MY BOYS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF A WOMAN'S POEMS.

The first is for the sea:
I knew it well, sad years ago;
He builds small ships and talks to me
Of what the sailors know.

He was the fairest child,
Such lovely eyes, such faint-gold hair,
Half curl'd, such dimples when he smiled,
Such sweetness everywhere.

The sea is weird and wide,
And when I give it to him to keep,
How will the night-pulse of the tide
Beat through my troubled sleep!

The next, perhaps, will climb
The highest mountain in the world,
Or see through some will desert time,
The Arab lances whirl'd.

The mountain's icy spears
Will wound me then, the airy flow
Of the false fountain through my tears
In sun and sand will go.

And that blue flower-like look
Under his quiet lids will lie,
Shut like a picture in a book
In my heart till I die.

The next is fierce and sweet,
Dark glances, light limbs never still,
A bird's voice and a fairy's feet
And—a young lion's will.

Ah, he is for the sword,
He wears the soldier's careless grace:
God keeps him, for his path goes toward
A very ghastly place.

The next—my pretty boy,
My darling of all darlings, he
Whose little laugh is joy of joy—
What shall the baby be?

The others merrily say;
"Baby must be the finest thing,"
Baby must keep his own bright way—
Baby must be a king.

"Baby must be two kings—
He has two crowns," again they cry,
"On his brown head—the cunning things!"
Where shall his kingdom lie!

In Greece, I think, and Spain—
Lands tired of native kings, it seems—
His coming Majesty shall reign
By mountains, fields and streams.

In Greece? Too poor was she,
Were all her temples sold to buy
This peerless creeping Prince from me—
Her gods were vain to try.

In Spain? No castle there
Higher and brighter than we know,
His worth in treasure, hid in air,
Through mists of dream can show.

Baby must be a Man,
Strong, good and beautiful, and brave,
Made in a very gracious plan—
Not a mean, cringing slave.

THE ART OF THINKING.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the fundamental importance of perfect command over thought. How many a student finds a lack of this power the chief hindrance to progress! How many a page must be reread, how many a lesson conned over and over to compensate for lapses of thought! In the possession or absence of this power over mind lies the chief difference between mental strength and mental weakness. Some men think as a child plays with a hammer, striking little blows here, there anywhere, at any object within reach. The action of a strong mind may be compared to the stone-break's sledge-hammer, dealing stubborn blows successively upon one spot till the hard rock cracks and yields. The power to classify and arrange ideas in proper order is one that comes more or less slowly to even the best of minds. In proportion as this faculty is strengthened, desultory and wasted effort diminishes. When the mind acts, it acts to some purpose, and can begin where it left off without going over the whole ground again to take up the threads of its ratiocinations. Concentration and system are thus seen to be the chief elements in the art of thinking. To cultivate the first, constant whatchfulness to detect the least wandering, and the immediate exertion of the will to call back and hold the mind upon the subject under consideration, should be vigilantly exercised. To secure the latter, the practice of analyzing and considering the different parts of a subject, first esparately and in their relations to each other, is a discipline to which every young mind should be subjected, and which, we are sorry to say, is much neglected in most methods of instruction.

☞ One of the French papers was received lately at the library of the U. S. Naval Academy with the names of Andrew Jackson as one of the Presidents of the United States, and the portrait of Stonewall Jackson affixed. This is about equal to the blunder of James, author of the Naval History of England, who stated that Stephen Decatur did not come so far North as Capt. Hull, having been born in Maryland, Virginia.

☞ An experienced husband in Lafayette, Indiana, sent two switches home to his wife, from which she was to make a selection, but before doing it he changed tags, putting the $25 on the $10 switch, and vice versa. After a critical examination by herself and lady friends, the choice fell upon that labeled $25, and she decided to keep it, notwithstanding her husband's plaintive protest that he could not afford to pay out more than $10 for such an article.

A patient youth in Charleston has written 2014 words on the back of a postal card, and it is on exhibition.

HOW TO MAKE A MUSTARD PLASTER.

How many people are there who really know how to make a mustard plaster? Not one in a hundred at the most, perhaps, and yet mustard plasters are used in every family, and physicians prescribe their application, never telling anybody how to make them, for the simple reason that doctors themselves do not, as a general rule. The ordinary way is to mix the mustard with water, tempering it with a little flour, but such a plaster as that makes is abominable. Before it has half done its work it begins to blister the patient, and leaves him finally with a frayed spot, after having produced far less effect in a beneficial way than was intended. Now, a mustard plaster should never cause a blister at all. If a blister is wanted, there are other plasters far better than a mustard plaster; then use no water whatever, but mix the mustard with the white of an egg, and the result will be a plaster which will "draw" perfectly, but will not produce a blister even upon the skin of an infant, no matter how long it is allowed to remain upon the spot. For this we have the word of an old and eminent physician, as well as our own experience.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, fallen hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning grey or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unclean ly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even when no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages, and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing* Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has* PERUVIAN SYRUP *blown in the glass.

THE

EUREKA

FANNING MILL.

The Greatest Invention

OF THE 19th CENTURY!

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every othhr Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public. It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and now he now believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras, EUREKA, signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements, to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention.

It combines Utility, Economy and Practicability!

THE EUREKA MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented. It is the only Mill that will successfully remove from wheat such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c.

Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of; for nearly one-quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a short time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,

Chestertown, Md.,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of NOLAND & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee they will be put up in the very best manner.
