Chestertown Transcript.

THURSDAY, JAN. 22, 1880.

February will have Five Sundays. This happens, it is said, but three times in a century.

Trix has a communication in another column in this issue, headed "Jottings by the Wayside." Read it.

Lent.—The season of Lent commences this year much earlier than usual, Ash Wednesday falling on February 11th and Easter Sunday on the 28th of March.

The Name of Rev. W. J. Lucas, a graduate of Washington College and now a minister of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, appears as one of the five chaplains to the Legislature.

Unusual.—Last Tuesday evening, about 8 o'clock, this section was visited by a heavy shower of rain, preceded by vivid lightning and thunder. January, so far, has been almost as mild as the weather usually is in April.

Revival Meetings are being held at both the Methodist churches in this town. At the M. E. Church the meeting is in its third week; at the M. P. Church it began last Sunday night. They are both having good congregations and interesting meetings.

The School Board for Kent county reorganized last Tuesday. Richard W. Jones, Esq., was elected President, and E. F. Perkins, Esq., reelected as Secretary, Treasurer and Examiner. The members of the board are R. W. Jones, C. J. Scott and J. A. Pearce, Esqs.

Baltimore Grain Market.—From the Sun of Tuesday, we make quotations as follows: The small offerings of Southern wheat were sold at $1 40 for mixed and $1 45 for long-berry, and the market was firm. The demand for Southern corn is moderate and the market is heavy. The sales were at 60 cents for white and 57 cts. for yellow corn.

New Firm.—We call attention to the advertisement on our first page in this issue, of B. R. Hillman & Co., Clothiers. This firm succeeds the Baltimore house of John Wanamaker, and Kent county people dealing in Baltimore will doubtless meet with the politest attention, and find them prepared to furnish Clothing as well made and as cheap as the old firm.

Additional Teachers.—The School Board on Tuesday last determined to employ an additional teacher, for the lowest primary grade of the public school in this town. Additional help has long been needed, the number of pupils in attendance being entirely too large to be properly cared for by five teachers. An addition to the present building is to be built immediately, to afford an additional room.

The board also allowed the school at Sassafras an additional teacher.

Runaway Accident.—Percy Farson, the son of Mr. S. V. Farson of this town, was, on last Saturday, riding on a dearborn loaded with lumber, which he was hauling from the yard of T. W. Eliason, Jr., to his father's house on Calvert street. At the stone crossing nearly opposite the church, the dearborn jolted so as to make the boards touch the horse, which became frightened and started to run. Farther up, the dearbo[illegible] some other obstruction, and was th[illegible] into the air and turned completely over. Percy was caught under the dearborn and held there until the vehicle was removed by his father and some others. Fortunately he was not much hurt, the worst damage being that he was pretty thoroughly soaked in mud and water.

Lloyd in Trouble Again.—William alias Budd Lloyd, who was recently tried in Harford county for murder, and acquitted, has again brought himself into prominence by an attempted outrage upon a colored woman in this town. Lloyd was arrested last Friday and taken before Justice Johnson, on a charge made by Julia Starling, who testified that on the previous evening she and Lloyd were visiting at a house together, and that when she started home, at about half-past ten o'clock, Lloyd accompanied her, and soon began to talk to her about carrying pistols and razors. She made him no reply, and when they were nearly opposite the colored Church at the upper end of Calvert street, Lloyd threw her down, dragged her in front of the church, and attempted to commit an outrage upon her person. She screamed, and her cries attracted the attention of Henry Giles, a colored man. Giles corroborates the latter part of the girl's testimony. He says he put his head out of his window and hallooed, and the man ran. He did not recognize him. Lloyd made no denial of the charge, but says the girl encouraged him in the first instance.

Important Decision.—A decision of considerable importance was rendered in the Circuit Court for Kent county, on Monday last, by his Honor Judge Wickes, in the case of L. H. Lee & Bro. vs. Philip E. Trew. The case was replevin, brought to recover a Champion Reaper. The principal facts are these: The plaintiffs, by their agent, sold to Thomas Trew a Champion Reaper, for the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars, payable in two installments of seventy-five dollars each, for which notes were given, with a condition that no title was to pass to the vendee until the payment of the entire purchase money. Subsequent to the first payment of seventy-five dollars, but prior to the payment of the last installment, a creditor of Philip E. Trew levied an execution on the said reaper with other personalty, and an assignment of the execution was made to William G. Trew, who paid the claim, took possession of the personal property, and the reaper included. He subsequently sold the said reaper to the defendant. Thomas Trew failing to pay the second note at maturity, the plaintiffs, Lee & Bro., sued out a replevin to recover their property. The case being submitted to the Court on an agreed statement of facts and the written argument of counsel, a verdict was given for defendant. The Court, in rendering its opinion, explained the law as ruled in several cases by the Court of Appeals of our State, that personal property in the hands of an innocent purchaser, without notice of any condition at the time of the sale, cannot be recovered by the vendor, and that the title passes to the innocent purchaser even should it appear that fraud was an element of the possession of the first vendee. The intermediate purchasers in this case had no notice of the conditions of the sale.

