LOCAL NEWS.

A NEW INVENTION.—The world is soon to be startled by a new labor-saving invention, which is to do the daily work of more than a hundred men at a small cost. Externally it appears mounted on wagon wheels, about sixteen feet long by nine high, the front and rear sections in the shape of a pyramid with a narrow top. The sides are divided into small squares with a larger one in the centre. An arc bearing about the proportions of one of the the small squares, in width and breadth, surmounts the top from front to rear, and on the top of these again are three cubes drawn out into diamond shape surfaces top and bottom. The machinery which is not shown, is contained in the large base and the arc thereon. A band around the hub of one of the hind wheels drives the machinery. The whole is painted in bright colors. The extent of the information drawn out by a regular interview is, that the invention is a labor-saving machine for large towns and cities, and that its usefulness is so apparent that its success is already assured.

The invention is primarily that of Mr. John Harris, the proprietor of "Round Top," in Queen Anne's county, utilized and improved by Mr. E. C. Reiche of this town, who has made the model.

A patent will be applied for in a few days, when the first machine will be constructed and exhibited in Baltimore city, and then carried to Richmond.

We leave our readers to solve a problem which we have been unable to fathom.

PROF. RIVERS, who has been elected to, and accepted the position of Principal of Washington College, stands very high as a scholar and a gentleman, in South Carolina.

The Daily Phœnix, of the 10th instant, published at Columbia, the capital of South Carolina, has the following:

RESIGNATION OF PROFESSOR RIVERS.—Prof. Rivers' resignation of the chair of Classical Languages and Literature, in South Carolina University, is announced. He has accepted, as we understand, the Presidency of Washington College, in the State of Maryland. We part from him with regret. A graduate of the College, with its highest honors, in a large class embracing minds of superior order, he has illustrated, as the conductor of a high school for many years, in Charleston, and as Professor of Ancient Languages in the State College for the last eighteen, the excellencies of refined scholarship, the skill of judicious discipline and the virtues and accomplishments of the gentleman. Absorbing as have been his labors as a teacher, he has found time to produce several monograms of history, which show research, taste and judgment. In other publications which have issued from his pen, he has exhibited the wide reading of the man of letters, and the strength and graces of a style of writing clear, logical and pleasing. In address and courtesy, in amiability of manners, in evenness and agreeableness of bearing, in refined feeling, as well as in solid traits of character, his record has been pure, bright and consistent. Accustomed as we have been so long to associate him with the best results and happiest influences of our college system, we feel that he will take with him much that we would gladly retain. He leaves, too, at a time when our need is the sorest. But he has done his part here acceptably, faithfully, handsomely. We wish him equal success, and a continued course of honors and usefulness, in the new sphere to which he has been called.

CAMP MEETING.—The Methodist Protestant Camp Meeting for Kent Circuit, commenced on Friday the 15th instant, in Baker's Woods, a grove which was first used for camp meeting purposes more than thirty years ago. One of the ministers, it is said, who attended the first camp meeting held in this woods, is present at this one.

The encampment comprises some sixty tents, and is fortunately situated upon an eminence, or the continued rains would have submerged the grounds.

A number of the tent holders are members of the M. E. Church, that denomination not proposing to hold a camp meeting for this Circuit.

Dr. J. T. Murray, of Aisquith street Church, Baltimore, preached the opening sermon on Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Southerland preached on Sunday morning.

The steamer Pentz brought an excursion party from Baltimore, and the various hacks did a considerable business carrying the excursionists to and from the grounds.

NARROW ESCAPE.—A singular accident and narrow escape occurred on the camp ground in Baker's Woods on Monday night last, about nine o'clock. A large sized tree came crashing through the canvas tent of Mr. John C. Usilton, falling apparently upon his two little children who were sleeping in the tent. Examination proved, however, that it had fallen exactly between them, not even arousing them from their slumbers. The tree was entirely rotted from its base, and the weight of water had caused it to fall, although there was no wind at the time. The parents were naturally very much alarmed.

BOAT RACE.—On Tuesday next, the 26th instant, a boat race will come off at Huntingfield Point, gotten up under the auspices of the canoemen. The conformation of the shore is such at this point as to enable all who may be present to see the entire race.

Forty dollars will be offered in four prizes, and the race will be open to canoes of all classes. Should the day prove favorable there will doubtless be a large gathering.

The rain storm of the past few days has been very destructive on the line of the Delaware railroad between Wilmington and Clayton. No trains were able to pass on Thursday, and Thursdays mail from Baltimore and Philadelphia had not arrived up to the time of going to press. The loss to the peach shippers is very great. The Chesapeake and Delaware canal is broken. The flood in and around Middletown has been very destructive, the town we learn was flooded to a considerable depth, and there is considerable loss by merchants.

