OUR LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

RAIL ROAD EXTENSION.—We learn that those who control the Kent county railroad have determined to complete it to the Bay shore during the present year. The Bay terminus will be, either Rees' wharf or some point near Rock Hall, with the chances in favor of the lower terminus, as presenting the most local trade.

ORPHANS' COURT.—Present Judges Beck, Scott and Hepbron.

The Court passed a number of claims against the estates of deceased parties.

The release of Hattie M. Sudler to Mary R. Walker, was received and ordered to be recorded.

Jas. A. Pearce, admr. of Elias S. Watson, returned a list of sales of the personal estate of deceased, which was filed and ordered to be recorded.

John N. Usilton, guardian to William P. Howard, returned his first and final guardian account, which was passed and ordered to be recorded.

On application, George W. Sutton was appointed guardian to David S. Sutton and James W. Sutton, orphan children of Orlando F. Sutton, dec'd., who executed a bond in the penalty of two thousand dollars, with Alexander Wilson and Wm. K. Sutton, as sureties.

Ordered, that the Register of Wills issue citation for R. A. Brice, admr. of Orlando F. Sutton, and Mary E. Brice, his wife, to appear before the Orphans' Court to testify.

REV. CHARLES J. HENDLEY of Fayette, Missouri, has accepted a call to St. Paul's and I. U. Parishes, in this county, and will take charge early in April.

A VERY VALUABLE FARM AT TRUSTEE'S SALE NEXT TUESDAY.—James A. Pearce, Esq., as Trustee, will offer at public sale, at the Voshell House, on Tuesday next, April 1st, at 12 o'clock, M., one of the most valuable and desirable farms in Kent county. For particulars see the advertisement on this page.

NEW STEAMER FOR CHESTER RIVER.—The staunch, swift, and comfortable steamer Cyrus P. Smith, Capt. Brown, (as will be seen by advertisement in to-day's paper) has been placed on Chester river, on a new route, giving accommodation by steamboat to a section of Kent county that has long been in need of it.

☞ Bishop Henry C. Lay has written the following to the Rev. Dr. Wilson, of Easton:

EASTON, March 14th, 1873.

My Dear Dr. Wilson:

I have been considering what I can do, consistently with other duties, to assist you in promoting the Spiritual Edification of your flock during this Lenten season.

If you will, I undertake to give a series of Meditations, six in number. The subjects proposed for the first two, are the groups of Parables delivered to us severally in the fifteenth chapter of St. Luke, and in the twenty-fifth chapter of St. Matthew; while the last four Meditations will be upon the Five wounds of our Blessed Lord.

A Meditation as thus proposed, is not a sermon. It is not didactic or hortatory. The speaker rather attempts, as it were in his own behalf, to realize and express in words the significance of some holy truth, with its lessons of warning and encouragement. He not so much addresses himself to other souls, as he seeks to lead them onwards and upwards in quiet and devout contemplation.

The Meditation need not be continuous like a sermon, but may be interrupted by a prayer, secret or spoken, or by a hymn:

I suggest the following Programme:

Thursday, March 27th, 5 P. M., The Lost that were recovered—Luke XV, viz: The Lost Sheep; The Lost Money; The Lost Child.

Thursday, April 2d, 5 P. M., The Lost that had no need to perish, Matthew XXV, viz: The Foolish Virgins; the Despondent Servant; The People that did no good.

Week Before Easter. The Five Wounds of our Lord in the order following:

Wednesday, 5 P. M., 1st, The Wounded Back and its lesson of Submission.

Thursday, 5 P. M., 2nd. The Wounded Head, and its lesson of Humility.

Good Friday, 5 P. M., 3d. The Wounded Hands: 4th, The Wounded Feet, and their lessons concerning our Path and our Work.

Easter Even, 5 P. M., The Wounded Side, and its Lesson of Love unto Death.

The time appointed is after the busiest hours of the day are past. I would be gratified to be assisted by the presence and the prayers of the men, the old men and the young, in a service which has proved useful when tried elsewhere. I am sure that we will be glad to welcome any of our neighbors who are not habitual worshippers with us, who may desire to join us in the humble effort to draw a little nearer to Him who died.

I remain, very truly,
Your friend and Bishop,
HENRY C. LAY.

CECIL COUNTY.

Candidates for the different offices are already putting in their claims.

Port Deposit since December the 10th, having been confronted by the ice King, is once more free.

The March term of the Circuit Court for this county was in session last week Judges Wickes and Stump presiding.

