The Radical County Ticket.

We were unable last week to give even a passing notice of the county ticket the Radicals of Kent have placed in the field. It is made up of the following amalgamation: For State Senator, George B. Westcott; House of Delegates, Richard Turner, Daniel Diehl; Sheriff, Wm. H. Hamilton; Orphans' Court, Isaac Parsons, Norris Barnard and Bartus Trew; County Commissioners, John N. Usilton, James T. Willis, Thomas J. F. Smith; Surveyor, Joseph Turner. A portion of this ticket is composed of men who have been and are Radical Republicans in principle and while they differ from us politically, we are willing to concede not only their privilege but their honesty of purpose, and they have our respect. Another portion of the ticket is composed of men who are Radicals neither at heart or by conviction, but whose desire for office, or vanity for public position, has led them to accept a place which we doubt not secures them the respect of neither party. But let it not be supposed that these men, if elected, will not carry out the wishes of their Radical allies. The same vanity or greed which prompts them to accept office will make them do the behests of their party with the hope of maintaining their places.

This element in the Radical ticket which has introduced the word "Union" into the name of the party in Kent, is a mere sop to the prejudices of a considerable number of anti-radical voters who have not yet outlived their old dislike to the name of democracy. But the intelligence of the Democratic Conservative party of Kent is, happily, not to be caught by such weak schemes as this. The men who can turn a penny or shave a piece of paper successfully, cannot generally lead a multitude or satisfy the masses of their uninterested patriotism.

After long and laborious consultations this ticket has been constructed mainly with a view to breaking the Democratic strength in Kent. It is hoped that the several combinations may enable some one or more of their candidates to be run in and thus make an entering wedge for future success two years hence when all the more important offices of the county are to be filled. Whatever can be accomplished by activity and constant vigilance will be accomplished, and our Democratic Conservative people must throw off the confidence and listlessness which seems to prevail to some extent. Remember, the battle is not always with the strong; but often with the active, the vigilant, and brave. Let Democrats remember the feast which is being prepared for them is not only repulsive to their feelings and education, but it endangers the peace of our State. The white race in Maryland will not quietly submit to be governed by a subordinate and lately slave population. We want no re-enactment on Maryland soil of the outrages which have been perpetrated all through the late seceded States because of their negro governments.

General Blair at Montgomery.

General Blair who is one of the Sub-Ku-Klux Committee, made a speech at Montgomery, on the 20th inst. The following is an extract therefrom:

Now, my fellow-citizens, to my view the future does not look gloomy, even under the losses we have suffered this summer and autumn. I have not a single feeling of despondency. It is well understood that the Republican party contains in itself seeds of discontent, of bitterness, of rivalry and disaffection, and it is natural in these preliminary elections that those who antagonize the nomination of General Grant should attempt to hold their position within their party in order that their influence may be used to defeat his nomination will not be defeated, at least that is my solemn conviction; that he is now dictator in the Republican party, and that he aspires to be in the country at large. I believe that he will dictate his own nomination, but then I know that some of the most conspicuous, able and courageous men who stand highest in the Radical party will leave the Republican party when Grant is nominated.—Burn their ship when they fail to defeat him for the nomination and they will take good pains to defeat his re-election.

And again, instead of going for a new departure, I would prefer to go for a man who represents the new departure. I would prefer to give that guarantee to the disaffected Republicans, rather than to go back upon my own principles. I would prefer to make a choice of republicans, and go for a man who should be nominated by the disaffected Republicans, or what would be better, one who might be nominated by the Democracy, and thus draw to us, by a much stronger guarantee than the mere words of a platform, the support of those who are disaffected with Grant and the Radical party. In other words, I don't see that we go back on our principles in making a choice between candidates, neither of whom may suit us. We could all vote for a republican who was in favor of universal amnesty, against the Ku-Klux bills, and against the military laws.

