Farm and Household.

Value of Swamp Muck.—Some time ago we remarked that an acre of swamp muck of good quality, 3 feet deep, was actually worth $25,000. No doubt such a statement is surprising. So was the statement of Dr. Lawes, of England, that a ton of bran, fed to cows, returned more than it cost in manure.—Swamp muck, free from sand, contains 2 per cent., or 40 lbs., or nitrogen in a ton. Nitrogen is worth in the market 25 cents a pound. So that a ton of swamp muck is actually worth $10 for the nitrogen in it. All that is needed is to work up the muck, so as to make the nitrogen available. An acre of swamp muck, 3 feet deep, contains 2,500 tons, and would require 8 months to draw out at 10 loads a day. Few persons realize the value of the fertilizing elements of common waste matter which lie under their feet, and the innumerable tons of matter, that may be available for fertilizing purposes, and that much of the idle and neglected materials represent a vast amount of wealth.

The Colt.—An abundant opportunity for exercise in the fresh, pure air, uncontaminated by stable odors is an absolute essential to a healthy development in all young animals. It is not sufficient that the colt be led out at stated intervals for exercise. He needs the opportunity to romp and play, that he may extend his muscles to the utmost capacity, expand his lungs to the very depths and send the blood coursing through every vein with fiery vigor. All this is essential to a healthy robust development of heart and lungs, and bone and muscle, and nowhere can it be obtained in so great a degree of perfection as in the freedom of the open field. A colt that is kept in the stall and fed highly on heating grain, is seldom afforded an opportunity for this health-giving exercise. Like the tender hot-house plant he gtows up deficient in stamina and vigor—a victim to his artificial surroundings, which do violence to every want of his nature. To the exhilarating race in the fields and pastures, which colts as well as boys so heartily enjoy, he is a stranger, and he grows up a stiff, clumsy brute, with only a tithe of the development of lungs and other vital organs that he might have possessed under more favorable circumstances.

Give the children light suppers, put them to bed early. Bread and milk toast, oat meal mush with sugar and milk, and a little fruit, are excellent for the juveniles to go to bed on.

Corn Fritters.—Take half a dozen large ears of corn, cut from the cob, and mix it with two eggs, a cupful of sweet milk, salt and enough flour to make a soft batter. Drop a tablespoonful at a time into boiling lard.

Southern Fried Hominy.—Warm some boiled hominy left over from the day before; add to it a tumbler of cream or rich milk, a piece of butter, two well beaten eggs and a little flour; fry in hot butter.

Dyspepsia Cure.—In mild cases take one teaspoonful sweet oil, after eating, three times a day. In severe forms take a dessert spoonful. This followed up has cured cases where the doctors have given them up. Ye who suffer from this dreadful disease, don't fail to try it; surely it can't hurt you.

Flaxseed Tea.—Put two tablespoonfuls whole flaxseed in a pint of boiling water, and boil fifteen minutes; cut up one lemon and put in a pitcher with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Strain the tea boiling hot through a wire strainer into the pitcher and stir together. Good for cough and sore throat.

For Inflamed Eyes.—Borax, half drachm; camphor water, three ounces. The above simple prescription is in common use by the highest medical authorities. It makes a wash unexcelled for the treatment of inflammation of the eyes. In using it lean the head back and drop three drops in the corner of each, and then open the eyes and let it work in.

How to Cure a Sore Throat.—One who has tried communicates the following about curing sore throats: Let each one of your readers buy at any drug store one ounce of camphorated oil and five cents' worth of chlorate of potash. When any soreness appears in the throat put the Potash in a half tumblerful of water, and with it gargle the throat thoroughly with the camphorated oil at night before going to bed, and also pin around the throat a small strip of woolen flannel. This is a simple, cheap and sure remedy.

Pumpkin Pie.—Cut the pumpkin into thin slices and boil until tender in as little water as possible; watch carefully that it does not scorch; drain off all the water—mash, and rub through a sieve, adding while warm, a small piece of butter. To every quart of the pumpkin, after mashing, add one quart of new milk and four eggs, the yolks and whites beaten separately; white sugar to taste, and cinnamon and nutmeg as desired. The oven in which they are baked must be hot or they will not brown. It is as well to heat the batter scalding hot before pouring into the pie dishes.

An Antidote for Poison.—If a person swallows any poison whatever, or has fallen into convulsions from having overloaded the stomach, an instantaneous remedy, most efficient and applicable in a large number of cases, is a heaping teaspoonful of common salt and as much ground mustard, stirred rapidly in a teacupful of water, warm or cold, and swallowed instantly. It is scarcely down before it begins to come up bringing with it the remaining contents of the stomach; and lest there be any remnant of the poison, however small, let the white of an egg or a teaspoonful of strong coffee be swallowed as soon as the stomach is quiet, because these very common articles nullify a large number of virulent poisons.

Colic of Infants.—A good and safe remedy for the colic of infants is from 8 to 10 drops of tinct. of Cardamon, with a small pinch of salt, soda, put in a spoonful of warm water sweetened with sugar. It very rarely fails to give immediate relief, and is harmless.

