THE SPIRIT OF BEAUTY.

BY RUFUS DAWES.

The Spirit of Beauty unfurls her light,
And wheels her course in a joyous flight;
I know her track through the balmy air,
By the blossoms that cluster and whiten there;
She leaves the tops of the mountain green,
And gems the valley with crystal sheen.

At noon she hies to a cool retreat,
Where bowering elms above her meet;
She dimples the waves, where the green leaves dip,
That smiles, as it curls, like a maiden's lip,
When her tremulous bosom would hide, in vain,
From her love the hope that she loves again.

At eve she hangs o'er the western sky,
Dark clouds for a glorious canopy;
And round the skirts of each sweeping fold,
She paints a border of crimson and gold,
Where the lingering sunbeams loves to stay
When their God in his glory has passed away.

She hovers around us at the twilight hour,
When her presence is felt with the deepest power;
She mellows the landscape, and crowds the stream,
With shadows that flit like a fairy dream;
Still wheeling her flight through the gladsome air,
The Spirit of Beauty is everywhere.

GOOD USE FOR A NUISANCE.—The nuisance is old tin cans; fruit, vegetable, or oyster cans. Throw them in the fire, and let them unsolder. They will spring open about one inch. Punch holes through each of the four corners, large enough. Take a piece of twine, put through the holes and tie the can together. Set it on a piece of board or shingle, cut just large enough for it to rest upon. Fill up the can with prepared soil, and you have a superb pot or can to start flowers or other plants in. When your plant is large enough to put out, dig a hole large enough to set the can in, take away the bottom, set the can in, cut the strings, and the can springs open, slip it up your plant, fill up with dirt, and your plant won't know it has been disturbed. In the old way we sometimes ruin the plants by jarring the pots to loosen the dirt so that it will come out. With the cans I have never lost any, or even checked their growth in the least. I even start poppy, larkspurs, &c., in them.

Talking the other day with an able and popular lecturer, who seldom failed in getting a good and attentive audience, we ventured to ask him what kind of subjects and what kind of style of treatment he thought the people liked best. "Well," was the reply, "I hardly know; but there's one secret I found out—what the people hate is information." People go to scientific lectures, no doubt: they would go to see a Greek play if it was the fashion; but the exuberant chuckle of laughter with which the weakest attempt at a joke on the lecturer's part is welcomed by the gravest audience, is proof, quite strong enough, of the weariness of the natural man over the dry husks of instruction, and his delight when anything turns up which has an unexpected flavor. It suggests the feeling of an Irishman who tasted the quince in his apple tart—"How delicious an apple tart would be which was all made of quences."—Blackwood's Magazine.

☞The Rev. Mr. Emerson, of Gloucester, Mass., recently said: "My friends, has the age of miracles returned? I do not know that they turn water into wine but they do say that there are those who can turn water into milk! How happens it, friends, that herring caught on the Coast of Maine become "Labrador herring" on touching the hands of some Glouscester dealers? How does it happen, too, that Bank codfish, worth five dollars a quintal, become transformed—changed in the twinkling of an eye—to George's fish, worth fifty cents more. Can any one here tell me how these wonderful transformations take place."

THE WORD SHAH.—Since the Persian monarch has been making his European tour, philologists have been much exercised as to the meaning of his official name. As the Persian belongs to the Shemitic family of languages, the root in shah is the same as in the Hebrew Messiah. Its essential meaning is the annointed one. The shah is the annointed king. The same root appears in the word chess. Chess is an Oriental game, in which the principal figure is the shah or king. When the king is overcome, he is said to be shahmated, or checkmated, which means "the king is dead." The original form of the word has been modified and obscured by the influence of some of the European languages, through which it has come into our own tongue.

A LEGEND.—There is a legend that two Dutch lovers at Little Falls, N. Y., who were prevented from marrying because their fathers were enemies, took the dire resolution of leaping from the heights clasped in each other's arms. This was long before the days of the Erie Canal, and the story goes that the man was dashed to pieces, but that the girl escaped with simply fracture of both her arms, and that she recovered, and married the husband of her father's choice, and was a happy wife and mother. She must occasionlly have dreamed of that leap, and it must have spoiled her appetite each time for a few days.

☞One could take down a book from the shelf ten times more wise and witty than almost any man's conversation. Bacon is wiser, Swift more humorous, than any person one is likely to meet with; but they cannot chime in with the exact frame of thought in which we happen to take them down from our shelves. Therein lies the luxury of conversation, and when a living speaker does not yield us that luxury, he becomes only a book on two legs.

MISTRESS—"A day's holiday, Jane! what for?"

JANE—"Well, I thought you'd think it rather soon; but, please mum, my young man as I spoke of to you—perhaps you remember—is a-going to take me to Grinnige again, and I'm a-going to pop the question this time."

SCENE IN COURT.—Judge—"Have you anything to offer to the court before sentence is passed on you?" Prisoner: "No, judge: "I had ten dollars, but my lawyers took that."

A CARD.

AUGUST 1st, 1873.

All indebted to Thomas H. Whaland will be good enough to settle. It would give him much pleasure to indulge for any length of time if it were possible, but he owes some money which must be paid either by collections, borrowing at a premium, or assigning paper at a discount, which he ought not to be compelled to do with the amount of money he has due, and which ought to have been collected a long time ago. His professional engagements will not allow him to make individual calls. Hoping this notice will relieve him from any more unpleasant proceedings, he remains,

With much respect,
THOS. H. WHALAND.

which can be cured by a timely resort to this standard preparation, as has been proved by the hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. Wistar's Balsam does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

EUREKA

FANNING MILL.

The Greatest Invention

OF THE 19th CENTURY!

FARMERS, LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST.

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every othhr Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public. It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and now he now believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras, EUREKA, signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements, to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention.

It combines Utility, Economy and Practicability!

THE EUREKA MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented. It is the only Mill that will successfully remove from wheat such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c. Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of; for nearly one-quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a short time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,

Chestertown, Md.,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of NOLAND & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee they will be put up in the very best manner.
