Orphans' Court.—Tuesday, Nov. 12th. Present, Judges Beck and Scott.

The Court passed a number of claims against the estates of deceased parties.

On application, Charlotte S. Wethered was appointed guardian to her minor children. Jacob Highley and William Welch were appointed to view and estimate the annual rental value of the real estate of said minor children.

Letters of administration on the estate of James W. Skirven, late of Kent county, deceased, were granted to John T. Skirven, (the parties entitled having first renounced,) who gave bond with William P. Francis, Thomas Gale and Samuel Beck, as sureties. The usual notice to creditors was ordered.

Thomas P. Dixon, administrator of Mary F. Sappington, returned his first and final administration account.

The Court having under consideration the petition of Sarah E. Warner, of Baltimore city, against Richard Hynson, administrator of Samuel W. Canady, late of Kent county, deceased, directed the following order to be recorded among the proceedings of the Court:

Ordered, In the matter of the petition of Sarah E. Warner, against Richard Hynson, Esq., administrator of Samuel W. Canady, deceased. This Court having considered fully and deliberately the proof taken in the cause and the argument of counsel; do dismiss the petition because of the failure of the petitioner to prove that she is in the circumstances contemplated by sec. 140, article 93, page 648 of vol. 1, of the Code of Public General Laws. But inasmuch as the Court are satisfied from the evidence before them that Sarah E. Warner, the petitioner, is the legitimate issue of William Y. Pearce, (and that William Y. Pearce was the half brother of Samuel W. Canady,) and will be entitled at the proper time to share in the distribution of the personal estate of the said Samuel W. Canady We being satisfied that after paying all the just debts of the said Samuel W. Canady there will be a considerable fund for distribution among the parties thereto entitled; do adjudge and determine that the whole costs accrued by the said petition and the proceedings thereunder, be paid by Richard Hynson, Esq., out of the personal estate of the said intestate, including the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars to James Clephane (the stenographer) for services in taking testimony, and the further sum of sixty dollars to W. F. Massey, for attending on Court and writing out testimony.

Attendance at School.

The importance of the pupil's regular attendance at school is not appreciated by some parents It is a mistake to suppose that the loss caused by non-attendance at school is only equal to the number of days absent. The pupil who is frequently absent, will not acquire the fixbits of study necessary in order to profit by the instructions given. Besides, if he come to school only when there is no other place for him to go, he will not be likely to have much interest in anything connected with it, and will pay no attention to his studies while at home.

Very frequently the intelligent understanding of a lesson depends upon what was, or should have been learned before. Failing in that, he labors to a great disadvantage; the instruction is to him a broken chain; there is a missing link. He can not keep pace with the class, he becomes discouraged, and is a hindrance to the other members. A boy will learn more in attending twenty days consecutively, than in twice the number extending through a period of four or five months.

A person will be much better prepared to teach successfully if he knew that he has the hearty co-operation of the parents. But when he sees the children allowed to stay at home for every little pretext (for he will know without asking why they stay at home,) he is forced to conclude that the parents care very little whether the children come or not, that they deem anything he can teach of very little importance; he must have a tender conscience, or he will relapse into a mere hearer of lessons, doing just sufficient to insure his salary, and no more. The Lesson of the Election---Letter from Hon. Montgomery Blair.

Col. Wm. H. Boyle, Corresponding Secretary of the Liberal Republican Central Club, Baltimore, Md.—Dear Colonel: Yours of the 1st inst., inviting me to address your club, did not reach me until the 6th inst. I regret that I did not receive it in time to comply with the request Please let the Club know why I did not respond sooner.

You may also say that I am not discouraged, although at first surprised and disappointed, at the result of the election. I had been led by the assurances of friends throughout the country, and particularly in the West, to hope for a different result. I am not discouraged, however, because I have felt throughout the canvass that the real nature of the contest was but imperfectly understood by the people, and that those organs of the party which had the power to present the true issue failed to do so.