Visit of the Kent Guards to Annapolis.—At the invitation of the Captain, H. W. Vickers, Esq., we joined the small party of civilians accompanying the Kent Guards to Annapolis, last Wednesday, on the occasion of the inauguration of Governor Hamilton.

The Guards, numbering about forty men, rank and file, and headed by the Kent Cornet Band, Mr. John N. Dodd, leader, marched from their armory promptly at 4 A. M., and at the county wharf, foot of High street, boarded the steamer Leila, of the State Fishery Force, Capt. Travers commander, which had been secured for the occasion through the kind offices of our accommodating Senator, William T. Hepbron. The boat at once made a start, but, owing to the dense fog then prevailing, was compelled to anchor in the stream when but a few hundred yards from the wharf, and there remained until about 7 o'clock, when the fog dispersed sufficiently to allow the steamer to proceed on her way; and just about that time Mr. W. Hudgins, the caterer for the occasion, announced that he was prepared to serve, in the mess-room, cold ham, corned beef, bread and butter, etc. In a twinkling he and his assistants were busily engaged in supplying the demands of a breakfastless crowd whose appetites had been whetted to a keen edge by the sharp frosty air. The steamer made a landing at Booker's wharf, down the river, and took on board Lieut. Wm. S. Watson and private Wm. Elliott of the recently disbanded "Ford Guards," also, Dr. R. M. Price, of Centreville. Lieut. Watson and private Elliott uniformed themselves and joined the ranks of the Kent Guards, where they proved themselves to be thorough soldiers and affable gentlemen. The run across the bay was a pleasant one, and made in good time, the boat arriving at Annapolis about 11 o'clock, landing at the foot of one of the principal streets. It was the intention of the Governor's Guard to meet our boys at the wharf, but the late arrival of the boat in consequence of the early morning fog, prevented them from doing so. Forming on the wharf the company, preceded by their band, took up the line of march for the State House circle, and as they moved along with the steadiness and precision of veterans, we heard many complimentary remarks on their fine appearance and soldierly bearing. The company reached the State House circle in time to take a position in the line of military which had just commenced its march to escort the Governor from his mansion to the State House. The military display was very fine, consisting of twelve companies of infantry (composed largely of the celebrated fifth regiment of Baltimore city) and a troop of cavalry. The fifth regiment was accompanied by its splendid band, the Governor's Guard by the Naval Academy band, and our own company by the Kent Cornet band.

THE MILITARY DISPLAY

opposite the main entrance to the capitol grounds was really imposing. The companies were drawn up in a long line on one side of the street, and as the Governor and his staff passed along the bands played, the military saluted, and cheers went up from the crowds lining the side-walks, all combining to render the scene a very imposing and impressive one.

THE INAUGURAL CEREMONY

took place in the Senate chamber, which was packed with spectators long before the hour set, so that none of our party heard the inaugural address or witnessed the taking of the oath of office by the Governor.

ENTERTAINMENT BY THE GOVERNOR'S GUARD.

At the conclusion of the inaugural ceremonies the Kent Guards (who received marked attention as the special guests of the Governor's Guard) together with the different companies and the fifth regiment, repaired to the armory of the Guards. Five tables, affording seating capacity for three hundred men, were set, filled with an excellent repast, and a large corps of waiters promptly served the numerous guests. A large banner with the inscription, "Welcome Fellow Soldiers of the M. N. G.," was suspended from the wall, and the room was tastefully decorated with bunting and evergreens. In the meantime, while the non-commissioned officers and privates were enjoying the collation at the armory of the Governor's Guard, the commissioned officers of the different companies were partaking of a sumptuous repast at a celebrated restaurant opposite the State House. The officers included Adjutant General Bond, Brigadier General Herbert and Staff, besides several invited guests.

