LOCAL NEWS.

☞ TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

I have arranged with Mr. Perkins to fill all unexpired contracts for subscriptions to the TRANSCRIPT which have been paid to him. He will collect all unpaid subscriptions to and including July 20, 1877. From that date subscriptions are payable to me; and I earnestly request all subscribers to pay their subscriptions before the expiration of September, and thereby avail themselves of the lowest rate which is payable in advance, viz: $1.00. After October the 1st., all subscriptions, not paid for at the time of subscribing, will invariably be $1.50. GEO. A. HANSON.

TO ADVERTISERS.

All persons who advertise in the Transcript to the amount of fifteen dollars and pay cash for the same will receive the Transcript, for one year, free of charge.

A Striking Coincidence—Three Minds Agree.—The Kent News, of Aug, 18th agreed with the TRANSCRIPT about the bridge. It was a palpable hit, and we enjoyed the "jocque," thinking, the while, of the mountain and the mouse. In our last issue we published an extract from the Baltimore Sun, headed, "The moral of Bennington," see TRANSCRIPT 24th Aug, 1877, page 3 and column 4. The next morning, to our surprize, we found our extract incorporated, bodily, without credit to our scissors, in the original (?), first and leading Editorial of the Kent News, see Kent News, Aug. 25th 1877, page 2 and column 1st. We do not object because the News enjoyed our cabbage; but we do deny the right of that or any other paper to appropriate our clippings and pass them off as their own original compositions.

Rape.

Last Saturday William Green, colored, was lodged in our jail, charged with committing a rape, upon the body of Mrs. Caroline Brady, the wife of William Brady residing in Piney Neck. The act was committed during the absence of Mr. Brady, 1st of August, a few minutes after the negro had received a meal from the hand of his victim. Mrs. Brady is the mother of three little children.

Camp Meeting.

The Camp Meeting held at Baker's Camp Ground has been very attractive and drawn many persons to participate in the interesting religious exercises. Among the preachers present we note the names of Rev. Messrs. Jones, King, T. H. Lewis, Kinzer L. W. Bates, J. E. Maloy, J. W. Trout, C. M. Thompson, F. T. Little and D. L. Greenfield. Good order has been preserved. Last Sunday night two valuable horses were stolen from the grounds.

Excursion.

The large steamer Columbia brought to our town last Tuesday the Workingmen's Family Excursion. The crowd was large. Tickets 25 c's.

Sudden Death.

Mr. Jas. H. Smith, merchant, of Chestertown, died, quite unexpectedly, last Tuesday afternoon, aged about 70 years.

Tramps.

The miscreants who committed the outrage upon Mr. C. C. Hynson, alluded to in last week's issue gave their names as John Riley, Chas. Fairchild, and John Higgins, and were committed on the 23cl inst., by Squire Johnson to jail to await the action of the grand-jury The first named was accused of that nameless crime for which Sodom was destroyed. The arrest was made by our efficient officer Samuel L. Rawleigh within thirty minutes of the commission of the crime.

Delays are Dangerous.—If this axiom is true respecting the ordinary affairs of life, still more obviously so as regards the exigencies of approaching disease. Unquestionably! Yet how many neglect to practically recognize this plain truth when health is in the balance. Of the many premonitory symptoms of disease a hacking cough is the most prophetic of peril Arrest it at the outset with Dr. WISHART'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL, and so avoid Consumption. Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, and, indeed, all Affections of the Respiratory Organs are entirely cured by this sovereign remedy, which also eradicates Dyspepsia, Gravel, Piles, Nervous Debility, Scrofulous Affections, Difficulties, Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Scrofulous Affections, and the infirmities peculiar to the gentler sex. This Cordial derives its virtues from the vegetable kingdom, and is infinitely to be preferred, both on account of its superior efficacy and freedom from nauseous and injurious properties to the officinal drugs so often administered with no other effect than to offend the palate and disorder the stomach. The PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL can always be relied on to do what is claimed for it. Sold by all druggists. Principal Depot No. 916 Filbert st., Philadelphia.

SITTING BULL IN CANADA.

Corr. New York World.

Major Walsh met the Indians on the White Mud. Sitting Bull in person acted as spokesman of his force. He said that he had been driven out of his own country by the American troops; that he wanted peace with them, but they would give him no peace; that he wished to come and live in British territory for a time, and that if the Queen would permit him to hunt and live in her country he would pledge himself not to go further west than the Cypress Hills, nor further east than the Dirt Hills on the Souris river; and that he would keep the peace, for he had no quarrel either with the Queen's soldiers or the Indians in the Queen's territories

Major Walsh answered that, while he would not prevent Sitting Bull from temporarily camping, if he chose, on British soil, he would not until he heard from Ottawa permit him to advance further east than the White Mud or further north than the southern skirt of the Barren Lands; that Sitting Bull had always been a fighter in the States, and that the Queen's officers did not want to be troubled with him; that traders would be prevented from selling guns or ammunition, or other fighting material to Sitting Bull's force, and that if Sitting Bull made the slightest attempt to levy war on the President's soldiers from his camp on the Canadian side of the boundary, the Queen's troops and all her Indians would at once take him in the rear and smite him with all their strength.

