifice, and heroic personal independence which it would be well for the country if any parallel to it could be found among those who revile him:

[From the Christian Observer.]

The example of the late General Lee in refusing all gifts and declining to receive compensation for services not rendered, is worth more to his country and to all who follow it, than millions in gold. The facts here stated will not be forgotten:

In the winter of 1864 the city council of Richmond tendered Gen. Lee an elegant mansion as some small token of the nigh estimate in which he was held by the city which he had so long defended. But the grand old man replied: "I do not expect to be in Richmond during the countinance of the war, and my family are as comfortable as they have a right to expect to be in these times. I must, therefore, with many thanks for your consideration, most respectfully decline your offer.. If you have money to give, I hope you will bestow it upon my private soldiers, who are more needy and more deserving than myself."

At the close of the war offers of pecuniary assistance poured in upon him from all sides, but he steadfastly refused to receive them. An English nobleman, thinking he would rejoice in some place of retreat from his afflictions, wrote to offer him a splendid country seat and a handsome annuity. He nobly replied, "I am deeply grateful, but I cannot consent to desert my native State in the hour of her deep adversity. I must abide her fortune and share her fate."

Soon after he took charge of Washington College he was visited by the agent of an insurance company, who offered him the presidency at a salary of ten thousand dollars. He told the agent that he could not properly attend to both. "But, General," said the agent, "we do not want you to discharge any duties. We simply wish the use of your name; that will abundantly compensate us."

"Excuse me, sir," was the prompt and decided rejoinder. "I cannot consent to receive pay for services I do not render."

He received many offers of this sort, and just a short time before his death a large manufacturing company in New Yord offered him a salary of fifty thousand dollars a year if he would become their president.—But to all such offers he had the same reply—his duty in the college fully occupied his time, and he would not receive pay where he did not render service. He refused to receive from the college anything like so large a salary as they desired to pay him, and when last year, the trustees decded to Mrs. Lee a house and annuity of three thousand dollars, the General respectfully declined, on Mrs. Lee's behalf, to accept it. He declined all gratuities, and though a loving people, for whom he had toiled so heroically, would joyously have settled on him a handsome property, he preferred to earn his daily bread by his personal exertion, and to give his people an example of honest industry.

☞ The proposed procession of the Irish Orange Societies of New York has been made the occasion for stirring up the bitter animosities of the two Irish factions. Not only have the Radical journals done everything that laid within their power to strengthen the feud, but they have done it deliberately, and with a set purpose to promote religious discord for the advancement of political ends. For some time past it has been obvious to the Radical politicians at the North that unless some new and starling issues could be devised, the Democrats would, in all probability, carry the next Presidential election. Diatribes against Southern rebels had become stale and wearisome. The most startling revelations concerning alleged Ku-Klux outrages were beginning to be regarded either as gross exaggerations or mendacious fabrications. It was evident that something must be done to revive the waning fortunes of the party. The political power of the Labor Reformers has not developed itself as yet to any great extent outside of Massachusetts, and it is also doubtful whether the men composing that organization would rally to the support of a political party that has favored rich mining and manufacturing, and railroad corporations, to the prejudice of the working classes, and has burthened the latter with taxes, from which the holders of United States bonds are exempted.

Had the annual procession of the Orangemen been suffered quietly to take its usual course, the fighting to which it might have led could easily have been quelled by the police authorities, forewarned as they were by the sanguinary riot last year, and, therefore, prepared to act efficiently. But Radical politicians and Radical journals saw in this Anglo-Irish demonstration an opportunity for mischief. They knew that if New York city and State, and among Northern sectarians generally, there was a strong anti-Catholic feeling, and by encouraging the Orangemen to parade, and by thus exciting the passions of the Southern Irish against their Northern and Protestant fellow-countrymen, but, hereditary enemies, they have sought to initiate that anti-Catholic movement to which recent events abroad have given strength. As an evidence that this was one of the objects contemplated, we give the following telegram, sent over the wires yesterday, and published elsewhere in our columns this morning:

"A PROTESTANT LEAGUE.

"NEW YORK, July 12.—The following is said to be in circulation for signatures:

"In view of recent and probably future events the immediate organization of a society to be known as the Protestant League of America, headquarters in New York city, with affiliated societies throughout the United States, is recommended. For this purpose, and properly to consider the immediate event that gives rise to this suggestion, let public meetings be called at once in this city and elsewhere. The claims of Roman Catholicism are incompatible with civil and religious liberty."

Here, then, we have a bold and open avowal that the time has come for an anti-Catholic crusade, and an effort is also making to revive former prejudices against naturalized citizens. As evidence of this, we reproduce the following telegram, sent from New York yesterday, and of course furnished to all the newspapers connected with the Associated Press throughout the country:

"THE KNOW-NOTHINGS REVIVED.

"Early yesterday notices were sent to many surviving members of the old Know-Nothing times and places for the revival of the organization. It is understood over six thousand names were enrolled for these organizations yesterday."