Why, the most ancient Bourbon in the State of Alabama could vote for such a Republican in preference to U. S. Grant, and hold all the time to his very heart all that there would be of his Bourbonism. My fellow-citizens, the State of Virginia has adopted this policy. That State which furnished the illustrious statesmen and illustrious warriors who were the foremost in the struggle for our independence; that State which gave to us a long line of illustrious Presidents; that State which, in our unfortunate war, after guiding the councils of the nation for so many years, furnished the heroes and statesmen of the Southern Confederacy; that State which not even Radical reconstruction could subject to a scallawag or carpet-bagger; that State which was cleft in twain by the Radical Congress, to add to their power by duplicating its representatives in the Senate, in order to oppress the South, and which the wise sons of Virginia have erected into two fortresses for the defence of their country. Shall the Democracy of the South fail to follow the counsels of the Old Dominion? Why, we have taken hold of an example in Missouri. Trammeled with election laws and disfranchised, we have risen and rent the bonds which bound us, and I believe that the State of Missouri will at the next Presidential election give a larger majority than any other State for the candidate of the Democratic party. The men of foreign birth who have come here are neither of the North nor the South; they are not identified with any one section of our country in the sense in which those who are native born are identified with the particular section in which they were born: they come and are made citizens of the whole country, and all parts of it, and while upon the question which recently divided us they sided with the North, it is natural that they should do so because naturally they looked upon this country as one and indivisable, and now with the same sentiment in their hearts they cannot see why one section of the country should be subjected to the other. In my judgment these are the men to whom we have to look in the coming struggle.—They have come from countries where despotism is practiced, and they know its badges and signs better than we do who have never known them.

They know the subtile manner in which tyranny will make its approach, and already recognizing it, the leading man, the ablest representative of our adopted citizens, is now proclaiming his hostility to Grant and his Administration, declaring in the face of the world that he has taken his departure and burned his ships. I do not think that any one will fail to recognize the description. I speak of my colleague in the Senate Carl Schurz. He it was, my fellow-citizens, who led the entire German element of the State of Missouri to break down the disfranchising clause of our Constitution, and arrayed his fellow-countrymen as one man against the Administration, and despising the offices of Grant, despising his patronage and power, resolved to preserve that free love which America had given to him and his countrymen. Now, my fellow-citizens, the Germans in Missouri, although Republicans almost to a man, have always voted against disfranchising those who were opposed to them during the war.

They needed no instruction on that point from anybody, and they resolutely maintained the doctrine that neither Congress nor the States could by a bill of attainder deprive men of the right of suffrage,—They maintained that position in the last contest through which we passed in Missouri; they hold it good against the blandishments and threats of the Administration; they stand firmly and squarely today, solidly to the last man, against all disfranchisement and for universal amnesty; they are opposed to this Ku-Klux legislation [loud applause] against the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, and in my judgment, if the Democratic party will now, instead of the adoption of any 'new departure,' put forward a man as the candidate of the party, or accept one who may be put forward by others, who is sound on these principles, he will receive the support of the entire German vote in the United States, numbering as I have been informed, from 500,000 to 800,000 men.

Convicts and the Elective Franchise.

The committee of the registers of voters of Baltimore city appointed to wait upon the Attorney General of this State and procure his opinion on the subject of the right of convicts to vote after having served out their term of imprisonment has received the annexed response from that officer, determining against such right, under which, of course, such parties will not be registered:

STATE OF MARYLAND.
ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE.
Baltimore, Oct. 23, 1871.

To the Officers of Registration for Baltimore City: In reply to the request for my opinion whether or not persons who had been convicted of larceny or other infamous crime before the constitution of 1867 went into operation and not pardoned by the Governor, are entitled to be registered as legal voters if otherwise qualified, I have the honor to state that I have carefully considered the question as one of constitutional construction, and am of opinion that such persons are not so entitled. In arriving at this conclusion I have carefully considered the disqualification introduced into the constitution of 1851, and copied, in almost identical terms, into the constitutions of 1864 and 1867. I have also considered the several acts providing for a registration of voters, and especially the constitutional provision upon this subject contained in the 5th section of the 1st article of the constitution of 1867, and the acts of 1868 and 1870, passed in pursuance of that section.

I think it must be apparent that for twenty years, it has been the well-considered and settled policy of the State to exclude from the elective franchise, as morally unfit for its high trust, the class of persons in question. Courts, in construing even ordinary acts of legislation, do not favor repeals by implication. They do not allow them unless the implication be inevitable. In Manly vs. The State, 7 Maryland, page 135, in construing the meaning of a constitution, the Court of Appeals held that not a single clause, but the whole constitution must be considered together; that the words used must be taken in their common acceptation, in which they are presumed to have been understood by the framers and the people who adopted it; that the people adopted it by the meaning apparent upon its face, according to the general use of the words employed, where they do not appear to have been used in a legal and technical sense. Applying these and other well-settled rules of constitutional construction, I am clearly of the opinion that the true intent and meaning of the constitution of 1867 upon the point in question was and is to continue in full force existing disqualifications, and to disqualify also all those who should subsequently be convicted.