AT THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION

a grand reception, occupying several hours, was held, at which a steady stream of people came and went. An elegant lunch was served to all who wanted it in the large dining-room of the mansion. Gov. Hamilton looked remarkably well and was free and hearty in the welcome he extended to every caller. Mrs. Hamilton, a lady of much grace and sweetness of manner, heartily seconded the Governor. She was assisted by Miss Josie Gerry, of Portland, Maine; Mrs. Richter, of Portsmouth, N. H.; Mrs. E. W. Mealey and Miss Annie Kennedy, of Hagerstown; Miss Julia A. Hamilton, sister of the Governor, and by his daughters Julia, Jessie and Clare. Governor Hamilton has four daughters and two sons, the names of the boys being Richard and William T., Jr.

OUR SENATOR AND REPRESENTATIVES

exerted themselves to make the visitors from Kent feel at home, and all were cordially received.

We had also the pleasure of meeting Hon. T. J. Keating, comptroller; Hon. Barnes Compton, state treasurer; Hon. Jesse K. Hines, insurance commissioner; the representatives from Queen Anne's; Messrs. Boulden, Dulaney, Armstrong, and others.

THE CITY OF ANNAPOLIS

is delightfully situated, and the State House, United States Naval Academy, St. John's College, St. Anne's P. E. Church, etc., are all objects of interest to visitors. The city claims a population of near seven thousand. Excellent hotels and restaurants are to be found on the principal streets in the vicinity of the capitol grounds, and there are many handsome private residences, large and attractive stores, &c. The city has gas and water-works, and a large, well-arranged market-house. The road-beds of some of the streets need paving; the State House circle certainly should not longer be neglected. All the streets diverge from that central point, branching off like the spokes of a wheel from the hub. The view from the top of the State House dome is a grand one; the Severn river and Chesapeake bay, dotted with the sails of commerce, lying spread out before the beholder for miles; at his feet lies the city, and in looking around it he notices that Annapolis is almost an island, only a narrow neck of land intervening between the branches of the Severn that run up on either side of it.

THE KENT CORNET BAND,

shortly before starting for home, serenaded our representatives at the City Hotel. The music was excellent, and was very much enjoyed by the throngs drawn together by its stirring strains. We heard many high compliments passed upon it. Col. Wm. Henry Legg, one of the delegates from Queen Anne's, made a short speech from the hotel piazza, in which he eulogized the band and our military company.

THE KENT GUARDS

were escorted to the steamer by the Governor's Guard, who had all day dispensed the most generous hospitality. Our boys were delighted with their reception; and we have no doubt an invitation will be extended, next summer, to the Annapolis company to pay a visit to Chestertown.

Leaving the wharf at 4:35, the staunch and comfortable steamer Leila bore us homeward at good speed. Capt. Travers and his officers and crew could not have been more polite and attentive; and during the return trip a meeting was held in the mess-room, which organized by calling Robert Nicholson, Esq., to the chair, and appointing M. deK. Smith secretary. After the chairman had stated the object of the meeting, Captain Vickers offered the following resolution, which was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the sincere thanks of the officers and members of the Kent Guards, and the citizens accompanying the organization, be extended to Captain Samuel M. Travers and the officers and crew of the steamer "Leila," for the exceeding kindness and courtesy extended to us this day: that a copy be sent to Capt. Travers, and that the "Kent News" and "Chestertown Transcript" be requested to publish the same.

OUR MILITARY COMPANY AND BAND.

We believe all who accompanied the Kent Guards to Annapolis will join us in saying that our company is the peer of any military organization in the State, in every respect, save that of numbers. Capt. Vickers was complimented by Adjutant General Bond and other distinguished military men on the appearance and discipline of his command, and it was the only company in the line that was publicly applauded during the parade. The men also deserve great credit for a self-denial which, under the circumstances, was really wonderful. Strong drink in its most tempting forms, was pressed upon them on every hand, but they nobly refrained; and only two or three of the entire company took more than a social glass, and even they did not forget their duty as soldiers or their deportment as gentlemen. The organization should receive, as it certainly deserves, the support and active sympathy of all our citizens. We learn that some new names have been already received for membership, and trust that the ranks may be soon entirely filled up.

Our band also was an important factor in the events of the day, and added very greatly to the appearance of the company in the parade. It has improved very much, and furnished excellent music. Like our company, when brought into contact with similar organizations it acquitted itself most creditably, and won a great deal of well-deserved praise.

About nine o'clock in the evening the Leila land[illegible] he party safely at home after a day of unmarred enjoyment.

Orphans' Court, Tuesday, Jan. 20, 1880.—Present, Judges Nicholson, Shallcross and Willson.

