To one ould Table and fforme and two old Ch
and one ould Bog, one ould warming pann —
one ould Bog smoothing Iron and two heaters

To Eleven old Pewter dishes, one ould —
Pewter Bason, three pewter Porringers one Pewter quart pot, one pewter Salt seller
one Pewter Beaker one Pewter Dram Cup six Spoons an old Ramkin pot all of these things old

To one Bell mettall Spice morter and pestle
and an old Brass Kettle and one pinte Brass Kettle old, and two old Brass Candlesticks —

To one Earthen Butter dish, 4 for all sorts of Earthen ware, two milke pans and six Earthen Butterpots 4 wooden Trayes a bowle
and a platter

To an old Churne and Churne stick an old halfe Bushell, two old sifters an old thirty gallon Cask, three wooden chayres, 3 pailes
and a piggin, & an old hominy sifter —

To three Iron spotts and 2 payr of Pothooks
one payr of Broken Tongs and one cross cut saw, three wedges & one ffrying pan one handsaw one padlock and key an Iron all these things very old —

To an old Bread Tree, an old Mell & two Pokes an old Plough and two Chains 2
old frows and an old Couch, one old Gridiron an old Grindstone, an ould howing and an augur, an ould Cradle an ould gun —

To 11 head of hoggs —

To two old feather beds an ould feather bolster, an ould ffloock pillow two very ould Ruggs, one very old Blanket —

To one Spade — — — — — 15

The Bells is

To Tobacco since the appraysement — 75
To one Gun not fixed — — — —
To one very ould Blanket —

The Cattle and the moverably comes to —

John Erickson
The marke of
Thomas T Bright

The last will and Testimony of William Harris being sick and weake but of perfect memory.

primis If in case that Elizabeth Harris the wife of William Harris doe depart this life before me.

vlt I give and bequeath unto Jonathan Neale my hundred acres of land lying at the head of Acton Creeke, called Harrisses Mount.

Next I give and bequeath unto Margaret Hawkins the younger, my One called Charity and my hundred acres of land after the decease of Jonathan Neale, to fall to the said Margret Hawkings.

Item I give unto my sister Bird in England five pounds sterling, if in case she be in the body, and if not, then that five pounds to five pounds more —