THOMAS H. MASSEY, Esq., brother of Dr. Massey of this county, was on the steamer Wawasset, recently burned on the Potomac; was the last, except the captain, to leave the boat, and was slightly burnt on one hand. He was shipping peaches to Washington on this boat: he has a crop estimated at 15,000 boxes.

JURORS.—His Honor, Judge Wickes, on Saturday last, drew the Jury for the October Term of our Court, as follows:

VALUABLE TOWN PROPERTY AT PUBLIC SALE.—Thos. S. Bordley, Esq., Attorney at Law, will sell at public sale, on Tuesday next, at 11 o'clock, A. M., at the Voshell House in this town, nine buildings, including dwellings and stores, in this town. For particulars read the advertisement in another column.

TRAPPE CORNER,
AUGUST 18, 1873.

Mr. Editor—It is quite a long time since I have had the leisure to report from this vicinity any account of the health, crops, &c. The health is excellent; I hear of no sickness; have heard of but one chill in the district. The hay and wheat crop has been very good, and since the copious rains, the corn promises to be a fine, abundant crop. So you see we are in high spirits with the smiles of Providence upon us.

The Peach crop will not be a tenth of what it was last year, and we shall be compelled to make up with tomatoes, potatoes, turnips, cabbage, and other vegetables.

We are to have a new school house. We have a postoffice established here with Mr. George Beck as postmaster, so you see that we shall gain much this year.

"Civil Service Reform," the words by which our servants rode into office at Washington, words by which they deceived the people, for instead of curtailing expenses they paid Congress twice over and Grant double what any former President has ever received. No wonder Mr. Washburn calls it stealing.

We are all well satisfied and proud of the candidates, which the Democratic Conservative party have presented for our suffrages down here in the old fifth; and intend to march in solid column on election day, and show the Radical party that we intend to be governed by white men as our fathers were.

I like to forgot to mention the Knights of Pythias fish feast on the thirteenth inst. It would have been a fine affair had not the storm prevented. The canoe "W. R. Jones," owned by Mr. Thomas Sewell of Rock Hall, took the first prize, a silver cup, and Mr. Robert Urie the second. H.

SCRIBNER'S FOR SEPTEMBER.—Scribner's for September has a fair proportion of light and summery, and solid and substantial fare. Bret Harte's new story, "An Episode of Fiddletown," is continued with his usual strength; there is a story about "Baum, the Cornet-player;" an illustrated 'Cruise among the Azores;' a profusely pictured and very suggestive article on the 'New York Central Park;' a delightful illustrated paper on "The Birds of the Poets," by John Burroughs; a curious "Study" of Japanese Fans, by Noah Brooks; Whitelaw Reid's Commencement Address on "The Scholar in Politics;" the second of Blauvelt's important papers on 'Modern Skepticism;' a reply to the recent article on "The Liberty of Protestantism," and the usual quantity of poetry.

Dr. Holland, the editor, gives us another installment of "Arthur Bonnicastle."

Scribner's Monthly, it is said, has increased ten thousand in circulation during the past year.

The first number of Scribner's Child's Magazine, of which the name has not yet been announced, will appear in the fall.

A FAC SIMILIE of the first issue of the the Maryland Journal and Advertiser, the parent of the Baltimore American, issued one hundred years ago last Wednesday, was sent out with the regular edition of Wednesday's issue of the American. The historical sketch of the American, which accompanied it is interesting. We are surely growing old when our papers begin to celebrate their Centennial.

MARYLAND INSTITUTE FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.—We have received the circular of the Maryland Institution for the Education of the Dead and Dumb, located at Frederick, Maryland, which is in one sense an appeal to the benevolent to urge its great advantages upon the public. It is believed that there are many deaf mute children growing up in ignorance in various parts of Maryland for whose education the State has made generous provision, practically without charge, since those who are unable to pay are admitted merely on the presentation of a proper certificate. The institution is a school—practically a State free school—and not an asylum. Applicants are received between the ages of nine and twenty-one years, though it is desirable that the pupils of both sexes should enter young, for the reason that they make more progress than those approaching maturity, and besides have opportunities for longer and more thorough instruction. The training is excellent, physically and intellectually, the pupils receiving a good common school education; boys are instructed, if desirable, in shoemaking, and it is intended to add other trades; the girls are taught dressmaking and other light work.

A TRIUMPH FOR MARYLAND LEATHER.—Dispatches received by cable announce that the gold medal of merit in the department of sole leather at the Vienna Exposition has been awarded to Messrs. Arthur P. Baer & Co., of Baltimore, over all other competitors. The specimens exhibited by the Messrs. Baer & Co., consisted of ten sides of slaughtered sole leather, made of Baltimore city hides, tanned in pure chestnut-oak bark in eight months, at the Schlosser tannery, of which they are proprietors. This tannery is situated on the line of the Western Maryland railroad, with Mr. John H. Heald as superintendent, and Mr. James S. Baer foreman of the yard. In view of the extensive competition of European tanners, the compliment to Maryland made leather is quite flattering, but is fully deserved.—Sun.

