The Chestertown Transcript

LOCAL NEWS.

On the first page of to-day's issue will be found a very interesting account of the work of the State Fishery Commissioners, taken from the Baltimore Sun.

The New Chester River Boat.

Most of the machinery has been placed in the new steamer B. S. FORD, building in Wilmington for the Chester River Company, and she is now receiving her wheels.

A Cape May Excursion

Is being considered by the Methodist Sunday Schools of Chestertown, by Kent County Railroad to Bombay Hook, and thence by steamer. With favorable weather it would no doubt be a success.

Sale of a Small Farm,

Gen. George Vickers, as Trustee, sold at public sale at the Voshell House porch, Tuesday afternoon, a farm of 58 acres, situated near the village of Sassafras, for $50 per acre. Purchased by Mr. Alex. Mc Neal, of Smyrna, Del.

Sale of Town Property.

Sheriff Medders sold at public sale in front of the Court House door, last Tuesday, the W. F. Massey property, known as "Riverside Terrace," situated at the N. E. end of Water street, in this town. Purchased by Mr. H. C. Chase, for $1,530.

The Town Commissioners.

The recently elected Board of Commissioners of Chestertown organized on Monday night last. John W. Palmer was elected secretary, and John W. Parsons bailiff; he is also, we learn, corporation tax collector, market-master, weigh-master and superintendent of the street lamps.

The Swiss Bell Ringers

Gave an entertainment in our Town Hall, last Friday night, to a fair audience. The performance, it is said, was very good. The warm evening necessitated opening the shutters and raising the windows, thus affording a fine opportunity to see and hear from the outside, which was embraced by a large assemblage, occupying the greater part of the open space surrounding the Hall.

Escaped from Jail.

Andrew Godfrey, captain of a boat engaged in dredging for oysters, and committed to our jail just after the close of April Court, made his escape last Sunday night, having succeeded in removing some of the iron bars from the window of the room in which he was confined. The accused was held for October Court, charged with unlawful dredging on Swan Point bar.

Thanks.

William Perkins, proprietor of the long-established and favorably known Rising Sun Saloon in this town, will please accept our acknowledgments for the very bountiful supply of ice-cream' strawberries and cake, sent to the Transcript office last Tuesday afternoon. The cream was particularly good, as was also the pound and sponge cake—the strawberries were of fine size, fully ripe and, with such cream and cake, were really delicious.

We have received a copy of the Hancock Democrat, published at Greenfield, Hancock county, Indiana, containing a letter dated Chestertown, May 18, 1877, purporting to come from one T. B. BENSON, who states that he is teaching in Chestertown. Our people know that no person by the name of Benson is teaching either a public or private school in our town: and some of them know more of the performances of a certain T. B. Benson—whose right name is something else when he may be aware of.

Johans' Court.

Present, Judges Nicholson, Shallcross and Willson.

John P. Nicholson, admr. of Mary E. Nicholson, returned a list of debts due deceased.

James A. Pearce, admr. D. B. N. C. T. of Alexander Hawkins, returned a list of sales of the personal estate of said deceased.

T. B. Willson, admr. of D. C. Willson, returned his first administration account.

Hynson and D. J. Nowland, admrs. William Welch, returned their third administration account and first division (re-stated).

The release of Joseph T. Maulsberger to Richard C. Johnson, was filed.

Miss MARY C. HURLOCK, now teaching in this county, was among the graduates of the State Normal School, receiving a permanent certificate.

Miss Annie Wallen, of Massey's, received a temporary certificate.

Graduates of the Normal School are required to teach one year before they receive a permanent certificate.

Colds are Dangerous.—If this axiom is true respecting the ordinary affairs of life, it is more obviously so as regards the insidious agencies of approaching disease. Fashionably! Yet how many neglect to medically recognize this plain truth where health is in the balance. Of the premonitory symptoms of disease a hacking cough is the most prophetic of danger. Arrest it at the outset with Dr. WISTAR'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL, and avoid Consumption. Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, and, indeed, all Affections of the Throat and Bronchial Organs are entirely cured by this foreign remedy, which also eradicates Dyspepsia, Gravel, Piles, Nervous Debility, Torpidity of the Liver, Urinary Obstructions, Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Scrofulous Affections, and Diseases peculiar to the gentler sex. This medial derives its virtues from the vegetable kingdom, and is infinitely to be preferred both on account of its superior efficacy and freedom from nauseous and deleterious properties to the officinal drugs usually administered with no other effect than to offend the palate and disorder the stomach. The PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL can always be relied on to do all that is claimed for it. Sold by all druggists. Principal Depot No. 916 Market street, Philadelphia.

Tramps.

The season for this now annual nuisance has nearly arrived, and in the absence of any special legislation upon the subject, it would be well for the people of this county to determine upon some general course to pursue. The experience of last year in our town has determined the fact that the nuisance can be abated when the community is once fully aroused. There is no reason why we should go throught what we did last summer if the proper measures are agreed upon in advance. We clip the following from the Baltimore Sun:

OUTRAGES BY TRAMPS.