This displeased the Sioux chief, and had he been sure of being supported by the Canadian Indians or any large number of them, he would doubtless have attacked the police, who did not at that time number more than a 180 officers and men. Major Walsh, however, repeated what he had said with emphasis, and had it proclaimed to Sitting Bull's force that the Queen had troops enough near by to drive them across the boundary and up to the guns of the President's soldiers, and that she would order her last man out if Sitting Bull sought either to kindle war on British territory or fight the American troops from inside the boundary. Sitting Bull was then allowed to camp a few miles north of where the Trader's road crosses the White Mud. He had barely three hundred lodges, but stragglers subquently came in.

OFFICE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25, 1877.

Messrs. Editor of The Sun: Since the report I made officially to the Governor of the State has been made public you have published a number of criticisms from the press in different parts of the State, the general tenor of which was denying the accuracy of my report, and some of them, notably the statement of the trustees for the Washington County Almshouse, even making charges against my veracity and fairness in the strictures I passed upon the condition and management of that institution.

In my report to the Governor I stated that I was accompanied in my official visits by Dr. John S. Conrad, superintendent of the Maryland State Insane Hospital. In all these visits, except three, viz., to the counties of Anne Arundel, Cecil and St. Mary's, Dr. Conrad accompanied me.

I now reiterate every word I have said in my report as to the condition of the prisons and almshouse of our State at the date of my visitation to them. If the truth is disagreeable and damning to the authorities charged with the great, important and delicate administration of these trusts, the responsibility is not with me, nor can it be escaped by them by calling me hard names

I accompany this communication with a letter from Dr. Conrad, dated 25th of August, 1877, and addressed to me by the doctor, without any solicitation on my part. If additional corroborative testimony is required as to the truth of my report it will be furnished to the public, and the assertions therein contained will be abundantly established to the satisfaction of all, except those whose interest blinds them to facts. This letter would have been accompanied by the testimony of my colleague, Dr. E. Lloyd Howard, supporting by statement as to the general condition of these institutions as he saw them two years ago, but I regret that Dr. Howard is absent from the city, and I have no means of communicating with him at this time.

A reference to the report of Mr. G. S. Griffith, president of the Prisioner's Aid Association of Maryland, made in 1876, will serve also to show that a similar condition of these institutions existed at the time of his inspections.

Very respectfully,

CHARLES W. CHANCELLER, M. D.
Secretary of the State Board of Health.

DR. J. S. CONRAD'S LETTER.

MARYLAND HOSPITAL, Aug. 25, 1877.

My Dear Doctor: This morning's Sun contains a synopsis of the statement of the trustees of the Washington county almshouse, in which they charge you with malicious misrepresentation of the condition of their institution. The language of the trustees is such that I feel it but justice to you and the public to say that your report is true in all respects, both in detail and the general condition of the institution. I accompanied you on your visit of inspection, and took careful notes of the entire place, which I now have in hand. I also remember with accuracy many other facts, of which I have a record, not stated in your report, and which would still further add to the condemnation of this institution.

You remember, doubtless, that we arrived at the door of the almshouse at 8½ A. M., February 24, and met Mr. Legget, the superintendent, as he was about to make his morning visit, with a basket in hand. When he entered the door with us the scene that presented itself can never be forgotten. Your description of it is moderate. The passage-way was almost blockaded with a mass of human beings, male and female, white and colored, sane and insane, firm and infirm, some violent, others crouching, whilst others were making their way through the crowd, apparently not knowing whither they were going, nor for what purpose. From the rooms on either side were heard loud voices from the insane inmates, whilst in advance of us the sound of clanking chains added a horror to the scene, the like of which I have never before witnessed.

The condition of the girl, Susan Huttman, is in no respect overdrawn, and, what is more, the superintendent must have known of her condition. The door of the room was locked by a padlock and chain, and when he was asked for the key to enter it, replied that he did not have it. We then passed on, and after finishing our inspection, again stopped at the door and demanded admittance. He again said he had not the key, but being told that he must break the lock, the key was produced and given him by an inmate standing near by. All other facts given in your report of this establishment are true, as far as it goes, and in no particular overdrawn. It has never been my misfortune to have witnessed a more miserable abode of human wretchedness than was to be seen in the Washington county almthouse. February 24, 1877.

For the further vindication of the statements contained in your report respecting other institutions of the State which I visited in company with you, (excepting those of Anne Arundel, Cecil and St. Mary's, which I did not visit,) I would say that your report of each and every one of them is accurately correct, and in no respect an overdrawn picture of the institutions described in your report.

You are at liberty to make whatever use of this communication that you may think proper. Very truly yours.

