A. S. Hurlock, admr. of Thomas K. Stephens, returned a list of debts due said deceased; also, his first administration account.

The release of Alice I. Willson to Ann E. Willson, was filed.

Thoma P. Dixon and David Biddle were appointed to appraise the annual value of the real estate of Geo. B. Ford.

Fire.

A fire occurred near Kennedyville, in this county, on Monday night last, on the Medders farm, belonging to the estate of the late Wm. Welch, which resulted in the total destruction of the dwelling house and meat house. Mr. John Stevens, the tenant, lost all his furniture, on which there was no insurance. The fire was just discovered, shortly after 8 o'clock, by Mrs. Stevens, who had gone up stairs to put her children to bed, when she discovered one corner of the roof to be in flames, and gave the alarm, but the efforts of the family proved ineffected to stay its progress. There was an insurance of $200 on the dwelling and $30.00 on the meat house, in the Kent Mutual Company of this town.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the different delegations from the several Election Districts of Kent county, at the Court House in Chestertown, on this 22d day of August, 1876, Col. George Gale was called to the Chair and Thomas J. Shallcross appointed Secretary.

The credentials of Samuel Cacy, A. S. Hurlock and R. F. Moffitt, delegates from the first district, were examined and found correct.

The credentials of Wm. A. Kennedy, Samuel A. Merritt and Thomas J. Shallcross, delegates from the second district, were examined and found correct.

On motion of Wm. S. Walker, the delegates from the third district claiming their seats, be admitted, consisting of Col. George Gale, Dr. S. Beck and J. Thomas Skirven.

The credentials of William S. Walker, William H. Stewart and John W. Loud, delegates from the fourth district, were examined and found correct.

The credentials of David Jones, Joseph E. Gilpin and Samuel Burgess, delegates from the fifth district, were examined and found correct.

On motion of William S. Walker, George W. Spencer, William B. Wilmer and David Jones were nominated as delegates to represent Kent county in the State Convertion which meets in Baltimore on Wednesday, September 13th, for the selection of Presidential Electors. The above named gentlemen were elected.

On motion, R. C. Johnson, Richard Hynson, Geo. W. T. Perkins and J. T. Skirven were nominated as delegates to represent Kent county in the Congressional Nominating Convention, which meets at Ocean City, Worcester county, on the 7th day of September, 1876. Mr. J. T. Skirven declined the nomination, and Richard C. Johnson, George W. T. Perkins and Richard Hynson were unanimously elected delegates.

The following was then adopted:

WHEREAS, we believe it is for the best interest of the Democratic party and the people of this Congressional District that our present able and efficient Representative should be returned to the next Congress of the United States: and whereas, we, the Democratic party of Kent county in Convention here assembled, do most heartily approve and endorse his course on the various measures which have been brought before the House of Representatives—therefore, be it

Resolved, That the delegates this day elected to represent Kent county in the Congressional Convention to be held at Ocean City on September 7th ins, and they are hereby requested, to vote and use all honorable means to secure the re-nomination of our present Representative in Congress, the Hon. PHILIP FRANCIS THOMAS.

GEO. GALE, President.

STRIKING ELECTION FIGURES.

Dr. H. V. Redfield, in a letter from Alabama to the Cincinnati Commercial a republican paper, furnishes some striking figures of the recent election in that State, and from which he arrives at the conclusion that "that the time has passed when the republicans can wield the colored voters of the South as a compact body." For instance, Marengo county has heretofore been one of the republican strongholds, and up to the late election never failed to roll in a republican majority of from two to three thousand. At the election of the present year it gave [illegible] republican. This more than the republicans outnumbered the democrats more than three to one. In 1874 the democrats polled 1,808 votes and the republicans 3,432. Last week the republican vote dwindled down to 1,306 and the democratic swelled to 2,598, for the reason that fully one thousand colored men voted the democratic ticket, and another thousand did not vote at all.—Bullock county contains 3,228, whites and 17,257 blacks. In 1874 the republican ticket in that county had 2,508 votes and at the recent election it had but 600, a falling off of nearly 2,000, whilst the democratic vote ran up from 1,584 in 1874 to 2,919 in 1876. As there are only about 1,200 democratic votes in the county, it is evident the bulk of the black vote went to the democrats. In Hale county, containing 4,800 whites to 17,000 blacks, the democrats made a net gain of 2,938 votes, fully 1,500 blacks voting with the Democrats. These are but a few of the counties cited in proof of the wonderful change which has taken place in Alabama. Dr. Redfield, who is a republican, predicts that Gov. Tilden will carry Alabama by a majority of not less than 25,000.

SCRIBNER FOR SEPTEMBER.

The September number of Scribner contains three complete old-fashioned stories, viz: "The Ghostul Rental," by Henry James, Jr.; "The Voyage of the America," a dialect story of a shipwreck (with the doubtful fascination of being true), by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps; and "Princess Ilse," a charming fairy story from the German, with dainty illustrations by Fredericks. Other illustrated papers are: the third installment of Col. Waring's account of his picturesque boat-ride down the Mosel, called the "Bride of the Rhine," and this month dealing with the vineyards and folk-life, of this little visited region; a paper on "Insanity," by Charles D. Robinson, with some curious illustrations of the brain during the progress of the malady; Prof. Wm. North Rice's paper on "Wesleyan University;" "Something about Birds," by Ernest Ingersoll; and the second installment of Fanny Hodgson Burnett's promising serial story of mining life, "That Lass o' Lowrie's," which succeeds Mr. Harte's "Gabriel Conroy."

The publishers of Scribner say that their Midsummer Holliday (August) number has met with such a cordial reception at the hand of both the press and the public that the edition of 75,000 is quite exhausted. It was this number that contained the first installment of Fanny Hodgson Burnett's new serial story of English mining life, intitled "That Lass o' Lowrie's."

☞ The Fourth of July has long since passed and gone, and yet we have not witnessed that remarkable demonstration of the marvellous power of the Keeley motor, with which the people were to have been astonished upon the Centennial anniversary of our independence. In the mean time a rival of Keeley named Wingate is at work at New Orleans, and threatens to produce a power which shall surpass anything the world has ever seen or even imagined. Wingate calls his motor the Nameless Force, and he has organized a corporation for the purpose of raising capital to prosecute his experiments to a successful conclusion. So soon as he gets $1,000,000 in the treasury of his company he will produce an explosion that will be heard all over America. Shares in the Nameless Force Company are placed at the reasonable price of $100 each. They would probably sell more rapidly than they do were it not for the fact that a few weeks ago, when Wingate undertook to blow up a vessel anchored three miles away from him by discharging the Force from his hand while standing on shore, two fishermen circulated a malicious story about him. They said, and the story found its way into the newspapers, that they accidentally ran across three men in a boat hid under a wharf who were industriously hauling in a long string which ran under water in the direction of the vessel doomed to destruction, and that their labors suddenly ceased just as the explosion of the Nameless Force took place.—N. Y. Sun.

☞ Mr. Thurlow Weed writes to a friend in San Francisco under date of July 20: "We go into the presidential canvass under great disadvantages.—Here all business is paralyzed. Tens of thousands of industrious men are out of employment. The administration is weak, to say the least of it, while Congress, with its democratic House, is worse than weak. The people want a change. We hope to show them that in giving the government up to those who so recently attempted to destroy it a change would be from bad to worse."