VOTING ON TEMPERANCE INSTRUCTIONS.—The temperance men of Talbot county, under the leadership of Rev. B. F. Benson, have adopted a plan which will secure popular expression in regard to the matter, and yet keep the temperance question entirely free from politics. The Centreville Observer states that they have made arrangements with the two political parties there to have printed upon their tickets the words "For or Against Prohibition." The voter who wishes to vote for it scratches out the word "against," and he who desires to vote against scratches out "for," and by this means a full and fair expression of the people irrespective of party is reached. That vote is then to be taken as an instruction to the successful candidate for the Legislature to vote for a local option bill or not, as the vote may determine.

UDDERZOOK'S INDICTMENT.—The following is the text of Udderzook's indictment, to which he on Monday plead not guilty:

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery for the County of Chester, August sessions, A. D. 1873:

Chester County ss. The grand inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania inquiring for the county of Chester upon their oaths and affirmations respectively, do present that Wm. E. Udderzook, late of said county, yeoman, not having the fear of God before his eyes, but being moved and seduced by the instigations of the devil, on the 9th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three; at the county aforesaid and within the jurisdiction of this court, with force and arms, &c., in and upon the body of one Winfield S. Goss, otherwise called Alexander C. Wilson, in the peace of God and of the said Commonwealth, then and there being, feloniously, willfully, and of his malice aforethought did make an assault on him, the said Winfield S. Goss, otherwise called Alexander C. Wilson, then and there feloniously, willfully and of his malice aforethought, did kill and murder, contrary to the form of the act of the General Assembly in such case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And the grand inquest aforesaid upon their oaths and affirmations aforesaid, do further present that the said William E. Udderzook, not having the fear of God before his eyes, but being moved and seduced by the instigations of the devil, on the day and year aforesaid, at the county aforesaid, and within the jurisdiction of this court, with force and arms, &c., in and upon the body of a certain male person whose name to the said grand inquest is yet unknown, feloniously, willfully and of his own malice aforethought did make an assault on him the said male person whose name to the said grand inquest is yet unknown, feloniously, willfully and of his malice aforethought did kill and murder, contrary to the act of the General Assembly in such case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

[Hartford Times, August 11th.]

Last year the potatoes were bad. No matter where they were grown they "panned out" badly. They were heavy, soggy, execrable. Even the Bermuda potatoes didn't quite escape the general application of the tuber family. It was a serious matter to poor people, and almost as much so to others who are accustomed to depend largely upon potatoes for their principle meal. This year the case is happily very different. It is now pretty certain that the potato crop of 1873 is an extraordinary one both in quality and quantity. Hereabouts the price is already down to $1 a bushel from the farmers' wagons even for "Early Rose." Never have we seen better potatoes than those of the new crop, now coming in.—Large and fair, they boil to an almost floury consistency, so white and "mealy" are they. They burst their jackets in boiling and fairly overflow in cataracts of vegetable snowflakes, so light and dry is the substance. And then the flavor, the taste, the quality of the potato, is decidedly superior. With such potatoes before him—provided they are properly cooked—even the daintiest epicure might make a most enjoyable meal. Few articles of food are better if properly treated. These potatoes of 1873, which the croakers declared would be a failure, are going to be cheap as well as good. The crop is too large to warrant any other conclusion. The price, a month or six weeks hence, ought not to be above 60 cents a bushel. With a good store of nice potatoes in the house at any time in the winter it ought to be comparatively easy work getting up an acceptable breakfast or dinner. Even a cheap joint of meat can be transformed for a winter morning's breakfast into a very good dish; better, twice a week, for a change, than the everlasting "griddle-cakes" which constitute the not over-wholesome breakfast of thousands for about 175 out of 180 mornings of cool and cold weather every year. And that with an artistic dish of potatoes, a nice cup of coffee, and good bread, ought to be enough for Mr. Blot "or any other man." Meantime it is pleasant to know that the potatoes this time are to be "right-down good ones."

EXCITMENT AT DRUG STORES.—There has been a general rush the last month at the Drug Stores in Kent County for Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup.

It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and for any person suffering with a severe cough, heavy cold settled on the breast, consumption or any disease of the throat and lungs it has no equal in the world. Our regular size ottles are 75 cents. Two doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample bottles free of charge.

All indebted to Thomas H. Whaland will be good enough to settle. It would give him much pleasure to indulge for any length of time if it were possible, but he owes some money which must be paid either by collections, borrowing at a premium, or assigning paper at a discount, which he ought not to be compelled to do with the amount of money he has due, and which ought to have been collected a long time ago. His professional engagements will not allow him to make individual calls. Hoping this notice will relieve him from any more unpleasant proceedings, he remains,

With much respect,
