Chestertown Transcript.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 25, 1879.

In our columns of this issue, will be found the premium awards of this season's Kent county Fair.

Mrs. Gill intending to discontinue business in the shoe line, is selling her stock of shoes low. Read her advertisement in another column.

A Success.—The ladies of St. James's Methodist Protestant Church, Worton, realized, we learn, the handsome sum of four hundred and fifty dollars from their eating and refreshment tables at the Kent Fair last week.

Festival.—We call attention to the advertisement, in another column, of a Festival to be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, [illegible] and 2d, by the ladies of Rock Hall Episcopal Church.

[illegible] under the direction of Mrs. Lake [illegible] at the Court House next Tuesday [illegible] 30th inst. There are to be pro[illegible]singers from Baltimore and Philadelphia assisted by home talent. Mrs. Lake also tells us that Mr. Washington Hudgins is to deliver one of his humorous readings on the occasion.

Worton M. P. Parsonage.—R. K. Pippin, Esq. of this town, has the contract for building the parsonage for St. James' congregation. The main building will be 18 by 36 feet, two stories high with gable front. Back building two-stories, 22 by 16 feet. It is to be completed by the end of December next.

A Daily Fair Journal.—W. Scott Way, the enterprising editor of the Middletown Transcript will issue a daily paper, every morning, during the continuance of the Fair, which will be sold by carriers in the town and on the fair grounds. As brother Way is conceded to be the most humorous writer on the Peninsula, a spicy and altogether entertaining paper may be expected.

The Tolchester season is about over. In a round trip we made to Baltimore by the "Pilot Boy" last Tuesday, we found quite a number of excursionists embarked for the trip over from Baltimore, however. The fishing is getting to be fine at Tolchester. We noticed a number of Baltimore anglers, who had taken in some very fine Taylors, fishing from the wharf. Messrs. Eliason & Co., propose to close up for the season soon.

Death from the Kick of a Mule.—Early on Wednesday morning, the 17th instant, Mr. Levin M. Rollison, (youngest son of Mr. H. M. Rollison), at the time in the employ of Mr. John Greenwood, of Wm., on the "Brooks Farm," near Perkins's hill, drove up some mules from a pasture field into the stable, and, in passing by a stall one of them kicked him so severely that he died from the injury on Friday night following. Mr. Rollison was a steady and industrious man, 32 years of age. He leaves a wife and two small children.

The Baltimore Evening Bulletin, came to us on Monday last, very much enlarged and otherwise greatly improved in appearance, making it a handsome paper. The enlargement gives an additional amount of space equal to about eleven of its former columns, and increases the size of the paper by more than a third. The hour of publication, 5 o'clock, will enable it to give a careful record, in every department, of the business transactions of the day. The Bulletin says of itself: "As in the past, it will be unwaveringly loyal to the Democratic party, but in its work of promoting the commercial prosperity of Baltimore it will know no parties and no political distinctions."

Middletown Fair.—The sixth annual exhibition of the Peninsula Agricultural and Pomological Association will open next Tuesday, the 30th instant, at Middletown, Del. It is expected that it will, in every respect, be the best and most successful yet held by the Association. The managers have for several weeks been very actively engaged in improving the grounds and buildings and making every possible preparation to accommodate exhibitors and visitors. The exhibits in every department, it is confidently expected, will be larger than heretofore. The entries for trials of speed number about fifty fast trotters, to contend for the liberal prizes offered.

[From Centreville Observer.]

Drowned.—Last Wednesday information reached this town that a canoe had sunken in Chester river off the mouth of Corsica creek, and that two men had been drowned. The fact that the canoe was off the mouth of Corsica creek and was probably heading for this place led to the suspicion, vague though it was, that the lost men might probably be Messrs. Enoch C. Lurty and James Hill, who had gone out to the river after their usual weekly supply of oysters for their trade here. But few persons, however, harbored the suspicion until Friday when it was found that the absent men were then overdue some twenty-four hours, having left home with the expressed intention of returning on Thursday. Later in the week the hat of Mr. Hill, the boat sails, a coat belonging to one of them, and an oar and some other articles known to have been on their boat were picked up by persons who were passing up and down the river, and this created a strong probability that the two gentlemen may have been the unfortunate creatures lost from the canoe. Parties went down to the river in boats and made search for the absent men, and on Sunday all doubts were removed by the finding of the body of Mr. Hill floating about a hundred yards from the Kent shore at what is known as Nichols point. It was found by Messrs. Wm. F. Watson, Wm. C. McFarland and Robert H. Moore, who, summoning assistance, put the body on a seine boat and brought it to Centreville Landing where it was fully identified as that of Mr. Hill and an inquest was held over the remains by Esquire Goldsborough. After viewing the body and hearing the testimony the jury, A. A. Duhamel foreman, rendered a verdict of accidental drowning, and the body was taken in charge by the friends of the deceased for interment. The body was viewed by quite a number of persons, and it presented a horrible appearance, having been much mutilated by crabs. The nose, chin, ears, lips and other portions of the face had been entirely eaten off, so that so far as the face was concerned it was impossible to recognize the body, and it could only be identified by the clothing, the color of its hair and its general correspondence to Mr. Hill. The body of Mr. Lurty has not yet been found.

