AMEN.

BY F. C. BROWNING.

I cannot say,
Beneath the pressure of life's cares to-day,
I joy in these;
But I can say
...d rather walk this rugged way,
If Him it please.

...cannot feel
...hen dark'ning clouds conceal
...e shining sun;
But then, I know
...d lives and loves; and say, since it is so,
Thy will be done.

I cannot speak
In happy tones; the tear-drops on my cheek
Show I am sad;
But I can speak
Of grace to suffer with submission meek,
Until made glad.

I do not see
Why God should e'en permit some things to be,
When He is love;
But I can see,
Tho' often dimly, through the mystery,
His hand above!

I do not know
Where falls the seed that I have tried to sow
With greatest care;
But I shall know
The meaning of each waiting hour below,
Sometime, somewhere!

I do not look
Upon the present, nor in Nature's book,
To read my fate;
But I do look
For promised blessings in God's Holy Book;
And I can wait.

I may not try
To keep the hot tears back—but hush that sigh,
"It might have been;"
And try to still
Each rising murmur, and to God's sweet will Respond, "Amen!"

A PRINCIPLE IN FEEDING.

All food beyond such amount as is properly digested and assimilated by the animal is a source of loss to the owner, and that in two ways: First, the food is lost; second the animal is not kept in the best condition for getting the most out of its feed—its stomach is overloaded and its digestive apparatus more or less disarranged. Just inside the limits of assimilation is the point to have in view in feeding; in this way the animal will have a good appetite, and other things being equal, is s... to give the best returns for foo... ...med. There is a golden mean in feding farm stock, which the farmer should find.

A CONNECTICUT hen farmer mixes a teaspo...ful of cayenne or red pepper wi... ...e food for his hens, which cau... ...hem to lay more eggs. In six mo... a flock of twenty-six hens laid 2,... eggs or an average of 11 1-6 per day. On two occasions when by the omission of pepper the daily product was 9, the use of that spice brougt up the number to 13 or more a day. The fowls were fed on corn meal in the morning and oats at night.

THE RICE crop of Louisiana this year is estimated at 250,000 barrels. Last year's crop amounted to 100,000 barrels.

ON many farms there are some old cattle and old sheep that can only be kept at a loss. It is economy to fatten them for the butcher.

THE bee is said to be a resident of any climate of the globe. It will prosper in hollow trees in Canada, where mercury will freeze in open air, as well as at the equator.

A GARDENER recommends that to keep bugs off melon and squash vines a tomato plant be set in each hill, saying that when he had followed this plan his young plants were not molested.

CUP FRUIT CAKE.—One cup of butter, two cups raisins seeded and chopped fine, four cups flour, two cups brown sugar, one cup sour cream, three eggs well beaten, one teaspoonful of soda, one of cloves, four of cinnamon. Bake slowly and serve hot or cold with sauce.

PUMPKIN PIES WITHOUT EGGS.—Prepare the pumpkins in the same manner you would when you use eggs; take a tablespoonful of flour to a pie, mix it with milk, stir in the prepared pumpkin, and when baked you will not be able to tell any difference in the pies made with eggs and those made with flour.

RESTORING VELVET.—Crushed and defaced velvet can often be restored to its original appearance by holding the wrong side over boiling water until the steam causes the flatted pile to rise; or the wrong side may be thoroughly dampened and then drawn several times quickly across the face of a hot flat iron.

TO REMOVE GREASE STAINS FROM WOOD.—Spread some starch powder over the grease spots, and then go over it with a hot flat iron till you draw the grease; then scrape with a glass or a proper scraper, and repeat the starch powder and hot iron. Ammonia liquor may be used as a finish if the starch does not take all the grease spot out.

LOVE CAKE.—To one pound sugar add six well beaten eggs, put as much flour as will stir a stiff paste, flavor with lemon, roll half inch thick; cut the size of a wine glass, strew some sugar and flour over a tin pan, lay the cakes on it, bake in ...ick oven; when cold, ice the ...set them in a warm place ...by putting jelly in ...the fize of a wal-

FOR EVER AND A DAY.

They walked together by the sea,
And talked of days that were to be,
And hand in hand upon the hill
They paused to see the white sails fill
With warm winds from the west; and he
Said, softly, "So our argosy
We hope will come from isles afar,
Where all life's countless treasures are,
And bring to us, for coming years,
All happy things, and naught for tears."

