THE ELECTION IN MARYLAND.

[Baltimore Sun of Wednesday.]

Very little interest was manitested in the election in Maryland and the vote is smal, though the democratic majorities in the city are overwhelming. Returns and estimates, however, indicate that the majority in the State for the democrats will be over 25,000. In the city of Baltimore alone the majority for Thos. J. Keating, democratic candidate for comptroller, is 22,291, out of a total vote of 35,083, which is but very little over the total vote cast by the democrats for Col. George P. Kane on the 24th of October. Mr. Keating in the city received a total vote of 28,687, and Dr. Porter, the republican candidate for State comptroller, received only 6,396.

For sheriff of Baltimore city the total vote cast was 34,007, of which Col. P. M. Snowden, democrat, received 28,623, and S. W. Pierce, workingman, received 5,383, making Col. Snowden's majority 23,239.

The clean sweep in Baltimore in October and November of this year places in office in this city no one but democrats. All the candidates on the legislative ticket are elected.

The indications are that Baltimore county has wheeled into line with the city and will give a democratic majority of about 1,700.

Frederick county elects Col. Wm. Richardson, republican, sheriff, by about 500 majority, and the rest of the republican ticket by about 250 majority. The Senator in Frederick, Dr. L. H. Steiner, republican, holds over.

Washington county will probably return a divided delegation to the Legislature. The Senator, D. H. Newcomer, republican, holds over.

Dorchester county is very close, and the Senator doubtful.

Fourteen counties out of the twenty-three in Maryland stands as follows:

Democratic—Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Cecil, Dorchester, Harford, Howard, Kent Montgomery, Talbot and Wicomico.

Divided—Allegany and Washington. Republican, Frederick.

Of the rest the democrats expected to carry Calvert, Caroline, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's and Worcester. In Charles county one delegate is expected by the democrats. Garrett will be divided and close. From Prince George's, where the senatorial fight and county are close, no returns have been received. It is thought Mr. Hill, the independent democratic candidate, would defeat Mr. Calvert, regular democratic. In Somerset the contest is close on local officers, particularly the clerk of the court.

☞The duties of an editor are multifarious and perplexing. He has to contend with a thousand reasonable and ten thousand unreasonable people; he has to select from various exchanges matters wherewithal to please the taste of the grave, the gay, the happy, the melancholy the philanthropist, the misanthropist, the male, and—what is worse, than all—the female.

Again, he has to torment his eyes in deciphering the cramped and almost illegible chirography of those who aspire to appear in print, and, after all his pains, it is ten to one that he finds the easy fit only for the waste basket.

Another bore, and one that is often a most provoking one, he must have an editorial paragraph or two in every paper, and, whether his head is seething with pain or his limbs racked with rheumatism, he must write—else his patrons are dissatisfied. This is no easy matter; for, amid the grievances above enumerated, he has to listen for hours to people who think they know how a paper ought to be edited. Moreover, when he has made up his mind to write, he has another thing to do; he must find a subject, and in this monopolizing world, where can he find anything novel? Not in the water—Maury has sounded the depths of the multitudinous sea. Not in the earth—Hugh Miller has discovered all. Not in the air—for Wilson, Audibon and Huber have found out the secrets of every bird that wings along, and of every insect that flirts in the sunbeam or sports in the evening air. Not on the starry heavens; for Newton, Herschel and La Place, have traversed infinite space, and left no unappropriated realms to subsequent explorers. On the human species, no, Darwin has proven to the satisfaction of the scientist that our ancestors were monads and apes. Not among men, for every man, who has anything worth knowing, keeps it to himself, that he may make profit to his purse or to obtain a patent to immortalize his name and secure the exclusive right to himself and heirs; then among women; no, that is a fair and unfair subject, and he thrives best who has least to do with it. Now then, on what can an editor write a paragraph—on politics? No, the subject is stale, flat and unprofitable, besides the public are consummate statemen, whom it would be presumption to attempt to enlighten on their favorite topic. They are versed in the occult mysteries of Legisiation, municipal and otherwise. They thoroughly understand the modus operandi of eliminating, so as to elicit plus out of minus quantities, and are experts in reconciling the discrepancies between theoretical and practical liberty.

What, then, must an editor write on—anything? On friendship or love: is there anything more novel than these now-a-days? On hypocrisy or deceit; is there anything more abundant in the market? On liberality, honesty or plain dealing; than which no subject sounds better in theory, or is less reduced to practice? If he writes satire or scandal, he is sued for libel. If he writes on a subject treated on by another writer, he incurs the charge of plagiarism If he writes on a new patent, he is possibly involved in litigation. If he writes a lengthy editorial on any interesting topic of the day, ten to one nobody reads the labored production, and if he writes no editorial, good, bad or indifferent, he is adjudged to be a non compos, totally unfit to be enrolled among the glorious fraternity of that black art, that embaims all thoughts, inventions and discoveries.—Baltimore Bee.

THE RESULT FO THE STATE ELECTIONS.

The result of the election in Maryland yesterday (says the Baltimore Sun of Wednesday) was a clean sweep for the Democratic ticket by about 25,000 majority. The aggregate vote was comparatively light, there being generally but little active interest felt in the election, the result being a foregone conclusion.

In Virginia there was no opposition to the Democratic State ticket, and this, in connection with the requirement exacting the poll-tax from every voter caused a light vote. Important issues, however, were involved in the legislative election in Virginia, and the result indicates the choice of a majority of delegates opposing readjustment of the State debt and in favor of maintaining the Moffett liquor tax register.

In Pennsylvania the Democratic gains as reported indicate that that party has carried the State by a handsome majority.

The Republicans carried Massachusetts by an increased majority. As the Republican platform in that State contained a full indorsement of the policy of President Hayes this result is significant, and is a decided offset to the action of the New York malcontents under the lead of Senator Conkling.