That this was the intent and meaning of the farmers of the constitution and of those who adopted it, is, I think, apparent from the provisions of the 5th section of the 1st article, continuing in force, until altered by the Legislature, the registry of voters and the law existing on the 1st day of June, 1867, and adding the following: "And the registry of voters made in pursuance thereof may be corrected, as provided in said law, but the names of all persons shall be added to the list of qualified voters by the officers of registration who have the qualifications prescribed in the 1st section of this article, and who are not disqualified under the provisions of the 2d and 3d sections thereof." Although the 2d section, by itself, might be construed to include existing as well as prospective disqualifications, and the 3d section, literally, to include only those who should be subsequently convicted, yet the terms used in the 5th section quite as clearly indicate that the framers contemplated persons already disqualified under the provisions of those sections, who could be those only who had already been convicted under like provisions of the former constitutions of 1851 and 1864.

Very respectively and truly,
ISAAC D. JONES

TRUSTEE'S SALE

OF

Valuable Property

IN THE

VILLAGE OF SASSAFRAS,

Kent Co., Maryland.

BY virtue of a Deed of Assignment from Darius E. Burton and a Decree of the Circuit Court for Cecil county, the undersigned, Trustees, will offer at Public Sale, on

SATURDAY,
The 11th day of November, 1871,
at 1 o'clock, P. M., on the premises,

All those Four Lots of Land in the aforesaid village of Sassafras, three of which said Lots were conveyed to said D. E. Burton by Stephen B. Lofland and wife by three several deeds dated, respectively, 20th March, 1860, the 10th October, 1861, and and the 24th March, 1864, and the fourth conveyed to said Burton by John D. Vansant and wife, by deed dated 16th of April, 1864, all of said deeds recorded among the Land Records of Kent county aforesaid. These Lots lie adjacent to each other and contain, in the aggregate, about

Three Quarters of an Acre of land, more or less, and are improved as follows: Nos. 1, 2 and 4 by a two-story

FRAME DWELLING HOUSE,

containing in all 9 rooms, one of which is occupied as a STORE ROOM, the stand being an excellent one for business; there is also a Carriage House and Stable with large Garden attached to this portion. No. 3 is improved by a two-story FRAME DWELLING HOUSE,  containing 8 rooms. This lot fronts on the road leading to Middletown in the State of Delaware, and is a pleasant residence.

The Trustees reserve the right to offer this property separately and as a whole as they may deem most advisable on the day of sale.

THE TERMS OF SALE as prescribed by the decree require one half of the purchase money to be paid in cash on the day of sale. The other half to be paid in six months from the day of sale, and to be secured by the bond of the purchaser, with approved security, bearing interest from the day of sale. Stamps and legal papers at the expense of the purchaser.

DANIEL BRATTEN,
ALBERT CONSTABLE,
Oct. 21, 1871—tds. Trustees.

CAUTION.

ALL persons are hereby cautioned against trespassing on the premises of either of the undersigned, with dog or gun, after this date. D. C. BLACKISTON,
W. H. FAULKNER.
October 21, 1871—3t.

$200 REWARD.

BY order of the County Commissioners of Kent County, I am directed to offer a reward of Two Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction of Alexander Newton, charged with the murder of Robert Hackett, near Massey's, in Kent county, on or about the twenty-ninth of May last.

R. W. CALDER,
Sheriff of Kent county.
October 21, 1871—3t.

ROAD EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

THE undersigned, Examiners, appointed by the Honorable County Commissioners of Kent county, to examine and determine whether the public convenience requires the OPENING OF A [illegible]ROAD,

in the Fourth Election District, [illegible] county, through the lands of Tho[illegible]nson, William Morris and Stephen Lecates, commencing at the division line between Dr. J. A. Perkins and Wm. N. E. Wickes, and running on through the lands of the above named persons, until it intersects the public road leading from Chestertown to Worton, at or near the public school house on the corner of said Lecates' farm, and to continue the said road, if deemed advisable, across the county until it intersects the new road at the corner of the late Wm. T. Baker's farm, on the Belair road,—hereby give notice, that they will meet on Wednesday, November 14th,

1871, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the School House near Mr. Stephen Lecates' gate, to prosecute the duties of their commission.

JAMES P. DECORSE,
ISAAC PARSONS,
ROBERT E. WALLIS,