Tilghman Shafer, guardian to Virginia E. Rile, returned his guardian account for the year 1879.

John W. Morgan, admr. of John W. Morgan, Jr., returned his first administration account, and received an order to sell personal estate at private sale.

B. F. H. Caulk, executor of R. A. Frazier, received an order to purchase tombstones for the grave of the late Hannah E. Frazier.

E. M. Wilkins and R. S. Emory, admrs. of Edward Wilkins, returned their third administration account, which was passed. They also returned a list of sales of fruit, grain, &c., from the Grove farm in Queen Anne's county, for the year 1879.

B. B. Adkinson, guardian to William Walter Legg, returned his guardian accounts for the years 1878 and 1879.

LITERRY REVIEW.

Literary Items.—Readers of standard books will be pleased to notice the great progress of "The Literary Revolution" which is being pushed by the American Book Exchange, New York. Among their books just issued, or nearly ready, are a very neat edition of the Koran of Mo[illegible]med, complete, 35 cents; Macaulay's En[illegible] in three volumes, $1.50; Milton's Poetical Works, complete, 50 cents; in the Acme Library of Biography, 12 volumes formerly published at $1.25 each now brought into one volume for 50 cents; in Modern Classics, Vicar of Wakefield, Rasselas, Picciola, Paul and Virginia, and Undine, all in one volume, 50 cents; nicely illustrated green ebony bound volumes of Arabian Nights, Robinson Crusoe, Pilgrim's Progress Baron Munchausen and Gulliver's Travels, each 50 cents, and a book of humor and wisdom by the Author of Sparrowgrass papers; all in gold and some in large type and well and handsomely bound in cloth.—Descriptive catalogues will be sent free on request.

Library of Universal Knowledge.—Volume IV, of this great work, published by the American Book Exchange, New York, is ready January 15, and volume V. will be issued about ten days later. They have been delayed somewhat by the printing of the large editions of the previous three volumes and the other publications of the house, their facilities for manufacture having been taxed far beyond their capacity. Removing January 1st to the Tribune Building, and to the large building No. 26 Beekman and No. 18 Spruce street, where their facilities will enable them to manufacture from 6,000 to 8,000 volumes a day, the publishers expect to complete the entire work within the year, as announced. The volumes thus far issued being only the reprint of the last edition of the well-known Chambers's Encyclopedia, nothing more need be said of them than that they are well printed and bound; their form is vastly more convenient than the usual unwieldly quarto or octavo, and their price is cheap beyond all precedent in book-making, so that to the uninitiated it is a mystery how so much can be given for a little money, but to the practical printer and book maker, who knows how the greatest element in modifying the cost of books is the number of buyers among whom the investment cost is to be distributed, the wonder would be not that the books can be made for the price, but that the number of buyers should be counted except by millions. Those who take pleasure in the dissemination of useful knowledge and choice literature will be glad to aid with their influence an enterprise so altogether worthy. The publishers will send any quantity of descriptive catalogues, to those who may apply, for distribution among acquaintances.

Lippincott's Magazine.—The opening article in Lippincott's Magazine for February, "A Day with the Ottawa Chantier-Men," by Frederic G. Mather, gives a lively account of the lumbermen and much information about the resources and prospects of the great Canadian forest lands, with many good illustrations. "Old and New Rouen" is the first of two illustrated papers, by Edward King, describing in his usual flowing and graphic style the most picturesque and interesting of French provincial towns.—The eighth chapter of Dr. Oswald's "Summerland Sketches," also illustrated, carries the reader to the Delta of the Sumasinta River.

"A Future Capital of the United States" is a short, well-written paper, discussing the claims for Kansas City to occupy this position at some future time. In the first of two carefully written papers on "Decorative Art and its Dogmas," the writer, M. G. Van Rensselaer, while acknowledging the great improvements in our interior embellishments during recent years, points out the danger of treating the principles to which this progress is mainly due as final and universal axioms. "The Bonapartes in Exile," by Arthur Venner, is a very entertaining paper supplimenting and correcting an article on the Banaparte family in a recent number of Harper's Magazine. Under the title of "The Peasant-land of Lorne," C. N. Lamont gives a pleasing sketch of some of the Herbridee Islands, the scene of Mr. Black's Princess of Thule and Macleod of Dare, and part of the future inheritance of the Marquis of Lorne. "Willwood Studies" is a similar but more amusing sketch of life in the backwoods of Virginia.