In Connecticut the Republicans continue in power, thus securing a Republican successor to United States Senator Barnum, Democrat, in 1879.

The returns from Wisconsin indicate the continuance of the Republicans in power in that State, as also in Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska. The Wisconsin Democrats, however, claim to have elected at least a part of their ticket.

Peculiar interest, however, has been felt in the mixed contest in New York, where no less than seven State tickets were in the field, including the Republican, Democratic, German-American, Independent, Prohibition, Greenback, Workingmens and Breadwinners. The contest for Secretary of State was very energetic, but the Democrats carried their State and legislative tickets. The most interesting feature of the election in New York city was the defeat of the regular Tammany candidate for the seventh senatorial district, Augustus Schell, by John Morrissey, anti-Tammany.

The returns from New Jersey indicate the election of Gen'l. McClellan by about 10,000 majority.

From Mississippi the returns show that the State has gone Democratic with but a slight local exception or two.

THE GREAT LAND SUIT.

It was announced some time since that a Mrs. Millar, of New York, had instituted suit in that city for the recovery of a large amount of patent land lying in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and in the city of Philadelphia. The New York Herald says that these lands were purchased from the State of Virginia by John Young, a wealthy cracker and army bread baker, between the years 1785 and 1812. For certain family reasons patents to the amount of 119,000 acres, though registered in various court houses, were kept by a son of John Young's for many years locked up in a box. Last summer this gentleman, Ferdinand M. Young, of Baton Rouge, La., gave the documents to his daughter, Mrs. Millar, together with a quit claim, which enables her to bring suit where she resides. The deed was placed on record in New York a short time ago, and several of the parties who are now occupying the land have expressed their willingness to compromise. She will probably pursue the same policy as Mrs. Gaines did in New Orleans, and will use the money received from these compromises to prosecute the other claims. The only heirs so far are Ferdinand M. Young, of Baton Rouge; his daughter, Mrs. Millar; William Nash Young, of Frederick City, Md., and John Ball, of Philadelphia. A valuable portion of the claim consists of property in the immediate vicinity of Washington Square, Philadelphia, and also in Alexandria, Va. Portions of the Virginia lands are now occupied by the Central and other coal companies. Portions of the lands in West Virginia were surveyed by George Washington, to whose wife, the ex-widow Custis, John Young was related by marriage.

☞A work of great interest and value has been prosecuted in the Chesapeake Bay during the summer and fall under the auspices of the U. S. Coast Survey. Prof. J. E. Hilgard, in the schooner Palinurus, commanded by Lieut. Frederick Collins, U. S. N., has been making a scientific study of the oyster fields of the Bay. The observations were directed towards the density of the water and the character of the bottom of the bay, to find out the quality of the water and of bottom in which the oyster reaches the greatest perfection, being the special object of the work. Five hundred and seventy specimens of water were taken from 148 stations extending from Havre-de-Grace to points fifteen miles outside the capes. The density of the water was obtained on board the schooner by an instrument devised for that purpose. The specimens obtained from the bottom are preserved in jars and sent to the chemical department of the Coast Survey at Washington for thorough analysis. This study of the bay will be of great value when the data is all formulated, and the results published.

A NEW DIE PREPARED IN ANTICIPATION OF THE REMONETIZATION OF SILVER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—If the silver dollar is remonetized its recoinage will have the effect of adding a singularly beautiful piece to our circulation, and give some relief to the Liberty seated on vacancy and looking into nothing, which has disfigured our silver currency for twenty years. The new die, prepared in anticipation of the passage of the bill, has on the obverse a medallion head of Liberty, with sprigs of cotton and corn in place of the traditional fillet. The execution of the head is remarkably free and the arrangement of the hair on the forehead and the disposition of the lines around the chin and neck are treated with remarkable grace and freedom.—The reverse has an eagle displayed. The mottoes on the coin will be "United States of America" and "E pluribus Unum," with the date. Where the secondary motto is to go, "In God we Trust," is not yet determined, but it will not be left off. A study was made of an eagle from life, but it proved unsatisfactory, and the antique type was followed.

THE RESULT IN QUEEN ANNE'S.—An "extra" from the office of the Centreville Observer, shows an overwhelming Democratic victory in Queen Anne's Co. Keating's majority over Porter is 575, and the average majority of the delegate ticket is 562.

Base Ball and Cricket Playing are acknowledged by all eminent authorities to afford the most healthy exercise and recreation. To be sure there are always enough sprained fingers, bruised hands and muscular soreness, but these are most quickly and surely cured by that excellent family Remedy, Keller's Roman Liniment, costing but 50 cents, and sold by druggists.

No one would willingly disturb the comfort of a public gathering by constant coughing, but we feel that it is the proper thing to call the attention of those afflicted with Coughs, Colds or Croup to J. F. Leary's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar, which always cures.

A Time-Honored Specific.—The long and successful career of Dr. WISHART'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL, as contrasted with the speedy collapse of nostrums devoid of efficacy which have from time to time been puffed into a brief notoriety during the twenty odd years that this celebrated medicine has been sold, affords a proof that the American public continues to repose its confidence in deserving articles only. The PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL has long been recognized as the leading specific for Consumption, Cronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma Diptheria, and all other diseases of the breathing organs. It is, moreover, a certain, speedy, and safe botanic remedy for Dyspepsia, Liver Disorders, Scrofulous Affections, Urinary Troubles, Gravel, Dropsy, Debility, Constipation, and Female Complaints. Constantly accumulating evidence of an unimpeachable character establishes the facts that it not only entirely exticates the diseases to which it is adapted, but also that its action is remarkably prompt and thorough. The crucial test of experience has demonstrated its reliability in every particular. Sold by all druggists.
