

The Farmers' Column.

From the American Farmer.

Farm Manure and Compost.

In all farm management and continued culture of the soil, fertilizers of some sort are required, in order to replace elements withdrawn in the course of cropping. The first record we have, indicates that the excrements of animals were the first used for this purpose; and from that time down animal manure has been the main reliance for fertilizing the soil. The negligent, not to say wasteful, culture of a virgin soil begets habits hard to overcome, and, as in the case of the older-settled States of our country, the soil has been greatly reduced, exhausted in its capacity of production, till now our animal manure is insufficient for our farm purposes, or at least we find it so under our present management of it. There can be but little doubt but that with a proper system every farm might be self-sustaining; but few have reached that point, so that the majority must draw from other sources, and what those sources shall be is a constant study. Farm manure never fails in giving good results to all farm products; this may be increased in quantity with scarcely any deterioration, oftentimes proving more effectual than the mere excrements of the animals. By composting all the animal manures and wastes of the farm, about the buildings and elsewhere, an indefinite increase of the farm manure may be made; this involves labor, but without labor we can expect nothing from the ground. Everything that can be transformed into plant food must be saved and composted; composting supposes decomposition, decay, transformation, putting the matter in form to part with its elementary principles, free to enter into new forms. Muck, peat, earth, are the best absorbents, and, used in connection with decaying substances absorb whatever elements they part with, hold them, if kept under cover, till applied to the soil where the elements or plants withdraw or wash out these principles. There are other resources from which we can draw, the products of which prove quite as effectual when added to, as animal or farm manure; that is, from the waters of the earth; as much goes from our soil to the ocean, it is no more than just that we should draw some of it back. Fish make one of the best manures, properly treated, and are much used and with excellent results. We have what is called "Fish Guano," which we believe to be the cheapest manufactured fertilizer the market affords. This consists of all the solid refuse of fish after being steamed and pressed to extract the oil; the refuse put up in barrels as it leaves the press, without any admixture, consists principally of phosphates and nitrogenous material, in its raw state unfit to apply for any crop, but, composted with other material and allowed to ferment, it becomes one of the best manures for almost all farm crops. In our experience with this we find the best way of management is first to form a bed or layer of five or six inches of muck, peat or turf, on this a layer of an inch or thereabouts of fish, a sprinkling of plaster—gypsum—and then a few inches of farm manure, and thus alternate, topping off with muck and a sprinkling of plaster over the whole. Let it lie until it begins to smoke and heat, then fork it over, mixing as thoroughly as possible, adding more plaster as the pile is built up; care must be exercised that the heap is not allowed to heat too hot before overhauling. Usually once overhauling is sufficient if pains are taken when the compost is hauled out to fine and mix it; and about three weeks is sufficient time for it to get in the right state for application after first composting, provided the weather is comfortably warm.

PRACTICAL.

☞ It is the opinion of a prominent farmer of our county that wheat is the best paying crop; here is testimony on the other side. The Cecil Whig, of last Saturday, says:

Mr. J. C. Murray a few years since purchased a poor run-down farm in the neighborhood of Bay View, and removed from the city of Wilmington to it. Last year he raised seventy-five bushels of corn to the acre on a field that had been in corn the year before. The first crop which was on a grass sod turned under, was as large as the yield last season. We may here state that no extra manure was put upon the ground to produce the second crop, a heavy coat of bones having been spread upon the land when plowed for the first crop. Mr. Murray's system of farming is to seed down his stock ground in oats and sow clover seed with the oats, and give the land a heavy coat of bones or lime. He raises no timothy, which is an exhausting grass on land, and feeds to stock all the hay and coarse provender raised on the farm. He studiously avoids close pasturing, and allows much of the grass to rot on the land. By liberal manuring and the cultivation of clover, this farm has been brought to a state of fertility which is capable of producing two crops of corn in succession, averaging seventy five bushels to the acre. And this result has been achieved in a few years on land which had been run down to the starvation point. Mr. Murray has found wheat to be the poorest paying crop produced by the farmer, (in fact it puts him in debt is his experience,) and has consequently abandoned it entirely. This is in brief the experience of one practical man who had faith in manure investments. A man who has a farm that he can take seventy-five bushels of corn per acre from, for two successive crops, is better off than he would be with fifty dollars per acre deposited in bank and a poor worn-out place.

☞ A little boy of six summers was sent one morning to call his grandfather to breakfast. The old gentle was in the habit of snoring very hard, and as the boy pushed open the door, he was frightened of the unusual noise. He rushed back to his mother exclaiming, "Ma, grandpa's been barking at me!"

THE SUSQUEHANNA.

At the name of the Ganges
The Brahmin will bend,
And Egypt may worship
Her Nile as divine,
And the heart of the German
Its fullness may rend,
As in exile and anguish,
He dreams of the Rhine.

The student, who lingers
And lives in the past,
May muse by the side
Of some river of old,
Where genius its spells
Of enchantment has cast,
And heroes seem ready
To start from the mould.