The Democrat says: The case of Albert Constable and others, the heirs of the late Mrs. Hannah A. Constable, against the Philadelphia Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, was called and placed on trial before a jury. It is an action for the setting on fire and burning up a small tract of young timber, rails, etc., by the defendant on the Port Deposit Branch Railroad, in February of last year, and also for failing to keep up the fences between plaintiff's land and railroad as required. On trial. Archer and Constable for plaintiffs; A. Evans and Jones for defendant.

Mr. George Gillespie, of the Sixth district, was appointed Foreman of the Grand Jury, which adjourned on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, the session having been one of the shortest for a long number of years, and it having had a less number of witnesses before it, than any of its predecessors. It found ten indictments, all being "true bills," and for the following offences: Larceny, five; selling liquor to minors, one; assault and battery, three; and keeping disorderly house, one.

A. J. Scott, Esq., has been engaged for the past week in making a new assessment of the property, real and personal, of the town of Elkton, for the use of the Town Commissioners.

The new law on the subject requires that the basis of taxation be two-thirds the real value of property. Mr. Scott's assessment makes Elkton's wealth real and personal, $868,437. Two-thirds of this or $781,625 is available for taxation.

The old assessment made in 1871 places the value of property at $651,825. If this assessment was made for real value, it shows that Elkton's property was assessed $216,612 too little. If upon a two-thirds basis, then Elkton is poorer by $69,200.

Burbage Brock Esq., of Elkton sheltered himself from the rain of Thursday of last week, under an umbrella which he has used forty-nine years and several months. Next Monday will be the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding, and he bought the umbrella shortly after that event.—In an age when umbrellas are not recognized as property—who has not lost an umbrella, and who ever heard of the prosecution of an umbrella thief?—this continued possession is most wonderful.

CAROLINE COUNTY.

The Peach Crop.—Whatever may have have been the blight in other sections in reference to the peach crop, we can report it here as free from damage. The prospect for an unprecedented crop has never perhaps been so flattering as at present. From adjacent counties we have the same reports. While north of us the severity of the winter has almost entirely destroyed the crop the neutralizing influences of the salt breeze from a bay on either side of us, or some other favorable cause, our peach trees have escaped the cold and now it is too late in the season to entertain fears of disaster from cold and freezing weather. The lower peninsula will have an abundance of this delicious fruit and we hope it may be large and luscious.—Union.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

Fatal Accident.—During Thursday evening, the 13th inst., while the family of Albert Wilson, residing a short distance in the country, were firing weeds and rubbish, preparatory to making a garden, a little daughter, Mary Esterly Wilson, but six years of age, ran near the flames, and in a moment she was enveloped in fire. Before it could be extinguished it had burned her severely about the breast, limbs, and, in fact, hardly any portion of the child's body that was not injured by the devouring element. She lingered in the utmost agony until Saturday night, when death intervened.—Chrisfield Leader.

The First Shad.—Alfred Townsend and Isaac Crouch, each caught one shad on Thursday evening, which sold here for fifty cents apiece. These were the first shad we have seen this season, but expect they will be plentiful in a week or two.—Advertiser.

THE NATURAL BRIDGE IN DANGER—ITS DESTRUCTION PROBABLE.

[Lynchburg (Virginia) News.]

The Southern Collegian of the 7th instant gives an account of a singular phenomenon which, it states was then going on at the Natural Bridge. A gentleman while passing over the bridge, was startled by the appearance of volumes of deep black smoke and jets of flame rolling out from beneath the massive arch. He could plainly detect the smell of sulphur, and found, upon examination, that the ground was warm and steaming for some distance around. Great excitement prevailed in the neighborhood, as it was generally thought that a volcanic eruption was about to take place. A statement of the case was laid before Professor Campbell, of the Geological Department of Washington and Lee University, who accounts for the singular phenomenon in this wise:

The bridge is composed of mountain limestone, with large fissures filled with grahamite, which, as is well known, is a kind of bituminous coal or asphaltum deposited in seams in formations of this peculiar kind. This grahamite was not, of course, set on fire by any one; such an act would necessarily be impossible as offending against the laws of Omnipotent construction. At some distance above the high-water mark, but not near so high up as the name of the great Virginian who is sometimes termed the "Father of his Country," I detected sulphurous deposits and traces of metallic oxides.—The action of sulphur on the metallic oxides even in small quantities in the presence of water will generally heat to a degree abundantly sufficient to ignite a mass of as combustible a nature as the grahamite. The water, I take it, was supplied by the thawing of the snow and the unprecedented rise of Cedar creek in the early part of last week. Such I am inclined to consider the cause of this great chemical action, and do not lean towards attributing it to the subtle action of electricity. I have a section of the geological formation of the bridge, which was carefully prepared a number of years since, as above hinted, access to which may be had at any time by all wishing to examine into the causes themselves.