J. S CONRAD

MR. CONKLING ON POLITICS.

HE BELIEVES THAT TILDEN WAS REALLY ELECTED, BUT THAT HAYES' TITLE IS TOLERABLY GOOD.

New York Sun to-day.

UTICA, August 27.—Senator Conkling since his return from Europe, has given no public utterance to his political views, but in conversation with his friends he does not hesitate to discuss the affairs of the country, with freedom and force. He is fortunate, in numbering among his ardent admirers several active workers who are never troubled with opinions of their own. From them, and from other sources, I have been able to learn what the Senator thinks of the present situation.

To begin with, he does not hesitate to declare that Tilden was elected President. As he puts it, the votes as they came out of the ballot boxes showed a majority for the Democratic ticket. He thinks there may have been intimidation in some parts of the South, but not of a sort to vitiate the result. He thinks Tilden's election was as fair as elections are apt to be, and he has no defense to offer for the Louisiana Returning Board.

But after the Governor of that State, acting on the declaration of the board, had issued certificates to the Hayes electors, there was no help for it but to submit the question to Congress. Mr. Conkling rejected from the first the absurd notion that the presiding officer of the Senate was clothed with power to render judgment on disputed returns. He studied the question carefully before he left Utica for Washington last winter, and his mind was fully made up.

Under no circumstances would he have become a consenting party to such an act of usurpation on the part of the acting Vice-President. He accepted and advocated the Electorial Commission because he believed, and still believes, that it was the only practicable plan for preserving peace. He differs from those who think that the country was not in serious danger, and points to the recent strikes to show that a comparatively slight cause might have produced a great outbreak.

Both Houses of Congress having accepted the Commission, he holds that its decision was final, and that the title of Hayes—although he was not elected—is as valid as the law can make it.

Mr. Conkling's echoing friends do not hesitate to denounce Hayes' policy with unmeasured severity, and I am assured that their words reflect his opinions.

☞ One by one the veterans of the battle of North Point are dropping into their graves, and before many years have elapsed the last of the gallant band that saved the city from spoliation on the 12th of September, 1814, will have gone to his rest. At the meeting of the Old Defenders' Association last evening, Colonel Nicholas Brewer, the Secretary, stated that eight members died during the year.—Balt. American 29th inst.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

JOHN FRAZIER AND OTHERS,

vs.

EBEN W. FRAZIER AND OTHERS.

IN THE ORPHANS' COURT FOR KENT COUNTY, MARYDAND, AUGUST 7, 1877.

THE object of the Bill in the above entitled case is to procure a Decree for the sale of certain Real Estate, with the improvements thereon, particularly described in the proceedings hereunder.

The Bill states that Caroline Frazier, late of Kent county, deceased, was, in her life-time, possessed in fee simple of a certain farm or plantation with improvements thereon, and containing about one hundred acres of land, it being the same property which was devised to her by John Frazier, by will dated December 4, 1866, and, now on file and of record in the Office of the Register of Wills for Kent county, aforesaid, and also that tract known as the "Mill Lot" containing about fifty (50) acres of land; and thirty acres of woodland in the forest; and being so possessed, the said Caroline Frazier departed this life intestate on or about the 14th day of April 1876, leaving the following heirs-at-law: John Frazier of Baltimore City in the State of Maryland, Ellie M. Scowdrick, wife of James H. Scowdrick, of the State of Delaware; Aramin a M. Griffith, wife of Irving G. Griffith, of Cecil county, in the State of Maryland; Eben W. Frazier, of the State of New York; Franklin B. Frazier and Mary Caroline Frazier, of the State of Delaware, and Eddie Estelle Frazier of Kent county, Maryland. That all the parties herein named, are adults over the age of twenty-one years, except Eddie Estelle Frazier, who is an infant under the age of twenty-one years. That the lands and premises mentioned above are still unsold and undivided: That the said Real Estate is not susceptible of partition among the parties aforesaid without loss and injury to the said minor and to all the parties concerned, and that it will be to the interest of all the said parties that the same should be sold and the proceeds distributed among the parties in proportion to their respective interest.

And the petitioners pray that the writ Subpoena may be granted against the said Eddie Estelle Frazier, commanding her to appear in this Court at some certain day to be named therein, to answer the premises and abide by and perform such order or Decree as may be passed therein:—also an "Order of Publication" giving notice to Ellie M. Scowdrick and James H. Scowdrick, her husband, and Franklin B. Frazier and Mary Caroline Frazier of the State of Delaware, and Eben W. Frazier of the State of New York, of the substance and object of this petition and warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before a certain day, to answer the premises and show cause if any they have, why an order ought not to pass as prayed.

It is thereupon adjudged and ordered that the complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper printed in Kent county, once in each of four successive weeks before the tenth day of September next, give notice to the said absent Defendants of the object and substance of this Bill and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the eleventh day of December next, to answer the premises, and show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to pass as prayed.
