Orphans' Court.—Tuesday, Dec'r. 17th. Present, Judges Beck, Scott and Hepbron.

The Court passed a number of claims against the estates of deceased parties.

F. N. Sheppard, executor of Wm. Bowker, dec'd., returned an inventory of the personal estate of dec'd., and was authorized to take the same at the appraisement.

Jas. Cohee, admr. of John A. Kennard, was ordered to sell the personal estate of deceased.

James M. Mallalieu, admr. of James M. Lees, returned a list of sales of the personal estate of dec'd.,—received, and ordered to be recorded.

James Skeggs, admr. of Wm. H. Bowman, dec'd., returned an inventory of personal estate of dec'd., and obtained an order for the sale thereof.

Letters of administration on the personal estate of Isabella Briscoe, late of Kent county, deceased, were granted and committed unto George W. Howard, who gave bond with W. T. Hepbron and J. R. Lusby, as sureties, in the penalty of five hundred dollars. The usual notice to creditors was ordered.

The release of Elizabeth Adkinson to B. B. Adkinson, executor of Wm. T Adkinson, was filed and ordered to be recorded.

LARGE SHIPMENTS OF GRAIN.—Messrs. Thompson & Lee and Capt. Taylor are both making efforts to send all grain ordered to market, notwithstanding the ice. They have tugs employed. Thompson & Lee have also a very large barge, and Monday evening last she started from their granary with eight thousand and fifty bushels of grain on board. Unfortunately, owing to the fog, the pilot ran aground, before proceeding half a mile, and it became necessary to take out part of the load. The detention entailed a very heavy expense upon Messrs. Thompson & Lee, and their enterprise should be rewarded by those who have grain to ship.

CONCERT.—A concert will be given at the Hall in Still Pond, for the benefit of the Knights of Pythias, on Friday evening, December 27th. The committee having this entertainment in charge have taken much pains and trouble to make it a creditable affair—and it will, doubtless, amply repay all who may patronize it. The members of the Order throughout the county will of course sustain it.

VENDUES.—To-day William A. Thomas will sell at the Voshell House yard, in Chestertown, twenty-two head of cattle and other personal property.

Monday, December 30th, H. T. Urian, at 'Airy Hill,' will sell four horses, eight cows, and sixteen shotes, with other property.

On the same day, J. J. Hurlock, on the Spry farm, near Chesterville, will sell seven head of horses, also colts, mules, cows, oxen, sheep, shotes, &c., &c.

On Thursday, January 2d, Wm. B. Wilmer will sell eight horses, six cows, forty shotes, six brood sows, farm wagons, &c., &c.

For particulars see advertisements.

DEAR TRANSCRIPT:—One of the difficulties that beset the path of a teacher is the irregular attendance of pupils. As Procrustes lopped off or stretched his victims accordingly, as too long or too short for his couch, so we must act in classifying, restraining the regular attendant and 'stretching' the irregular. Several weeks absence may not justify a removal to a lower class, but he is not fitted to enter a higher, and we cannot multiply classes infinitely. Our profession keeps but little noise in the world, but the silent dew refreshes the earth more than some other more boisterous agents of nature. When the gorgeous Temple was being erected no sound of ax or hammer was heard, but the splendid structure arose which proved that the workmen had not been idle. "Still streams oft water fairest meadows, and the bird that flutters least is longest on the wing." We once heard a gentleman remark that he thought it hard for him to be taxed to support Public Schools when he had no children attending such. This reason is very like that of an Irishman who being aroused by a waiter with the startling news that the hotel was on fire, exclaimed "let her burn, I'm only a boarder." As regards the punishment of a pupil, detaining them at play time is the most efficient, we think, but it is like the revenge which Samson took upon his foes, crushing his head with the fall of the edifice. Yours, A TEACHER.

Death of Edward A. Pollard.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 17.—Edward A. Pollard, the editor and author, died in Lynchburg yesterday evening, aged 45 years. Mr. Pollard distinguished himself especially as a writer in editorial association with the late John M. Daniel, of the Examiner. He has written several works on the late war which are remarkable for the severity with which the chief political leaders of the South are criticised. Mr. Pollard's health had been failing for several years past.

☞ The resignation of Vice-President Colfax, preparatory to his taking hold of the New York Tribune as managing editor, is now generally believed to be "a fixed fact." Although it is an axiom in office-holding that "few die, and none resign," Colfax proposes to change all that, and set a worthy example to posterity, in giving up feeding at the public crib, where he has been so tenderly cared for during many eventful years. It may be that he has come to the sensible conclusion that the position of the editor is much more desirable than being a Radical office-holder, and has, therefore, wisely acted upon the assumption that "the post of honor is the private station."—Balt. Gazette.

The President's Policy Regarding Postmasters.

The Washington Correspondent of the Cincinnati Grzette says: 'The Postmaster General made known to Representative Hoar the policy that the administration had concluded to adopt in regard to those Postmasters who are not appointed by the President. The rules framed under the civil service are in course of preparation to cover this class of officers, but as yet are not complete as regards details. Meanwhile their general spirit will be observed as far as possible, and appointments and removals will not hereafter be made in these cases merely upon recommendations of members of Congress. There will be no removals solely for opposition to General Grant during the last campaign, unless accompanied with special bitterness. Where changes are demanded on account of local reasons or apparent incapacity of occupants, the facts in each case will be investigated by an officer of the department before any action is taken.'

Prospectus for 1873.—Sixth Year.

The Aldine,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative an Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last Fall, when THE ALDINE assumed its present noble proportions and representative character, the edition was more than doubled during the past year; proving that the American public appreciate, and will support, a sincere effort in the cause of Art The publishers, anxious to justify the ready confidence thus demonstrated, have exerted themselves to the utmost to develop and improve the work: and the plans for the coming year, as unfolded by the monthly issues, will astonish and delight even the most sanguine friends of THE ALDINE.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America.

In addition, THE ALDINE will produce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest; avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' inimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July, and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular feature of a copiously illustrated 'Christians' number will be continued.

To possess such a valuable epitome of the art world, at a cost so trifling, will command the subscriptions of thousands in every section of the country; but, as the usefulness and attractions of THE ALDINE can be enhanced, in proportion to the numerical increase of its supporters, the publishers propose to make 'assurance double sure,' by the following unparallelled offer of Premium Chromos for 1873.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled 'The Village Belle,' and 'Crossing the Moor,' are 14 X 20 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every department, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. The distribution of pictured of this grade, free to the subscribers to a five dollar periodical, will mark an epoch in the history of Art; and, considering the unprecedented cheapness of the price for THE ALDINE itself, the marvel falls, little short of a miracle, even to those best acquainted with the achievements of inventive genius and improved mechanical appliances. (For illustrations of these chromos, see November issue of THE ALDINE.)

The Literary Department.

will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

Terms.

$5 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE, WITH OIL CHROMOS FREE.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.
