BEAUTIFUL THINGS.

A gentle voice, a heartfelt sigh,
A modest blush, a speaking eye,
A manner unaffected, free;
These things are beauiful to me.

A ready hand, a loving heart,
A sympathy that's free from art,
A real friend among the few;
These things are beautiful and true.

A joyful song, a chorus sweet,
An earnest soul and willing feet,
A day of peace, a night of rest;
These things are beautiful and blest.

A sister's love, a brother's care,
A spotless name, a jewel rare,
A cleanly tongue, that willl not lie,
These things are beautiful—and why?

Because they all are born of love,
And emanate from God above;
An earnest of the heavenly birth,
These things are beautiful on earth.

TOO MUCH DOSING.—Unless the directions of the doctors are aided by the prudence of the patient, the doctor is simply required to perform miracles. This is the burden of a recent essay giving attention to the old subject of overdosing. If the medicine he gives is counteracted by the carelessness of the patient, he may try the whole round of remedies, and consult the skill of a host of doctors, and at the end, reach only the experience of the unfortunate mentioned in the good book, who "had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was nothing better but rather grew worse." Of all professions the doctors are the least "masters of the situation." So much depends on the persons prescribed for, and so much blame is thrown on the practitioner for what is simply the fault of the person he is vainly endeavoring to relieve, that the more patients the doctor has the more he stands in need of patience. And not unfrequently the doctor is summoned to give "a dose of something," when he finds that "abstinence," air, exercise, either or all three answers a great deal better. The consolation to the faculty is, that fancied invalids furnish the most lucrative practice. Even that consideration does not always compensate the doctor. "How are you?" said a friend to an eminent physician as he stepped from his carriage. "Half crazy with neuralgia," said the brusqe doctor, "and wholly sick with listening to the whims and whinings of people who are in better health than I am!" "Why don't you prescribe for yourself, then?" "Pshaw!" growled the doctor as he ran up his steps. He knew that he really needed rest more than any physic, but he could not take it. Yet, if he had prescribed so simple a thing to some of his patients, he would have run the risk of offending their sensibilities.

Common sense is abating in some degree the evil of overdosing. Within the memory of men not old, the physicians' prescriptions were as wholesale then compared to retail now. For centuries, from the time of the tyrant Nero down to that of the Venetian Doges, a nostrum was compounded of some seventy ingredients, and considered to be the sovereignest thing on earth." During the present century even it has been prepared and prescribed as "Venice Treacle," or Theriaca, and some old-time pharmaceutists will now put it up to order. It was but an exaggerated type of certain features of old practice. Happily it has gone out of date; but unhappily there are some hypochondriacs who will, on their own responsibility, toss the full tale of seventy irritants into their stomachs, and let the compounding be done there in the dark, which was once done in the presence of magistrates with all form and ceremony.

Good physicians are among the benefactors of mankind, and the evil complained of is not that they are consulted, but that their advice and directions are not properly heeded. They are as ready to suggest prevention as to attempt cures, and where their sensible warnings are heeded, the need of drugs is prevented. They recognize, moreover, the valuable services of woman in the nursery and the sick chamber; for woman is by her very nature a physician of the best order, understanding the wonderful value of quiet and cheerfulness. She seems to have an intuitive knowledge of what is helpful and hopeful, and the education of those who "feel their vocation" as physicians, and especially as nurses, is among the most desirable of methods to relieve humanity of its sorrows.

☞ A Kentucky paper contains a report of a recent wedding, in which "the bride was not particularly handsome, but her father threw in seven mules and the husband was satisfied.

☞ The following sentence was dictated by the late Lord Palmerston, to eleven British cabinet ministers, not one of whom, it is said, spelled it correctly: "It is disagreeable to witness the embarrassment of a harassed peddler gauging the symmetry of a peeled potato."

☞ The Chicago man who stepped behind a pair of mules that he intended to purchase, asked with much feeling, when he was picked out of the gutter, "if the derrick killed anybody else?"

☞ This touching tribute to the late Mr. Grafton, of Griffin, Ga., is from the Register of that place: "He was a fine man in all respects; he was owing us seven dollars on that last game of sevenup; but we will throw that in toward his head stone."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, fallen hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning grey or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing elso can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists,
LOWELL, MASS.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even when no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

THE

EUREKA FANNING MILL.

The Greatest Invention
OF THE 19th CENTURY!

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every othhr Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public. It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and now he now believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras, EUREKA, signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements, to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention.

It combines Utility, Economy and Practicability!

THE EUREKA MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented. It is the only Mill that will successfully remove from wheat such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c.

Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of: for nearly one-quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a short time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,
Chestertown, Md.,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of NOLAND & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee they will be put up in the very best manner.
