THE INTERPRETER.

A wanderer found a deep green spot
With shadowy verdure overrun:
Low grass, by any gleam forgot,
And small young vines, whose highest knot,
Had seldom seen the sun.

And every idle leaf and blade,
Catching at any wind astray,
With many mingled murmurs prayed
Some breath beyond the narrow glade,
From the great night and day.

So that a stir was in the dell
As of a myriad beaten wings,
What time, with sudden fall and swell,
The captive wind began to tell
A tale of marvelous things.

Spell-bound with rapturous awe, like one
Within some secret, sacred place,
While up and down his pulses run,
As if his heart was played upon,
The listener bowed his face.

But fain at length, with little will
To plod once more through bush and brier,
Upon his lips there lingered still,
An echo like the haunting thrill
Along the smitten wire.

So, when he reached the busy street,
The gathered throng around him hung,
Praying the utterance complete
Of that new song, so strangely sweet,
That trembled on his tongue.

As best he could he sang to them,
With many a false note here and there,
Till even the rose upon her stem
Let fall her dewy diadem
In tremulous despair.

But when the crowd in rapturous mood
Besought the singer once again,
He led them to the lonely wood;
And all the people silent stood
To hear the magic strain.

The wild sweet melody anew
Stirred all his soul to smiles and tears;
But nothing heard the gaping crew,
Except a noisy wind that blew
About their open ears.

Then straight besought the tuneless throng,
That scorned the master's instrument,
Its echo in that first rude song,
And praised and listened, right or wrong,
In measureless content.

And ever since that lucky rhyme
The world has heard, at second-hand,
With many a break of tune and time,
The strain whose freshly falling chime
It could not understand.

But who hath ears to catch the play
Of melodies unspoiled by men,
May hear the wandering wind to-day
Chanting the same sweet roundelay
Within the breezy glen.

LONGEVITY OF SOME ANIMALS.—Among other spoils which Alexander the Great took from Poins, an Indian King, was a monster elephant. Those animals were then, as now, held in the highest esteem in that country. That particular elephant fought so bravely for his master that the admiration of the conqueror was excited in his favor. He ordered him to be set free, and allowed to range at pleasure, first naming him Ajax, and placing a medal securely to his neck, bearing this inscription: "Alexander, son of Jupiter, dedicated Ajax to the Sun."

Three hundred and fifty-four years after the old fellow was rediscovered, and probably in good condition, as nothing was recorded to the contrary. Therefore it is probable that elephants may live several centuries before the machinery of life gives out.

Cuvier, the great French naturalist, saw no reason why whales should not reach a thousand years. An eagle died at Vienna that was known to be 104 yrs., old. Ravens have been active at 100 yrs. A skeleton of a swan is in possession of an English gentleman that died when 200 years of age. Tortoises have been repeatedly found with dates cut into their shells by ancient hunters, showing they were over 100, and yet were crawling on vigorously with new makings into a second century.

Scientists cannot fathom this law o vitality. There is a life period to most of the animals very satisfactorily determined but how long a man might live is still unknown. No death probably occurs in which the individual falls short of a hundred years that was not referable to violation of some law of nature. Hopeland was fully persuaded the life limitation of a man was not less than 200 years.

A ROMANCE OF WEST VIRGINIA.—Sarah J. Winemiller, a girl of about seventeen summers, who was convicted of and sent to the penitentiary for burning a small log-church in one of the smaller counties of the State, having been pardoned by Governor Jacobs, was released. The manner in which this girl got into the penitentiary is peculiar. She was enamored of a young man who unfortunately was charged with stealing a horse and was put in jail to await a trial therefor. With a confidence in the charge against her inamorata and a devotion to him that were remarkable, she proceeded to commit the act for which she was sent up that she might be with him in the penitentiary. But, alas! the man was acquitted last fall when his trial came off, and he has ever since, up to the time of the parden, been engaged in securing his faithful though rash sweetheart's release. The facts of this notable romance are set forth in the petitions. The happy result may be imagined.

☞ A curious superstition exists in parts of Europe, that when a person is dying, the window should be opened to let the soul depart.

Boston, November 27, 1872.
Messrs. J. H. SMITH & CO., Baltimore.

Yours of the 25th at hand, and we have concluded to consign our stock of CLOTHING saved from the fire to you, and have shipped per fast freight TWENTY CASES, and will forward the balace of our stock as fast as your sales justify it.

Yours respectfully,
RAINSFORD, KILBOURN & WALDO.

TO OUR PATRONS.

We are pleased to inform you that we have secured the control of over

60,000 WORTH OF CLOTHING

saved from the Boston fire, and shall commence the sale of them to-morrow.—The stock was made up by a first-class Boston house, and we are enabled to dispose of it at 25 per cent, below the actual cost. We can now offer substantial bargains in Clothing. This large stock added to our own, makes the largest and most complete assortment of Clothing ever offered in this city. Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, fallen hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning grey or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
LOWELL, MASS.

Ayer's
Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even when no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

EUREKA

FANNING MILL.

The Greatest Invention
OF THE 19th CENTURY!

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every othhr Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public. It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and now he believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras, EUREKA, signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements, to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention.

It combines Utility, Economy and Practicability!

THE EUREKA MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented. It is the only Mill that will successfully remove from wheat such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c.

Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of: for nearly one-quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a short time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,
Chestertown, Md.,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of NOLAND & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee they will be put up in the very best manner.