"Blow softly, softly, summer wind,"
She said; and looking far away
To where the fresheninng breezes thinned
The mists that fringed the edge of day,
She watched to see the shining sail
Of homeward-faring argosies
Flash out in sunshine. Let no gale
Beat round the bark that brings to me
The treasures of the Happy Lands.
Blow softly, wind, from far away,
And bring the gladness to my hands
That lasts forever and a day."

A cloud arose and hid the sun;
Gray shadows fell ere day was done.
They heard the moaning of the waves
Like midnight voices over graves.

The morning shows upon the bar
A white, dead face, a broken spar.
The ship they waited for has come,
But, ah! the helmsman's lips are dumb;
No treasures from the Happy Lands
Await their eager, outstretched hands.

"Dear heart," she says, and smiling thro' tears,
"Think what is left for coming years!
Dead hopes we bury in the sea,
But love remains to you and me!
And, oh, my darling, come what may,
That lasts for ever and a day!"

A QUESTION OF GRAMMAR.—The two young heirs, who had been taking their first lessons in grammar, disputed long and earnestly over a question, and at last agreed to decide it by arbitration, selecting the head of the family as arbitrator, with full power to send for persons and papers. The old man was greasing his boots before the kitchen stove.

"Father," said the elder heir, "is it proper to say 'we is rich,' or 'we am rich?'"

The old man worked carefully down into the hollow of his boot under the instep, remaining a long time in thoughtful meditation, and then slowly replied:

"Well, I should say it would come nigher to the truth to say we hain't rich."

The young heirs, when they came to think what a hard time they had worrying pennies out of their paternal relative, thought it might be made that way, too. And the old man kept on anointing his boots with the extract of hog.

A NEW ZEALAND GEYSER.—The caldron-in-chief is a terrible affair. At first, the yawning pit (it is about 40 yards across) was filled with fiercely-moving steam, which buffeted the sides and escaped with a rush. Then, with a diabolical roar, which made us draw back in haste from the coralline edging, the veil was rent, and for a few moments the fury of this demon's kettle's boiling was visible. The waters surged upward in appaling volume, madly charging right and left, suddenly, with vicious foam and thunder up heaving, as if to overwhelm us, and then as suddenly sinking out of sight, filling the passages and caverns with dying shrieks.

☞ When General Grant was in Milan, Italy, on his tour around the world, he was met on the street one day by a well-dressed woman, who stopped him and asked the general if he knew her. "Yes," said he, "you kept an apple and fruit stand near the gate leading to the war department in Washington." He asked her what she was doing in Milan, and she replied that her son had shown great musical talent, and she was there to give him the benefit of instruction under the best Italian masters. That son is now the basso of the Strakosch-Hess company, and sails under the name of Signor Montiffirie.

Literary Revolution and Universal Knowledge.

An Encyclopædia in 20 Volumes, over 16,000 Pages; 10 per cent more matter than any Encyclopædia ever before published in this country, and sold, handsomely and well bound, in cloth for 10, in half morocco for $15, and printed on fine heavy paper, wide margins, bound in half Russia, gilt top, for $20—an enterprise so extraordinary that its success, beyond all precedent in book publishing, may be fairly claimed to inagurate a Literary Revolution.

THE LIBRARY OF UCIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE is a reprint of the last (1879) Edinburgh edition of "Chamber's Encyclopædia," with about 40 per cent. of new matter added, upon topics of special interest to American readars, thus making it equal in character to any similar work, better than any other suited to the wants of the great majority of those who consult works of reference, and altogether the latest Encyclopædia in the field.

Specimen Volumes in either style will be sent for examination with privilege of return on receipt of proportionate price per volume.

Special Discounts to all early subscribers, and extra discounts to clubs. Full particulars with descriptive catalogue of many other standard works equally low in price, sent free.

Leading principles of the AMERICAN BOOK EXCHANGE:

I—Publish only books of real value

II—Work upon the basis of present cost of making books, about one half what it was a few years ago.

III.—Sell to buyers direct, and save them the 50 to 60 per cent. commission commonly allowed to dealers.

IV.—The cost of books when made 10,000 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made 500 at a time—adopt the low price and sell the large quantity.

V.—Use good type, paper, etc., do careful printing, and strong, neat binding, but avoid all "padding," fat and heavily-leaded type, spongy paper and gaudy binding, which are so commonly resorted to to make books appear large and fine, and which greatly add to their cost, but do not add to their value.

VI.—To make $1 and a friend is better than to make $5 and an enemy.