Very respectfully,
J. L. CAMPBELL.

The Collegian speaks of the occurrence as a great national calamity, as the Great Natural Bridge, one of the world's curiosities, would probably be totally destroyed.

THE LOCAL OPTION VOTE IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The returns from the election in Pennsylvania for and against local option in liquor traffic, show that the opposition to license of the sale of liquor in the different counties is very generally defeated. The Philadelphia Press, commenting on the result, says:

"The election on Friday last, for and against license, throughout Pennsylvania, proved that while the sentiment of the people is strongly in favor of abolishing the manufacture and sale of vinous, spirituous and malt liquors, it is not strong enough to accomplish the thing itself. But we do not regard these elections as a test of temperance sentiment. There are thousands of men all over the State who did not vote, and yet who feel that intemperance is an evil—who are opposed to drunkenness, and who yet seriously and conscientiously doubt the practicability of sumptuary laws to eradicate the evil. There are upon the statute books of Pennsylvania laws of sufficient stringency to regulate the sale of liquor and abate the evils of intemperance. But the great trouble is that what are called zealous themperance men will not interest themselves in having these laws enforced; that they will not undertake, in the proper legal manner, the prosecution of those who violate the law in the traffic in liquor."

☞ Very seldom does a week pass, says the Baltimore Gazette, without our being called upon to record some accident from the use of coal oil. In many cases the explosion or the ignition can be directly traced to carelessness. In a great number of instances, nevertheless, these accidents occur from causes that do not arise from personal handling of the lamp, or the utensil holding the oil. The individual who is foolish enough to attempt to light a fire with such a volatile material, or who endeavors to fill a lamp already burning, of course, is soon enveloped in flames. Such have only themselves to blame, and are the victims of a heedlessness that is inexcusable. They might just as well expect to touch red hot iron and not be burned, as to fill a lighted coal oil lamp and not be injured. The accidents, however, this winter, have been too frequent to be attributed to carelessness alone. Very many of them certainly are caused by inferior oil. It is the duty of the coroner who holds the inquest, in all cases where he has reason to suspect that this is the fact, to investigate the matter thoroughly. The coal oil which exploded should be tested by a competent chemist, and if found as deadly as some of the fluid is known to be, the vendor should be brought within the reach of the law and adequate punishment meted out to him.

THE RICHMOND POSTMISTRESS.—The reappointment and confirmation of Miss Bettie Van Lew as postmistress of Richmond ought to have been expected, when it is remembered what faithful service she rendered Grant when he was besieging Richmond. She established a daily communication with him, and kept him informed as to the progress of events in the Confederate Capital. And then she sent him flowers; roseguays clipped in her garden in the morning have been known to be on his supper table at City Point at night. When Richmond fell, Grant sent a trusted member of his staff there with instructions to see that her property was protected and her wants supplied.—Petersburg (Va.) Index.

TUESDAY,
The First day of April, 1873,

more or less. This Farm is situated on the public road leading from Sassafras to Millington, and adjoins the lands of R. B. M. Massey, John Benson, and others, and is about one mile from Massey's Station on the Kent County Rail Road. The land is all of the best quality, is highly improved, and in a good state of cultivation. It is divided into six fields, of convenient size, and the Fencing is in good order. There is a fine Hedge on that part of the farm bordering on the public road, and also upon the line of R. B. M. Massey's lands.

THERE ARE
on this farm, nearly all of which are in bearing, and five thousand of which are now three years old.

The improvements are a two-story BRICK DWELLING, well finished and in good repair, with roomy chambers, ample for a large family; good Barn, Corn Cribs and Stables, with extensive Shedding for cattle.

This Farm is situated in the centre of the Peach growing interest of the county; and fruit can be shipped twice a day by the Kent County Rail Road and the Queen Anne's road. It is also within four miles of Wilson's Point, on the Sassafras river, where communication with Baltimore and Philadelphia is easy and cheap.

The Elkton and Massey's Rail Road, now about to be constructed, will pass very near the farm, and will open another avenue of communication with the cities.

This estate, either as a residence or an investment, offers unusual attractions to purchasers, and an examination is invited.

THE TERMS OF SALE as prescribed by the decree, are as follows:

The sum of five thousand five hundred dollars to be paid in cash on the day of sale, and the balance in two equal instalments in twelve and eighteen months from the day of sale; the deferred payments to bear interest from the day of sale, and to be secured by the bond of the purchaser with a surety or sureties to be approved by the Trustee.

Title indisputable: possession given on the ratification of the sale. The purchaser to be at the expense of the Deed.