It has been learned upon inquiry that the two men were seen in their canoe on Wednesday morning with a very heavy load of oysters on board, the sides of the canoe being almost to the water's edge and it is supposed that as they undertook to round Spaniard's Point the heavy sea rolling at the time filled the canoe and caused her to sink. Mr. Lurty was a good swimmer, but Mr. Hill could not swim at all, and it is surmised that Lurty endeavored to save Hill, and that they both went down together.

Both men leave wives, and Lurty leaves one or two children. Mrs. Lurty says that when her husband left home to go oystering he expressed more reluctance about going that morning than he had ever done before, and after kissing his family good-bye and leaving the house he came back and kissed them good-bye again, seeming to feel great hesitancy about leaving them. They were both men of fine character, and had many friends who feel keenly the untimely loss.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—The October number of the Eclectic, contains a finely-executed portrait on steel of Francis Parkman, one of the most eminent of American historians; and the portrait is accompanied by a brief but complete and interesting sketch of his life. The literary contents of the number are as follows: "Hours in a Library—Gray and his School," by Leslie Stephen; "The French Play in London," by Matthew Arnold; "The Study of the Classics," by Alexander Bain; "Souvenirs of Madame Vigee Le Brun;" "Half-Hearted," a poem; "White Wings: a Yachting Romance," by William Black. Chapters V. to VII.; "The Origin of the Week," by Richard A. Proctor; 'Conversations with Prince Napoleon," by the late Nassau W. Senior; "An Episode in the Russo Turkish War;" "Mademoiselle de Mersac," a Novel, Chapters XVIII. and XIX.; "Influence of the Mind on the Body;" "Americans in Europe;" "Is Nest-Building an Instinct in Birds?"; "The Two Crosses of Honor;" "At Sea;" and the biographical sketch of Mr. Parkman already mentioned. Besides these, the Editorial Departments, filled with copious notes on home and foreign literature, science, and art, complete a number of great interest and variety.

Published by E. R. PELTON, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single number, 45 cents; Trial subscription for three months, $1.

We all have our preferences; but no one prefers to hear a crying baby when the fact is so well know that Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup would at once quiet it.

Better men's and boys clothing cannot be had any where than at C. N. OHEM & SON'S Leading Cash Clothing House. Their immense assortment, together with the one price cash system insures lowest prices and perfect safety in dealing to those not so sure of their own judgement. Our experience has taught us always to buy there and we say go to them without fail.

DYEING.—The old dyeing establishment branch office, 110 West Baltimore street, is as ever, prepared to do all kinds of work in their line, with neatness, cheapness and dispatch. The superior character of their work enables them to please the most fastidious, and save the frugal many a dollar. The attention of our lady readers is specially called to their Balto. Branch office.

ANALYSIS:

Alkaline Salts	5 to 6 per cent.

CHURCH HILL, August 6, 1879.

MR. A. A. WILLSON—Dear Sir:—In reply to your inquiry of my experience of Orchilla Guano, say I used three tons, at the rate of 400 lbs. per acre, alongside of two other first-class fertilizers, at the same rate per acre, and found when I cut my wheat the heads on the straw were larger in every way and the grain more fully developed than the other fertilizers. I have seen it in use on other lands where the result has been very satisfactory. On stiff white oak rough lands I believe it to be superior to any fertilizer in use, and recommend it to persons using fertilizers.

Respectfully,
CHAS. WEATHERBY.

CHURCH HILL, MD., July 1st, 1879.

MR. ALBERT A. WILLSON, Centreville, Md.—Dear Sir:—I used one-half ton of your Orchilla Guano last fall on wheat, at the rate of 300 lbs. per acre, on light land, and the result was equal to that of other fertilizers that cost me 35 and 40 per cent. more than the Orchilla. I believe it to be an honest and good fertilizer.

Very respectfully,
WM. J. SENNETT.

Mr. J. S. KNAPP—Sir:—I have made a thorough test of the London Food and recommend it to the public as a good Improvement Food for horses. I will use it in preference to any condition powders I know of.

JOHN S. KNAPP—Sir:—Having used the London Horse and Cattle Food on both my horses and cows, I cheerfully recommend it to the public as a good condition food for the horse and a profitable condiment for cattle, as it will cause cows to give more milk and make at least 20 per cent more butter than any condition powders ever used. Hoping this will induce my friends to try it, after which I am convinced they will bear the same testimony as to its merits as I do.

VOSHELL HOUSE.

THE UNDERSIGNED takes this method of tendering his heartfelt thanks to his old friends and the public generally for the liberal support and sympathy so generously extend to him under the recent adverse circumstances by which he has been surrounded, and takes great pleasure in informing them that the house, in a few days, will be in first-class condition, the repairs and improvements thereto being made under his own supervision.

THE STABLING,

which is commodious and in excellent condition, is now under his control, and those entrusting their horses and carriages to his care may rest assured that they will be faithfully attended to by trusty and experienced hostlers.

as heretofore, will always be found supplied with substantials and delicacies of the season, and will be under the experienced management of his wife, who will see that no pains are spared to make it, in every respect, first-class.

With the fixed purpose of leaving nothing undone on my part which will conduce to the comfort of my guests, I respectfully solicit the patronage of the public.

JOHN C. VOSHELL.
