Orphans' Court.—Tuesday, Dec'r. 3d. Present, Judges Beck, Scott and Hepbron.

The Court passed a number of claims against the estates of deceased parties.

Mary J. Ringgold, executrix of the last will and testament of Thomas W. Ringgold, dec'd., returned an inventory of the personal estate of deceased, and was authorized by the Court to take the same at the appraisement, except the grain on hand.

Letters testamentary were granted to William D. Clark, of New Castle county, Delaware, on the estate in Kent county, Md., of Wm. J. Hurlock, late of New Castle county, Del., dec'd, with George Vickers and Isaac Parsons as sureties, and the usual notice to creditors was ordered.

Letters of administration on the estate of George H. W. Jewell, late of Kent county, dec'd., were granted unto James A. French, (the widow having first renounced) with W. H. French and Eden L. Jewell as sureties. George D. S. Handy and Owen Connelly were appointed to appraise said estate, and the usual notice to creditors ordered.

Rachel M. Clark, admrx. of Joshua Clark, late of Kent county, dec'd., by her attorney, C. H. Baker, returned her final administration account: passed, and ordered to be recorded.

C. J. Scott, executor of Hannah Greenwood, returned his first and final administration account; passed, and ordered to be recorded Ann E. Wilson, guardian to Emma C. and Alice J. Wilson, returned separate guardian accounts for the year 1871: passed, and ordered to be recorded.

Wm. H. French, guardian to Susan R. and Jas. A. French, returned separate guardian accounts: passed, and ordered to be recorded.

The administratrix of Joshua Clark and acting guardian to the minor children of dec'd., was authorized to repair store house at a cost not exceeding $150.

In the matter of the petition of Sarah E. Warner against the estate of S. W Canady, the Court reconsidered its order of November 12th, so far as it relates to the amount allowed to James O. Clephane, stenographer, and he is allowed for his services the sum of two hundred dollars, instead of one hundred and fifty dollars, as allowed in previous order.

A Good Pen of Hogs.—Mr. Owen Connelly, of Shaw's Mill, sends us the following weights of a pen of hogs killed by him this week. They include his entire pen:

1	318	pounds.
1	390½	"
1	401	"
1	426	"
1	459	"
1	403½	"
1	352	"
1	278	"

3,028 pounds.

Average weight 378½ pounds.

Four of these hogs average a fraction over 422 pounds. This is the best show we have seen this Fall. Who can beat it?

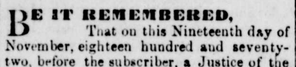

The Graveyard.—A New York lawyer, writing from Edinburgh to the N. Y. Observer, says: "The old burial places of Edinburgh still remain sacred and unharmed. They are kept in beautiful order, and burials are still made in them. A great race of noblemen, gentlemen and scholars of past ages are there sleeping, their dust held as sacred as their memories are in the hearts of the people." While reading this sentence our mind involuntarily reverted to the burial place in our midst where lies the dust of those once dear to many of those now living in our town. If the memories of these departed are held no more sacred than their dust, then it would be best to condemn it for the purposes of streets and building lots and remove it entirel from our memories. The present condition of the burial ground in the very centre of our town is a reflection upon those (if such there be) who have the right to protect it. It is a common grazing lot for such as choose to turn their horses and cattle upon it. Edward Carty, the pump-maker, has a gate near his premises, and he has used the ground as a pasture for his horse during the entire Summer and Fall. He turns his horse in and out in the face of the noonday sun: we have seen him do it. There are others, doubtless, who do the same; in fact, Mr. Carty excused himself once when we spoke to him on the subject, by saying the Dutch horse-doctor did the same. The bricks in the wall are gradually disappearing, and are to be found in chimneys, underpining, and pavements at various points. The place is utterly neglected and forgotten by those who are directly interested, and a reproach to us all. It is a speaking monument of our indifference to all that is mortal of those who have preceded us. Was it in some sequestered spot 'twould perhaps be more excusable, but it is in our very midst, within the shadow of the Church, and guarded on one side by the Halls of Justice. Can it be true that our dead—our illustrious dead—are so soon forgotten? It touches the heart to see the place where all of them that is mortal actually rot.

If no one is interested—none authorized to protect this spot—it should be taken in hand by the proper authorities. The neglect of, the utter disrespect to, the dead who there lie buried, is strange teaching to the rising generation in our midst. And if something is not done to protect it, it should be removed as a public evil. The place, the soil, is unfitted for a burial ground, and in its neglected condition it is a receptacle for offensive matter of the most disgusting character

Silk in California.—The California papers speak in a very encouraging manner of the condition and prospects of the silk industry in that State, and the Alta announces that it has received an impetus, within a year, which promises the speedy erection of factories for the manufacture of this material. One such factory, on a small scale, has already been established in San Francisco, by three practical silk manufactures from Lyons, France, which is the silk market of the world. They have two looms at work, one of which makes taffetas and the other foulard silks. They express themselves as confident that California possesses all the advantages which the most sanguine could desire for the manufacture of silk, and that it will pay larger profits than any other investment. More than $40,000,000 worth of manufactured silks are purchased annually in the United States, in addition to the commoner varieties produced here. California also possesses a great advantage in being able to produce three crops a year, while France produces but two.

REMEMBER! It gives us pleasure to display our goods Call and examine them. C. F. STAM & BRO.

Prospectus for 1873.—Sixth Year.

The Aldine,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World A Representative an Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last Fall, when THE ALDINE assumed its present noble proportions and representative character, the edition was more than doubled during the past year; proving that the American public appreciate, and will support, a sincere effort in the cause of Art The publishers, anxious to justify the ready confidence thus demonstrated, have exerted themselves to the utmost to develop and improve the work; and the plans for the coming year, as unfolded by the monthly issues, will astonish and delight even the most sanguine friends of THE ALDINE.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALDINE will produce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular feature of a copiously illustrated 'Christians' number will be continued.

To possess such a valuable epitome of the art world, at a cost so trifling, will command the subscriptions of thousands in every section of the country; but, as the usefulness and attractions of THE ALDINE can be enhanced, in proportion to the numerical increase of its supporters, the publishers propose to make 'assurance double sure,' by the following unparalleled offer of Premium Chromes for 1873.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled 'The Village Belle,' and 'Crossing the Moor,' are 14 X 20 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. The distribution of pictured of this grade, free to the subscribers to a five dollar periodical, will mark an epoch in the history of Art; and, considering the unprecedented cheapness of the price for THE ALDINE itself, the marvel falls, little short of a miracle, even to those best acquainted with the achievements of inventive genius and improved mechanical appliances. (For illustrations of these chromos, see November issue of THE ALDINE.)

The Literary Department.

will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will serve to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

Terms.

$5 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE, WITH OIL CHROMOS FREE.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter be obtainable only by subscription There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of James Sutton & Co.

CARD.

ON account of a severe spell of sickness, for nearly two months, and now ordered to leave for another climate, I would ask of my many friends not to delay their settlements on account of my absence. We need the money. We have given orders to sell the stock, which is large and complete, at a great discount, and to offer great bargains to repay parties for the trouble of inspection. Gentlemen here on Tuesdays and Thursdays would do well to call and even get samples of bargains to be sold.

Respectfully,
WM. A. VICKERS.