But mine be the stream
By no legend renowned,
Save of love and of sorrow,
One exquisite tale,°
Where the muse not a flower
For her chaplet has found,
But the rose that was withered
In Wyoming's vale.

For a sweeter than Gertrude,
When love shed his rays
Most divinely around her,
Hath dwelt on its shore,
Though there but in memory,
No longer she strays,
When the silver of moonlight
Has mantled it o'er.

As the favored of fortune,
Whose hopes have been crowned
With riches that leave him
No room to repine,
Still visits, in visions,
The spot where he found
A diamond—the wonder
And wealth of the mine;

So, sweet Susquehanna,
My heart turns to thee,
Where the current of light,
Through its green islands gleams,
The moon's softened lustre
In fancy I see,
And the flush of thy sunsets
Illumines my dreams.

Yet, swiftly the gold-hued
Pictures depart;
For, why should the past
From the present beguile,
When she, who like morning,
Arose on my heart,
Is lighting it still,
With the moon of her smile.

°Campbell's "Gertrude of Wyoming."

Courting in Right Style.

"Get out, you nasty puppy—let me alone, or I'll tell my ma!" cried out Sallie ——, to her lover, Jake ——, who sat about ten feet from her, pulling dirt from the chimney jam.

"I arn't techin' on you, Sal," responded Jake.

"Well, perhaps you don't mean to, nuther—do you?"

"No, I don't."

"Cause you are too tarnal scary, you long-legged, lantern-jawed, pigeon-toed, slab-sided, gangle-kneed owl, you—you hain't got a tarnal bit o' sense, get along home with you."

"Now, Sal, I love you, and I can't help it, and if you don't let me stay and court you, my daddy will sue your'n for that cow he sold him t'other day. By jingo, he said he'd do it."

"Well, look here, Jake—if you want to court me, you'd better do it as a white man does that thing—not set off there as if you thought I was pizen."

"How on earth is that, Sal?"

"Why slide right up here and hug and kiss me, as if you really had some of the bone and sinner of a man about you. Do you 'spose a woman's only made to look at, you stupid fool you?"

"Well," said Jake, drawing a long breath, "if I must, for I love you, Sal;" and so Jake commenced sliding up to her like a maple porker going to battle. Laying his arm gently upon Sal's shoulder, we thought we heard Sal say,

"That's the way to do it, old hoss; that is acting like a white man orter."

"Oh, Jerusalem and pancakes!" exclaimed Jake, "if this ain't better than any apple sauce ever marm made, a darned sight. Crack-e-e! buckwheat cakes, flapjacks and 'lasses ain't no where 'long side of you, Sal! Oh! how I do love you!" Here their lips came together, and the report that followed was like pulling a horse's hoof out of the mud.

A Grim Joke.

The following is told concerning a New Orleans practical jokist, called Joe:

"One of Joe's latest jokes was played off upon a stranger who came into New Orleans by the Jackson train during the recent yellow fever scare. The cars had emptied out their cargo of passengers, and one greenish, country-looking chap stood apart from the crowd, with carpet-bag in hand, evidently at a loss as to what he should do with himself He had not stood long before Joe "went for him."

"Five feet nine high; two feet eleven across the breast, and eighteen inches through," said Joe, looking the new arrival straight in the face, not cracking a smile, and drawing from his pocket a tape line with which he was about to verify his estimated measurement.

"What do you mean, sir?" eagerly inquired the stranger.

"Why it's all right," said Joe, putting the tape-line back in his pocket; "you measure five feet nine by two feet eleven by eighteen. I'll be ready for you by 9 o'clock in the morning."

"What have you to do with my measurement, sir? What are you driving at, sir?" inquired the countryman, excitedly and angrily.

"Why, you see," said Joe, "I'm the city undertaker, and the yellow fever is killing the strangers off so rapidly that I have to get their measures as they come into the city If I didn't, you see, sir, the dead bodies would accumulate on my hands."

"At this an unusual pallor came over the features of the countryman; his whole body was in a quiver, and turning to the baggage-master, he said:

Look here, mister! Check my baggage back up the road. I goes home by the next train."

☞ "I say, Tom, what did you clear by that stock speculation?"

"Clear," said Tom, "why, I cleared my pockets."

THE EUREKA FANNING MILL.

The Greatest Invention OF THE 19th CENTURY!

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every other Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public. It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and he now believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras, EUREKA, signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements, to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention.

It combines Utility, Economy and Practicability!

THE EUREKA MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented. It is the only Mill that will successfully remove from wheat such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c.

Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of; for nearly one-quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a short time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,
Chestertown, Md.,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of NOLAND & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee they will be put up in the very best manner.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL — PURELY — CALIFORNIA — DR. WALKER'S — VINEGAR BITTERS

R. Walker, Proprietor. R. H. McDonald & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal. and 32 Commerce St., N.Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tipsler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.