"Adam and Eve," the new serial, by the author of Dorothy Fox, introduces in the present number scenes and characters which will be new to American readers. There are also two very agreeable short stories by Margaret Bertha Wright and the author of 'The Clifton Picture,' a poem by Elaine Goodale, and the usual variety of reading in the "Monthly Gossip" and "Literature of the Day."

A Visit to Baltimore will prove highly advantageous by inspecting Messrs. C. M. Oehm & Son's immense one price Clothing establisment, a grand assortment of Men's overcoats, ulsters and suits from $5 to $30 is now on exhibition, embracing all leading novelties for the present season. Their handsome boys and childrens overcoats, ulsters and suits for school and dress at $2.50 and upwards are the delight of the little folks. Genuine low prices for well-made garments is their motto, and we advise every one before purchasing to call on C. N. Oehm & Son 230 W. Pratt St.

Dyeing.—The old dyeing establishment branch office, 110 West Baltimore street, is as ever, prepared to do all kinds of work in their line, with neatness, cheapness and dispatch. The superior character of their work enables them to please the most fastidious, and save the frugal many a dollar. The attention of our lady readers is specially called to their Balto. Branch office.

A GOOD NEWSPAPER
Is the CHEAPEST LITERATURE.

It is a remarkable fact that the general appreciation in prices consequent upon the revival of prosperity throughout the United States finds an exception in the cost of literature of every kind. This is emphatically an era of cheap literature, and newspapers, after all, are the cheapest of literature. A journal like the Philadelphia Weekly Times, the fifty-two numbers issued in a year being equivalent to several octavo volumes, is easily within the reach of the most depleted pueso. The Weekly Times is a newspaper, but something more than a newspaper.—While al the news of the day is fully covered by special correspondents stationed at all the great centres of population, and all other approved agencies for the collection of news are employed, equal pains are taken to occupy other fields of intellectual activity. Fiction, poetry, sketches of travel, adventure and biography, essays in popular science, the latest aspects of modern thought, are given adequate treatment from week to week. All topics of political, commercial, religious, social and general interest are fearlessly discussed in the editorial columns; the critical departments, musical, dramatic and literary, are in competent hands; matters of domestic economy have special attention, and the press of all countries is made to pay tribute in its best things for the entertainment of American readers. These assertions are broad, but they are justified by the nearly unanimous verdict of the press and people that the Philadelphia Weekly Times is the best family newspaper now published. In calling attention to the remarkably liberal terms which are offered to subscribers for the year 1880—a year that is likely to be memorable in American history—we feel that we are doing good service to all who wish to enjoy during that year the visits of a newspaper which, while having all the characteristics of the advanced journalism of the day, is so thoroughly imbued with a wholesome spirit that it may be admitted into any family with certainty that it will become a favorite alike with father, mother and children. The Weekly Times is now offered at $1.25 per copy when sent in clubs of twenty, and for $6 three copies together with "The Annals of the War," a volume of 800 pages, beautifully illustrated, are sent postage free to any address.

The World for 1880.

DEMOCRATS everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls.

The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years of this crowded and eventful century. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in re-establishing the Government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relations of the States to the Federal power. No intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperately and firmly. As a newspaper The World, being the organ of no man, no clique and no interest, will present the fullest and fairest picture it can make of each day's passing history in the city, the State, the country and the world. It will aim hereafter, as heretofore, at accuracy first of all things in all that it publishes. No man, however humble, shall ever be permitted truly to complain that he has been unjustly dealt with in the columns of The World. No interest, however powerful, shall ever be permitted truly to boast that it con silence the fair critiism of The World.

During the past year The World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of ony other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as The World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unfaltering loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It it our hope and it will be our endeavor that The World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indissoluble Union of Indestructible States.

COPY OF ORIGINAL TESTIMONIALS.

Baltimore, Jan. 31, 1879.

Mr. J. S. Knapp—Sir:—I have made a thorough test of the London Food and recommend it to the public as a good Improvement Food for horses. I will use it in preference to any condition powders I know of.
[They have 300 head of horses.]
Respectfully, R. PRICE,
Supt. of Citizens Line Street R. R.

Carrollton, Feb. 11, 1879.
Carroll county, Md.

John S. Knapp—Sir:—Having used the London Horse and Cattle Food on both my horses and cows, I cheerfully recommend it to the public as a good condition food for the horse and a profitable condiment for cattle, as it will cause cows to give more milk and make at least 20 per cent more butter than any condition powders I ever used. Hoping this will induce my friends to try it, after which I am convinced they will bear the same testimony as to its merits as I do.
Yours Respectfully,
March 6, 1879. JACOB M. HOFF.