The late brutal outrage by tramps upon a poor woman and her daughter near Newark, N. J., which equals in horrors even the late crime in De Kalb, Miss., is one of many outrages perpetrated by tramps, and precisely parallel to one which occurred not many weeks ago in New York, where a ruffian was convicted of having, in company with two others, broken into a tenement and outraged a woman and her daughter, and was sent to prison for three months, a sentence which was simply an encouragement to like crimes, and which, if inflicted upon the perpetrators of the De Kalb murder, would have raised a shriek of horror through all those regions which "compound for sins they are inclined to by damning those they have no mind to." The fact that the women thus maltreated were poor and defenseless—whether of the best character or not—aggravates the enormity of the crime. Poverty and helplessness, if there cannot be a defense against the base and ignoble, should at least have the protection of the law and of civilized society. The tramp has become a nuisance in this country in every way, and is the harder to bear because, though a familiar pest in Europe, he has been until lately unknown here. Like the locust, the scourge is felt more in this country because a recent importation. In the old world the tramp has been known under other names from the most ancient times, "begging (as a Roman author says) for the scraps of spoilt bread that had been reserved for the dogs." For more than five hundred years France has been legislating in vain to get rid of this nuisance, and from the earliest periods the English laws have sought in vain to deal effectively with the nuisance. An intelligent essayist upon this subject says that the conclusion of all European experience is that nothing can permanently affect the evil of mendicity but a general diffusion of prosperity, morality and intelligence. We had arrived at this condition in the United States before the war more nearly than any modern nation, and in some sections of the country, especially the South, beggars were almost unknown. Even now mendicants, except those who come from outside their own limits, are very rare in the Southern States.

It is estimated that in Massachusetts alone there are now 25,000 vagrants, a great proportion of them able-bodied.—The hard times is the excuse for many of vagrant proclivities, who perhaps were once able and willing to support themselves by honest labor. Hence it is, no doubt, that we have more of them in this section than ever before. Various efforts were made at the last session of the Maryland Legislature to enact a law which would provide a special remedy for this grievance, but none of them were successful. Most of the States have vagrant laws, but they are not enforced. It seems strange that no protection can be found in such a country as this against the tramp nuisance, and that it should be becoming more serious every year. According to late accounts a company of them took possession of a railroad train, traveled as far as they wanted to, and then left the train, only a few of their number being captured. It seems to be the custom of these people to quarter themselves on the alms and charity of the large cities in the winter, and, in the spring, to make raids into the country where they beg, steal, murder, and commit such atrocities as have been lately perpetrated in New Jersey. Even where the laws are most stringent they do not seem competent to deal with this nuisance. Public opinion, however, which has sought to express itself in efficient legislation, will, in default of that, justify individuals in legitimate measures of self-preservation, which is the first law of nature. A powerful dog has been found a valuable guard, and even terriers give an alarm which makes them at least cautious.—Rural communities would find it to their advantage to act in concert for the abatement of this growing nuisance, and cooperate with the officers of the law in the apprehension of vagrant and criminal offenders. As every man's house is his castle weapons of defense, of whatever kind, may be used without ceremony whenever protection of a household is not afforded by the laws and their adequate enforcement. When arrested close confinement or hard labor have been found specially distasteful to vagrants. Upon a sudden emergency, like that in New Jersey, there should be no hesitation in taking the most summary measures. Of course, however, due caution should always be observed, as there may occasionally be worthy poor among the wanderers.—Balto. Sun.

☞Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, in a speech recently delivered at Dallas, Texas, said that "the contest of four years decided the question to the satisfaction of all American military men that the militia, or volunteers, were the men to be depended upon." This opinion, from one of the most eminent military men this country has produced, is in contravention of the views of Gen. Sherman, who recently expressed the opinion that the American people would degenerate into a mob unless the present quota of the regular army was preserved.

QUEEN ANNE'S ITEMS.

THE "B. S. FORD."—This steamer is to be built and fully completed by the first of July, and is to give an excursion from Chester River to Annapolis and Baltimore on the 4th of July. Having been acting as Local Agent for Geo. A. Prince & Co. since 1865, and having had offered to me since Dec. 17, 1876, the control of all unoccupied territory with authority and instruction to appoint agents, I deem it proper to state to my numerous friends and the public that I shall continue in the old track to sell Organs and Pianos without any misrepresentation or subterfuges, fictitious discounts, &c.

Having a mechanical knowledge of the construction of musical instruments, I am able to draw comparisons, and can, therefore, state that Messrs. Prince & Co. furnish a better Organ than any other establishment. The peculiar construction of their organs is protected by 14 patents, and the durability of Prince's Organs and Melodeons is unsurpassed.

I am prepared to sell 2 Carhart & Needham double bank pedal bass organs, one Mason & Hamlin, with 12 stops, (very large case), one Estey, with sub-bass, at very low figures, as the owners wish to make an exchange. which can be cured by a timely resort to this standard preparation, as has been proved by the hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. Wistar's Balsam does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN SYRUP, AN IRON TONIC

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