It is apparent that the weak and vacillating course of the New York municipal authorities has tended greatly to further the schemes of the Radicals. If Governor HOFFMAN, as soon as it became evident that serious trouble was pending, had issued a bold and vigorous proclamation declaring that the Orange procession should be protected by all the power of the city and State, he would have baffled the devices of those who seek to make political capital out of a feud which has now existed for nearly two centuries. When the order of Superintendent KELSO prohibiting the parade was revoked, and the proclamation of the Governor was issued, the effect of it was measurbly lost. The Radical journals had already inflamed the passions of the Hibernians and the Orangemen to the highest pitch, and steps had evidently been taken to organize a political-religious party—anti-Catholic and Know-Nothing—on the basis of a quarrel between two Irish factions, hating each other as Celts only can hate. The passionate fervor with which the quarrel has been kept up, from generation to generation, is deplorable enough; but the uses which unscrupulous politicians are seeking to make of it are as base as they are despicable.—Baltimore Gazette.

LOCAL SCRAPS FROM EASTERN SHORE EXCHANGES.

CECIL COUNTY.

Mr. Oliver McCullough was killed by the cars on Thursday of last week while attempting to cross the track in his carriage, at Elk Neck crossing. He was struck in the head and instantly killed; the horse was left standing by the track unhurt.

QUEEN ANNE'S COUNTY.

The Observer of Tuesday says:

The track of the Queen Anne's and Kent Railroad, it was expected, would reach Mr. Cook's meadow bridge, about three-quarters of a mile from Centreville, yesterday. If no unexpected delay occurs, the road will reach here the latter part of this or the first of next week.

Some early peaches have been shipped from this county to Philadelphia and Baltimore, bringing from $2 to $2.50 per box.

TALBOT COUNTY.

The Teachers' Institute commenced Monday at the Court House, with a large attendance of teachers. A. Chaplain, Esq., the County Examiner, opened the sessions with an address of welcome.

The Star describing the incidents of the fourth at Oxford, says:

A party of young men from Delaware got pretty well fuddled before taking passage in the cars at Clayton. By the time they reached Oxford they were awfully dry. They at once made for the Oxford House, an eight by ten single story, kept by a man of immense proportions, who fills about one-fourth of it himself, and whose business it is to deal out the "Blue Head" promiscuously "without regard to race, color, or previous condition of servitude." On the 4th he took a "new departure," and vigorously poured in from the pump as he drew out at the spiggot. The Clayton boys entered in force, and "fought the tiger" manfully all day, and by the time the whistle sounded in the evening for the cars to go, they had drunk themselves perfectly sober. They appeared much astonished at the result of their adventure, and as they slowly departed, they repeatedly turned around to look back, shaking their heads mockingly, as good as to say, "old fellow, we'll try you again another time."

WORCESTER COUNTY.

The Messenger says: At a meeting of the Stockholders of the Eastern Shore Railroad held on Tuesday of this week, at Princess Anne, the old board of Directors was re-elected, and Dr. George R. Dennis, chosen President of the company. The Hon. John W. Crisfield, has for many years been the President of the Company, and by almost unparalled energy and sagacity, and untiring devotion to the cause rendered the enterprise a possible success. The road in a great measure its existence to Mr. Crisfield, and there can be little doubt that he has never hesitated to sacrifice his private interest to the advancement of his pet scheme of local internal improvement.

belonging to Hamilton B. Warren, situated in the Third Election District of Kent county, and containing 70 Acres, more or less.

This farm is situated on the public road leading from Chestertown to Buck Neck Wharf, about 5 miles from Chestertown, and 2 miles from Buck Neck Wharf. It adjoins the lands of Stevenson Constable, Esq., Abraham Hurlock, Esq., and Rev. Wm. B. Walton, and is about 2½ miles from Worton Station on the Kent County Railroad. There is a daily line of steamboats to and from Baltimore to Buck Neck, so that this place has equal facilities for reaching the markets of Baltimore and Philadelphia. It is also convenient to Church, Schools, Mill, and Blacksmith Shop, none of these being distant over 2½ miles.

The soil is a medium quality, rather inclined to loam, with a red clay subsoil, is in good heart and produces fine crops of fruit and cereals. There are

IN FULL BEARING,

from 7 to 8 years old, and

700 Peach Trees, 4 years old,

which give a full yield this year. All these are of the best assorted varieties, were planted and tilled with great care, and are thrifty and flourishing. There are also some of good varieties, and a quarter of an acre of

in full bearing.

THE DWELLING is a substantial Two-story Frame House, with good garret, 3 rooms and a Kitchen down stairs, and 3 rooms on the second floor, all of good size. There is a good pump of water in the yard. The Barn and Stable are under one roof, nearly new, and an excellent building. It is two stories high, and ample for the farm: stable-room for four horses. Corn Crib attached. There is also a good Meat House and Milk House. The fencing is good.

The size of this place, the kind quality of soil, the ample and comfortable buildings, and its facilities to the city markets, make it very desirable to those who wish a farm for either Fruit or Grain raising, and examination is invited.

It will be offered either as a whole or in two parcels, as may seem best on the day of sale.

THE TERMS prescribed by the Decree are as follows: $1,000 to be paid in cash on the day of sale, or in 60 days thereafter, at the option of the Trustee; and the balance in equal instalments in one and two years from the day of sale; the credit payments to be secured by the bond of the purchaser, with security to be approved by the Trustee, and to bear interest from the day of sale. The purchaser to pay for the deed and for all necessary stamps. Possession given January 1st, 1872, but the wheat crop can be seeded at any time desired.

JAS. A. PEARCE, Trustee.

THE DECREE directs the Trustee to give notice to the creditors of the said Hamilton B. Warren to file their claims, with the vouchers thereof, in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Kent County, within four months from the day of sale.