THE HAPPIEST LIFE.

M. L. WARING, IN PARISH MAGAZINE.

Father, I know that all my life
 Is portioned out for me;
And the changes that will surely come
 I do not fear to see;
But I ask Thee for a present will
 Intent on pleasing Thee.

I ask Thee for a thoughtful love,
 Through constant watching wise,
To meet the glad with joyful smiles
 And wipe the weeping eyes;
And a heart at leisure from itself
 To soothe and sympathize.

I would not have the restless will
 That hurries to and fro,
Seeking for some great thing to do,
 Or secret thing to know,
I would be treated like a child
 And guided where to go.

Wherever in the world I am,
 In whatsoever estate,
There is a fellowship with hearts
 To keep and cultivate;
And a work of lowly love to do
 For the Lord on whom I wait.

I ask Thee for the daily strength,
 To none that ask denied,
And a mind to blend with outward things
 While keeping at Thy side;
Content to fill a little space
 So Thou be glorified.

And if some things I do not seek
 In my cup of blessing be,
I would have my spirit filled the more
 With grateful love to Thee;
And careful less to serve Thee much
 Than to please Thee perfectly.

There are briers besetting every path
 Which call for patient care,
There is a cross in every lot,
 And an earnest need for prayer;
But a lowly heart that leans on Thee
 Is happy anywhere.

In service which Thy love appoints
 There are no bonds for me;
For my secret heart is taught the truth
 Which makes Thy children free;
And a life of self-renouncing love
 Is a life of liberty.

A SECOND THANATOPSIS.

BY RICHARD HENRY STODDARD.

Not what we would, but what we must,
 Makes up the sum of living;
Heaven is both more and less than just,
 In taking and in giving.
Swords cleave to hands that sought the plow,
And laurels miss the soldier's brow.

Me, whom the city holds, whose feet
 Have worn its stony highways,
Familiar with its loneliest street—
 Its ways are never my ways.
My cradle was beside the sea,
And there, I hope, my grave will be.

Old homestead! In that old gray town,
 The vane as seaward blowing,
Thy slip of garden stretches down
 To where the tide is flowing;
Below they lie, their sails are furled,
The ships that go about the world.

Dearer that little country house,
 Inland, with pines beside it;
Some peach trees, with unfruitful boughs,
 A well, with weeds to hide it;
No flowers, or only such as rise
Self-sown, poor things, which all despise.

Dear country home! Can I forget
 The least of thy sweet trifles?
The window vines that clamber yet,
 Whose blooms the bee still rifles?
The roadside blackberries, growing ripe,
And in the woods the Indian Pipe?

Happy the man who tills his field,
 Content with rustic labor;
Earth does to him her fullness yield,
 Hap what may to his neighbor.
Well days, sound nights, O can there be
A life more rational and free?

Dear country life of child and man!
 For both the best and strongest,
That with the earliest race began,
 And has outlived the longest.
Their cities perished long ago;
Who the first farmers were we know.

Perhaps our Babels, too, will fall,
 If so, no lamenations,
For Mother Earth will shelter all,
 And feed the unborn nations;
Yes, and the swords that menace now
Will then be beaten to the plow.

WORK AND LIVE.

Man was put into the world to work and cannot find true happiness in remaining idle. So long as a man has vitality to spare upon work it must be used or it will become a source of grevious, harassing discontent. The man will not know what to do with himself; and when he has reached such a point as that he is unconsciously digging a grave for himself and fashioning his own coffin. Life needs a steady channel to run in—regular habits of work and of sleep. It needs a steady, stimulating aim—a tendency toward something. An aimless life cannot be happy or for a long period healthy. Even if a man has achieved wealth sufficient for his needs, he frequently makes an error in retiring from business. A greater shock can hardly befall a man who has been active than that which he experiences when, having relinquished his pursuits he finds unused time and unused vitality hanging upon his idle hands and mind. The current of his life is thus thrown into eddies or settled into a sluggish pool, and he begins to die. When the fund of vitality sinks so low that he can follow no labor without such a draft upon his forces that sleep cannot restore them, then it will be soon enough to stop work.

THE FAITH DOCTOR, as a Virginia clergyman named Miller is called, is credited throughout that State with miraculous power to cure diseases. A physician who has made an investigation reports that he is wonderfully full of electricity, which strongly affects nervously disordered persons with whom he comes in contact. But Miller firmly believes that his gift is directly from God, in answer to fourteen years of prayer, and he proves his sincerity by refusing money for his services. He will accept nothing but food and lodging.

Robert Magruder sold his season's cotton at Eufaula, Ala., and sat down to an all night game of poker. Before morning he lost all the money his plantation had produced for the year. Mack D. Oliver was the winner. Magruder bought a revolver, loaded it, and started for home. Oliver rode with him, though warned by friends not to. At a lonely point Magruder demanded the money back, and, meeting with a refusal, shot Oliver dead, afterward killing himself.

Ladies dresses are now made so short that the street crossings are seldom clean.

Literary Revolution and Universal Knowledge.