At the outset, I learned from an authentic source that the money organization of the country had concerted to make a vigorous war on Mr. Greeley. This fact I communicated immediately to the editor of the New York Tribune, giving him the source of my information, which was of a character to prove the conspiracy beyond all controversy. But if the correctness of my information could have been doubted, it was not long before it was verified in the enormous sums of money lavished on the preliminary elections in North Carolina, Maine, Pennsylvania, &c.

There could not be more conclusive evidence of the aggressive nature of the money power than this money war on Mr. Greeley affords. He was a protective tariff man, and had been the champion of the bondholders, of the national banking system, of the national railroads, &c. His nomination was a perfect guarantee for all their rights, and if nothing more was required than security to existing rights, there was no reason for their onslaught on Mr. Greeley. But it is not in the nature of such an organization to be content with tolerance by the political power; nothing short of control will satisfy it. Hence, when Mr. Greeley pronounced for an early resumption of specie payments, a measure highly distasteful to the money organization, he was denounced on 'change as an unsafe man, and war against him was resolved on. And it was carried on with such unscrupulous rigor that the liberal movement, which in July was an acknowledged success, was soon thereafter checked and finally crushed.

Why was this? I answer, because the war thus inaugurated was not met by the controlling liberal press. We did not strike back at the power that destroyed us. We still went on criticising the civil service and the foreign and domestic policy of the administration, exposed the corruption of the "carpet baggers," of the customs officers and other officials, denounced the policy of hate towards the South, the "Credit Mobilier" scandal, the appointment of judges to revoke the legal-tender decision &c. But this did not meet the war made on our candidate and party by the money power.

We did not show to the people that it was this power, which was now in fact the government, dictating the appointment of its attorneys as judges to construe the law in its favor, and filling Congress and the Executive chair to carry out its will We did not show that it was the money power, and not Grant, that was candidate against us. Had we impressed this on the public mind we could have rallied our forces and won the day. But we did not attempt to do this. How different was the conduct of Jackson under similar circumstances. When his timid friends remonstrated against his making an issue with the money power, he replied that he would make no terms with it, but would appeal to the people to assert their own dignity and liberty in withstanding its attempt to control the government. Had he quailed he would have met the fate of Mr. Greeley. The only wise and patriotic course was that taken by him, to make the issue openly with the money power, and appeal to the people to maintain their rights over the government by sustaining him. Success was far more overwhelming than that now achieved by the money power over its non-combatant opponents

But the government yet will be reduced from the banking, railroads, Credit Mobelier and other parasitical interests which were living upon it during the war to absorb its powers and vitality. These parasitical interests from the nucleus of the radical party, which is in its essence, therefore, a plunder party. Hence, of necessity, we shall have four years more of plunder, the further growth of that miraculous individual wealth witnessed in the last decade, resulting from the perversion of the government to that purpose, and a corresponding progress in the centralization of all the powers of the government. Reform by such an organization would be suicide. All who may attempt it hereafter, like Schurz, Trumbull and others who have heretofore attempted reform within it, will be summarily hustled out of it.

But the liberal party will soon be consolidated. It is now proclaimed in the Tribune that our defeat was wrought by the money power, and the issue between monopoly or despotic rule and the people will hourly became plainer and those who do not share in the spoliation, however timid they may be, will be driven to cooperate, to preserve their liberties and property.

The instinct of self-government is inextinguishable in our race. It has hitherto put down all attempts to erect irresponsible government here, however cunningly contrived, and that, too, when our people were less intelligent and the press less independent We have the numbers already. Notwithstanding its vast majority in the electoral college, the administration is sustained only by a majority of the voters. It holds power only through the division of its opponents, comprising three-fifths, at least, of the white race. Time will develop the true nature of the contest, and compact the opposition, and so restore popular government. Yours, truly,

MONTGOMERY BLAIR.

THE

EUREKA FANNING MILL.

The Greatest Invention

OF THE 19th CENTURY!

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every other Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public. It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and he now believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras, EUREKA, signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements, to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention.

It combines Utility, Economy and Practicability!

THE EUREKA MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented. It is the only Mill that will successfully remove from wheat such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c.

Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of; for nearly one-quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a short time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,

Chestertown, Md.,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of NOLAND & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee they will be put up in the very best manner.