An Encyclopædia in 20 Volumes, over 16,000 Pages; 10 per cent more matter than any Encyclopædia ever before published in this country, and sold, handsomely and well bound, in cloth for 10, in half morocco for $15, and printed on fine heavy paper, wide margins, bound in half Russia, gilt top, for $20—an enterprise so extraordinary that its success, beyond all precedent in book publishing, may be fairly claimed to inagurate a Literary Revolution.

THE LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE is a reprint of the last (1879) Edinburgh edition of "Chamber's Encyclopædia," with about 40 per cent. of new matter added, upon topics of special interest to American readars, thus making it equal in character to any similar work, better than any other suited to the wants of the great majority of those who consult works of reference, and altogether the latest Encyclopædia in the field.

Specimen Volumes in either style will be sent for examination with privilege of return on receipt of proportionate price per volume.

Special Discounts to all early subscribers, and extra discounts to clubs. Full particulars with descriptive catalogue of many other standard works equally low in price, sent free.

Leading principles of the AMERICAN BOOK EXCHANGE:

I.—Publish only books of real value.

II.—Work upon the basis of present cost of making books, about one half what it was a few years ago.

III.—Sell to buyers direct, and save them the 50 to 60 per cent. commission commonly allowed to dealers.

IV.—The cost of books when made 10,000 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made 500 at a time—adopt the low price and sell the large quantity.

V.—Use good type, paper, etc., do careful printing, and strong, neat binding, but avoid all "padding," fat and heavily-leaded type, spongy paper and gaudy binding, which are so commonly resorted to to make books appear large and fine, and which greatly add to their cost, but do not add to their value.

VI.—To make $1 and a friend is better than to make $5 and an enemy.

PERFECTLY SAFE IN THE MOST INEXPERIENCED HANDS!

For Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Cholera,
AND ALL THOSE NUMEROUS TROUBLES OF THE STOMACH AND BOWELS SO PREVALENT AT THIS SEASON,
No Remedy known to the Medical Profession has been in use so long and with such uniformly satisfactory results as

PERRY DAVIS'
VEGETABLE
PAIN KILLER

It has been used with such wonderful success in all parts of the world in the treatment of these difficulties, that it has come to be considered

AN UNFAILING CURE FOR ALL SUMMER COMPLAINTS

and such it really is when taken in time and according to the very plain directions inclosing each bottle.

In such diseases, the attack is usually sudden and frequently very acute; but with a safe remedy at hand for immediate use, there is seldom danger of the fatal result which so often follows a few days' neglect.

The inclination to wait and see if the morrow does not bring a better feeling, not infrequently occasions a vast amount of needless suffering, and sometimes costs a life. A timely dose of Pain Killer will almost invariably save both, and with them the attendant doctor's fee.

It has stood the test of forty years' constant use in all countries and climates, and is perfectly safe in any person's hands.

It is recommended by Physicians, Nurses in Hospitals, and persons of all classes and professions who have had opportunity for observing the wonderful results which have always followed its use.

THE BEST EVIDENCE:

I have long used the medicine known as PERRY DAVIS'VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER in my family and would not on any account be without it. When Cholera was last epidemic here, I used no medicine of any sort but the Pain Killer, and although myself and several members of my family were attacked severely, I am happy to say that the Pain Killer was equal to every emergency. I consider I should not be doing my duty to the community did I not say this much. If I were attacked by the Cholera to-day, Pain Killer would be the only remedy I should use. I have thoroughly tested it, and know it can be relied on.
F. E. BERGISSEND, Galena, Illinois.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON:
I know you need no testimonial to convince you that your medicine is all that you claim for it, but I cannot restrain the impulse to communicate to you the fact that in my family it has truly done wonders. I administer it to my children (one eighteen months, and the other three years old) with perfect success. It regulates their bowels, and stops all diarrhœa. Myself and wife resort to it in all cases, both for internal and external use. I've used it in my family for five years, and will not be without it. Feeling myself under much obligation to you, in many times being relieved from pain, I am very truly yours,
E. F. MOORE, Bangall, Dutchess Co., New York.

No family can afford to be without it, and its price brings it within the reach of all.
The use of one bottle will go further to convince you of its merits than columns of newspaper advertising. Try it, and you will never do without it.
Price 25c. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. You can obtain it at any drug-store or from

Mr. B. F. Fleming: I used Mogee's Schuylkill Lime on corn last spring. It slacked more to the bushel, acted quicker, and gave me the best satisfaction of any Lime I have ever used.
GEORGE H. SNITCHER.

Mr. B. F. Fleming: We have used Mogee's Lime for three successive seasons. It slacks more, contains less core, acts quicker, and we believe it is the best Lime in the market.

him, his father, the elder Nathan Rambo. It was out of this Quarry that the Limestone came which gave this Lime its high reputation.

This, and this only, is the GENUINE RAMBO LIME.

I own ALL of the land on which this stone lies. This Quarry was discontinued only because a vein of earth cut off the face. I have cut through this and re-opened these Quarries upon the original stone which old Nathan Rambo quarried as long as he could find it.
